

- Hives, 147, 148.
 Holmes, O. W., 10, 219, 427.
 Hoof, of the horse, 290 f.
 Hookworm, incubation and journeyings of, 317-321; a world-infection, 327.
Hormones, 27.
 Hornets, 347.
 Horse, foot of the, 290 f.; has one toe, 325.
 Horse-shoe superstition, the, 10.
 Horse-shoes, 292 f.
 House fly, the, 334, 335.
 "Household remedies," include the most dangerous drugs, 12, 13.
 "Humors, the," 98.
 Hydatids, 117, 118.
 Hyoscyamus, discovery of, 6.
 Hypertrophy of the heart, 227 f.; causes of, 230 f.; 235 f.; diet in, 233, 234.
 Hypochondria, 99.
 Hysteria, 379, 381.
 Illnesses, percentage of, that need no medicine, 11, 12.
 Imaginary diseases, not confined to leisure classes, 381; self-produced symptoms of, 384 f.; usually have some basis, 387, 388, 392, 393; equally prevalent in both sexes, 401.
 Imagination, the, cannot create illness, 378, 379; its chief work in disease, 388; power of, will produce pain, etc., 392, 393, 395 f.
 Immunity from second attack of disease, cause of, 20; cannot be passed on to others, 20.
 Indigestion, and the stomach, 76; causes of, 79, 80; distinguished from dyspepsia, 80; the only sure cure for, 83; individual susceptibility to, 83, 84; one of the oldest maladies in history, 85; is decreasing, 85; starvation no cure for, 86, 87; three great factors of, 87, 88.
 Infantile paralysis, results of study of, 21, 22.
 Infants, congenital heart-defect of, 244, 245; ear-troubles of, 278.
 Infectious diseases, and the heart, 224, 225.
 Influenza. See Colds.
 Inhibition, power of, 188.
 Inoculation, 23, 24.
 Insanity, black decoctions and nitrate of silver as cures for, 10.
 Insect pests, distributors, not sources, of infection, 335; water to breed in, indispensable for, 336 f.; how deprived of water, 337 f.; 331, 332, 333. And see Mosquitoes.
 Insects, most varieties of, harmless, 347.
 Insomnia, usually a symptom of mental or physical disturbance, 350, 351, 361, 375; a paradox, 353; peculiarities of, 354, 355; not so black as it's painted, 357; a modern malady, 358; terrors of, 358; seldom harmful, 359, 361, 364; gravity of, depends on cause, 360; a danger-signal, 361; power of self-exaggeration, 361, 374; not becoming more prevalent, 365; mental treatment of, 365, 366; usually easily cured, 366, 374; from over-fatigue, 367; from non-fatigue, 367, 369, and lack of air and exercise, 369, 370;