GREAT SALE OF USE ORGANS

For Out-of-Town Customers

THIS week we will have ready nearly a hundred organs that have been taken in exchange, or that have come in from being out on rental.

We can speak of these as instruments from the best makers—each one is put in the best possible condition before we offer them for sale—by our own expert workmen.

The many readers of this paper, who at different times have taken advantage of our sale of used organs, are ready to bear testimony to the unusual values we always offer and to the satisfactory methods we adopt in doing business with everyone.

Be prompt for best picking. Even a hundred organs will go quickly at such extraordinary reductions as the following list tells.
