SURROUNDING AN ARMY.

Turning the Enemy's Flanks and Rolling Up the Entire Line.

Those not familiar with military tactics have a very vague idea as to how an army is surrounded. It is generally believed that a commander who schemes to encircle his enemy with an impenetrable ring of guns and men must conceive some method of maneuvering his troops round to the rear of his opponent's army. It is possible, however, for a general well versed in field tactics to cleverly "roll up" a large body of troops by frontal attack alone. This is accomplished by means of flanking movements.

For purposes of example let us imagine two armies facing one another drawn up in two long lines. Behind one of the battle lines a body of reserve troops stealthily make their way over to the right. Their purpose is to make a sudden onslaught on one end of the enemy's line. At exactly the right moment, when the artillery fire is at its fiercest, the reserve troops violently attack the forces situated at the extreme left of the enemy's front. The attacking force, owing to its overwhelming numbers, bends back the end of the assailed army. "It refuses its right," as military men say.

At the opposite end of the line a similar attack is launched, which has the effect of forcing back the enemy's right. An army which "refuses" almost at the same time its "left" and "right" wings is doomed. Unless a very speedy retreat is carried out the whole force is "rolled up," as both its flanks are forced back.

As the right and left flanks of the enemy give ground the attacking troops slowly force their way to the rear of the assailed army, closing in the while. The result is that within a few hours the defeated force is entirely surrounded, although in the first instance it was attacked from its front alone.—Pearson's Weekly.

DEATH CAP AND FLY CAP.

The Most Deadly of All Species of Poisonous Mushrooms.

The two most feared and deadly poisonous mushrooms the world over are the death cap (Amanita phalloides) and the fly cap (Amanita muscaria). These two species in the same genus have destroyed several emperors, a pope and probably average 500 deaths annually in various parts of the world, to say nothing of innumerable mammals, birds, reptiles and insects, the latter being almost wholly destroyed by poisonous fungi.

Of the two deadly species, muscaria is most easily detected by the layman. It is a large, showy mushroom, orange yellow in color, with what looks like warts over the cap. You see them in dooryards, where overgreens are growing, sometimes thousands of them, standing up tall and splendid in the grass. Keep your hens in the henyard and your cow in the barn while these fellows are up, with their tempting appearance.

The species Amanita phalloides can readily be avoided. Whatever the color of the cap, white or gray, the under side of it, the gills, are pure white. The cap may or may not be covered with warty protuberances. The stem terminates in a bulb, usually wholly or partially beneath the soil. If a large, deep chunk of earth is taken out around, the bulb invariably will be found setting in a cup. Handle a poisonous mushroom as freely as you like, but do not experiment with one at the table. There are other species, both in the Amanita genus and that of Leptota, that closely resemble it and which may be deliciously edible. You cannot learn these differences from the books. Only an expert, with the several fresh species in hand, can teach you such differences.—New York Press.

Valparaiso at Night.

The night view of Valparaiso from the balconies of the cliff dwellers is one of the great sights of the world. The vast sickle of the shore lit for nearly 200,000 people, the scores of ocean vessels lying at anchor, the harbor lights, the glowing avenues below from which rises, mellowed, the roar of nocturnal traffic, the rippling water under the moonlight and the far horizon of the illimitable Pacific produce an effect of enchantment.—Edward Als worth Ross' "South of Panama."

Playing It Carefully.

Tenderly the ardent swain placed the diamond circlet on his lady love's finger. "It seals our engagement," he said.

"Oh, Jack," exclaimed the girl, "Isn't it sweet?"

"And now," continued the young man, "would you mind giving me a receipt stating that the ring is to be returned to me in case you should change your mind about marrying me?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Query Discourteous.

"So glad to see you again, dear. And I've got such a lot of news for you. Did you know I was interested in business now?" said the first sweet young thing.

"Whose?" asked the second, and then the conversation lagged perceptibly.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Spanish Legend.

A rocky eminence on the outskirts of Granada, Spain, is known as "El ultimo suspiro del Moro" (the last sigh of the Moor), because, according to the legend, Boabdil, the last Moorish monarch, took leave there of the land of his birth.

Laboring toward distant aims sets the mind in a higher key and puts us at our best.—Parkhurst.

Women's Institute Notes

The October meeting of the Women's Institute was held Saturday, the 30th at 3 p.m., and was one of the most interesting and wide-awake meetings ever held by the Institute.

Miss Ney gave a lesson on "Pictures," contrasting conventional and naturalistic productions, and led her listeners to see many points of beauty and harmony of construction that are overlooked by the casual observer.

Miss Mackay gave an address on "Women as Nation Builders." Miss Mackay's ability to present her subject forcibly is well known.

Miss Nellie Earl and Miss Marion Cornell gave a piano duet, and Miss Leila Kilborn of Brockville, sang a solo which pleased.

A collection of fruit, jam, jelly, and maple sugar, will be made by the Women's Institute in the second week of November. The village and surrounding country will be canvassed, and all sweets received will be sent to the Canadian boys overseas. Have a sealer ready.

A call has come for old kid, soft leather and old furs. These are used by factories in England, in the weaving of a material used for clothing the Italian soldiers who are fighting in the mountains. Look up your old kid gloves, tops of shoes and old furs, and give them to the ladies who will call next week—or send to the Library-room.

Old white cotton, cambric and linen (well laundered), will also be asked for.

It has been decided to hold a military shower each Institute day. Any one who wishes to contribute any article of comfort for our boys at the front, may do so, whether a member of the Institute or not, and each month a box will be sent. Articles suggested are: socks, towels, soap, tooth-brush, powder, writing paper, mitts, scarfs, handkerchiefs, sweater, underwear, gum, candy, etc.

The first shower will be for Hubert Cornell.

Each month, a "News from Home" scrap book will be made and forwarded. November "News from Home" will be collected by the pupils of the High School under the supervision of Miss Mackay.

Here is an important announcement. The ladies of Athens and vicinity are to have the privilege of attending a short course in Domestic Science. A competent teacher from the Educational Department will give ten lessons on the following:

Food Values and Cooking

The program will be arranged after the plan of the Macdonald Institute short course in Domestic Science, the lessons including:

1. Vegetables—Fresh, starchy and dried. Special food functions and methods of cooking.
2. Fruit—Typical methods of cooking; combinations making the best use of home-grown fruits.
3. Milk—Soups, puddings and combinations with special relation to infant, children's and invalid diet.
4. Cereals and Cheese—Various methods of cooking; their high food value compared with other more expensive foods.
5. Eggs—Correct methods of cooking; variations in methods, storage.
6. Meat—Roasting and broiling; braised dishes, stews and soups; uses of the different cuts, and food value compared with other foods.
7. Baking Powder Bread, Yeast Bread and Fancy Breads.
8. Cake and Little Cakes.
9. Puddings and Desserts.
10. Salads.

It is not known exactly the days of the week that the class will be held here as classes are being formed at Elgin and Newboro also. Definite particulars will be given next week. The class membership fee is 25c to Institute members; 50c to non-members. Many valuable ideas will be advanced at these classes and every woman and young girl is urged to take advantage of this privilege.

An autograph quilt was donated to the Institute by the Mission Band of the Methodist church. It will be disposed of as thought best by the Institute for Red Cross fund.

The Institute voted $5 to be sent to Mr Putnam, to be applied to the fund for the aircraft "Canada."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it though the mucus surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ## The Number of the Beast.

Take the letters of the Kaiser's name and arrange them one under the other. Then to the right of each letter put down the number of each letter as it stands in the alphabet; after that put the figure 6; carry these figures into another column and add the total together, thus:

K	11	6	116
A	1	6	16
I	9	6	96
S	19	6	196
E	5	6	56
R	18	6	186
			666

Then refer to the 13th chapter of Revelation, 4th, 5th and 18th verses. The answer will be surprising, and it is hoped, prophetic.

4th verse—"And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying: 'Who is like unto the beast, who is able to make war with him?'"

5th verse—"And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemous, a power was given unto him, it continued forty and two months."

18th verse—"Here is wisdom, let him that have understanding count the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man, and his number is six hundred three score and six."

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
PAINTS & VARNISHES

The paint that protects the outside of a house should not be the same as the paint for a floor or a door or a wall. Different surfaces require different finishes. There should be but one thing in common—Sherwin-Williams quality—the quality that makes each paint, varnish, stain, enamel or other finish just right for its purpose.

If you know the paint and varnish you are using on your house or in your home are made by the same maker in the same sure, careful, painstaking way as the paint used on iron bridges, steel buildings, railroad cars and automobiles, we believe you will have more confidence in them.
