

Imperial Parliament.

OF CANADA—MAY 16.

THE CANADA.

Lord J. Ross has having received the order of the day for the House to resolve itself in a committee of the whole House on the Factors Act Amendment Bill.

and to establish a body in its place composed of older men than those of the House of Assembly, and elected for a longer period.

reference which were involved in the subject. In the end which the Hon. and Learned Member proposed to himself—that of establishing a new government in the Dominion.

Canada was on the 20th of March, 1882. Well, scarcely two years had elapsed from that period before commissioners were appointed to inquire into the various matters of complaint on the part of the Canadian people.

reference now made to them awakened they would see that they were not justified in withholding their confidence from a Government which was disposed to remedy every proved abuse, and to redress every real grievance.

and it was more than fully justified to prosecute the redress of notorious grievances. He was satisfied that Lord Gosford might have made his report before the present time and surely justice was not to be withheld because this had not been done.

attention of His Majesty's Government to get to say by himself—and he would have appeared to speak to him before that an individual he would not be the party to withdraw from the subject.

Mr. Ross observed that it was stated in the instructions that were issued, but in what manner? Lord Gosford in them said that the King was most unwilling to admit an appeal to the provincial Government.
