

To keep alive in the minds of the members of Sandon Miners' Union an interest in the Institution that is now, as ever, their own.

To provide an argument in favor of co-operative ownership this sketch is written.

Its apology for existence, the recording of an experiment and its only aim and desire to help toward the solution of one of the problems that confronts the work-a-day world.