

me say to you say frankly, Willie, that I am very much interested in you, and I wish you much success in your studies, and in whatever profession you may enter, and if I have spare time, I shall watch your course with deep interest. I am particularly anxious that you should be a good man. There are many temptations to lead young men astray; but I hope you will not yield to temptations; but that you will do right always, no matter what other boys or young men may do. What a great comfort it would be to me to know that you were a true Christian. You know that there is no one who has such strong claims on your service and love as the Lord Jesus Christ; and I hope you will take Him as your Guide, your Saviour, and your Master; and that your first question will always be, when you are in doubt as to what you ought to do "What is the will of God, and what would He have me to do?" Dear Willie, do think of this, for life is a very serious thing, and it is an awful thing to do wrong and to

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 1