
The HOME BANK of CANADA

to be modified from the plans of architecture adopted in earlier times, when banks were a new institution, and before the concealed mechanical protective devices now in use had been invented.

WE already have sincere intentions towards good service here in Canada. Every banker is seeking an opportunity to know his customers and business neighbors more intimately.

The outward marks of the intention towards service will come later.

The present well-defined objective of Service is to democratize banking from the inside.
