

$100,000,000 WAR VOTE ASSES HOUSE

No Opposition to It--Tariff Bill Also Through Committee--Dr. Pugsley's Motion for Duty-Free Fertilizers Not Accepted by the Government.

Ottawa, March 22.—In the house today Sir George E. Foster, discussing the subsidies that the British government had requested so many subsidies for war purposes that the C. P. R. fleet had been reduced to one passenger and three cargo steamers, the best of the Allan lines, both the Canadian Northern boats and all but one of the White Star line had been taken. The Imperial government is arranging to substitute smaller boats and by May 1 he hoped to see the whole fleet back in service. In the meantime, as the service had not been given, the subsidies had not been paid.

Hon. William Pugsley suggested that steamship services between the maritime provinces ports and British Columbia be divided between Halifax and St. John, rather than have all ships call at both ports.

Sir George Foster was of the opinion, however, that it would be difficult to make such an arrangement. There had been no complaints of the service of late, and he was therefore not disposed to interfere with them.

Ottawa, March 22.—The government and opposition united in the expression by parliament of its deep feeling of admiration for the gallantry and regret for the loss of the late Col. F. D. Farquhar, formerly the governor-general's secretary, whose death in connection with the Princess Patricia's was announced last night.

A letter written by Col. Farquhar to Sir Robert Borden two weeks ago, in which he spoke highly of the behavior of the men of the Princess Patricia's, and related a hitherto unheard of exploit performed by that regiment, was read by the prime minister.

Incidentally the communication referred to gallant work by Lieut. Talbot Papineau, of Montreal. It also contained copies of telegrams from the officers and privates called forth from Canadian British regiments, and by the general of the division, of which the Princess Patricia's form a part, by the behavior of Canada's crack battalion in taking a German trench.

In reviewing estimates for the Indian department, Hon. W. J. Roche said that more money would be needed owing to the situation arising from the falling off in the fur trade. Liberal members complained of several recent appointments, and referred to the appointment of an assistant superintendent of an office which had been created, it was said, to give a position to Mr. Foster, former secretary of the Conservative association in Halifax.

Records of the purchases for the government by A. DeWitte Foster, Conservative M.P. for Kings "without remuneration," presented in the house today may form the basis for an inquiry into the fur trade. The checks contained in the record referred to show that Mr. Foster had himself appointed as a purchasing agent, and then bought, through middlemen, from among his own friends, furs for the government. He paid the prices charged by his self-appointed purchasers. The public accounts committee will do some probing.

The public accounts committee spent some time today investigating the accounts of E. Powell, the young $15-a-week clerk in the drug store owned by W. F. Garland, M.P. for Carleton, Ont. Today Powell told the committee that the total amount of his orders from the department was about $40,000, that his average profit was 28 per cent, that he had won $6,800 in accrued profits in the bank, with over $2,000 in cash. He said he had cleaned up all his expenses, and that the above profits were his, and not Garland's or anybody else's.

Ottawa, March 23.—Parliamentarians are busy these days. Most of them were kept busy going from an early hour this morning to the late night, in three important committees in a simultaneous session during practically the whole day, the attendance in the Chamber itself was generally light. Considerable progress was made.

The government resolution of Hon. Dr. Roche, minister of the interior, providing for the supplying of seed grain to western farmers, was finally adopted, after protests by Hon. Dr. Pugsley and W. M. Martin, of Regina, against the somewhat onerous conditions attached. Hon. W. T. White's amendment to the Bank Act, to permit the loan of money on the security of crops and livestock, was passed in committee, and the balance of the day spent in committee of supply upon the estimates.

Some plain speaking was indulged in concerning the conduct and operations of the banks. R. B. Bennett pointed out that parliament had conferred upon them the right to issue paper money to the extent of their paid up capital. "In other words," he said, "when three or four men bind themselves together as a corporation and call themselves a bank, they have the right to issue paper money to the extent of their paid up capital."

"This is an extraordinary franchise, an extraordinary power, given to individuals, who, by accident, are able to call themselves a bank, instead of some other kind of company. For this franchise parliament has a right to hold the bank to strictest account, and in the exercise of those powers parliament must stipulate that the public interest, and not merely the benefit of private owners, is the supreme consideration."

Mr. Bennett stated that last autumn he had taken some trouble to analyze the banking system and its effect in western Canada. He had started out to criticize, and had been somewhat censorious, but he felt the banks had, to some extent, failed in the discharge of the duties which devolved upon them by reason of the powers conferred upon them by parliament. He found, however, that west of the great lakes, the deposits bore no proportion whatever to the loans.

Blames Banks for False Value to Land. "The banks, however," he continued, "are to blame for some of the extravagant ideas that have prevailed in western Canada. The first glimpse given to the sale of real estate in Calgary, was given by a bank. In Edmonton and other places the same thing may be said. Banks have been buying lands at very exorbitant prices, and they gave the first false value to many lands in western cities."

W. M. MacLean agreed with the statement of Sir Clifford Sifton, that the great need of the west was better banking facilities. Local banks, such as prevail in the United States, might prove of great assistance.

W. M. Martin criticized the banks for lending money in large sums to eastern manufacturers, while comparatively little was provided for the west. He said the banks were not doing their duty, and the house proceeded to deal with the estimates of the post office department.

Post Office Estimates. When consideration of post office department estimates was resumed in the evening, G. W. Kite, supported by J. H. Burroughs, of Peterboro, advocated higher salaries for mail carriers, on the ground of the establishment of parcel post, and the increased cost of living.

Hon. T. C. Casgrain said he would consider every application for increased salaries, and would grant any claim shown to be just. Not many applications for increased pay had been received up to the present.

Mr. Casgrain told the committee that there had been a considerable increase in rural mail routes in Canada. The service was not paying for itself he stated, and it had also been widely extended.

The postmaster-general also gave some information as to the progress of the work of inducing the people to patronize the system.

F. B. Carvell, of Carleton, said he had parcel post system. The matter was now under study by a number of departmental officials, with a view to the extension of the service in future.

Mr. Casgrain said that the service had been greatly developed in Toronto, where it was more generally used than elsewhere in Canada; while in the province of Quebec it had also been widely extended. The post office department was sending men throughout the country with a view to thought parcel post charges should be reduced by fifty per cent.

The postmaster-general replied that except in a few cases, he understood the charges were already below express charges.

D. A. Lafortune, of Montreal, thought the charges should be reduced to make it a criminal offence to send a letter containing money unregistered through the mails. To send money in this way was placing temptation in the path of post office employees.

After a number of complaints as to postal services in the maritime provinces had been accepted, the house adjourned. After passing all the post office department estimates.

Ottawa, March 24.—Parliament passed its $100,000,000 additional war appropriation in less than ten minutes. The government presented the resolution to the house at their morning's sitting. Liberalism made its assurance that the opposition was ready and eager to vote every dollar for war purposes without question or criticism.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier rose, on the presentation of the resolution, to tender hearty congratulations to the government. He asked regarding measures taken looking toward the security of the dominion. Much of this information, he observed, was, of necessity, confidential in character. He did not ask for this. He would the fact that certain military plans were being maintained and that, in naval operations, the Rainbow and the Niobe had been put in commission and two submarines purchased, little was known.

Premier Borden, in reply, stated that he would be pleased to communicate privately to members of the opposition upon any point desired. In regard to measures taken for the security of Canada, he could make a statement as to the steps taken to protect public buildings, the responsibility for such action, he said, was given to any department asking for it.

Replying to A. R. MacLean, the premier added that the government would be glad to consider any suggestions made by the opposition regarding the defence of the country.

This was all the discussion. The resolution passed, amid cheers, and the bill based upon it was immediately given a first reading.

Hon. Charles Doherty's bill providing for the extension of licenses of insurance companies was passed, and Hon. W. T. White's war tariff bill was then taken up in committee. It came in for criticism only from Hon. William Pugsley, who urged that to further the "patriotism and production" campaign the government should place fertilizers on the free list.

To this the finance minister replied that the government had exempted all fertilizers from the operation of the special war tariff and had in all its tariff legislation had the interest of the farmers at heart. At the same time, he said, there were a number of manufacturers of fertilizers in Canada who would now be required to pay extra duties upon their coal and machinery and who would thus find themselves faced by an increase in the cost of production of their goods. It would be hardly fair to these persons to reduce the small duty placed upon manufactured fertilizers by the tariff of 1907.

During the last six years the membership of Orange lodges in Saskatchewan has trebled; there are now 6,000 members and 800 are in the firing line.

CANADIAN CASUALTIES

London, March 23.—News of the death in action of Col. Farquhar, commander of the Princess Patricia's was made known in London only today by a Toronto despatch appearing in a late edition of the Times. The first intimation to the Canadian Record Office was yesterday, through an inquiry from Buckingham Palace for information. It is believed that Colonel Farquhar was killed by shrapnel. Major Hamilton Gault has left London, but his destination is not known. He desired to return at once to the front, but there was some hesitation by the War Office authorities, who were in doubt whether or not Major Gault is in fit condition for service at the front. Meanwhile it is the impression of the Patricia men here that Captain Agar Adamson, of Toronto will be in charge of the regiment until Major Gault gets back to active service.
