Opposition Attitude on the Humber Proposition.

The attitude of the Opposition, as so far displayed in the House in the speeches of the Leader, Mr. Higgins, Mr. Sullivan and Sir M. P. Cashin last evening, is in perfect harmony with their utterances in the recent election. In a word, as a general proposition to give labor to the people who need work so badly, they strongly favor the project; but there are several details in the Agreement to which they will offer amendments. Mr. Higgins' analysis of the proposition was a calm and masterly analysis, and even the Government members must have been convinced of the reasonableness of the amendments which he suggested as he went along. He pointed out that the new company was seeking several concessions which the Harmsworth Co. did not have, and that they had asked for no guarantee. The privilege of fishing and shooting over the Humber territory granted to the new company should be reserved to the public, and the company should pay more to the public revenue than the small sum of one dollar per ton on paper as royalty. The question of funds to carry on the industry after the plant was completed was an important one which due provision had not been made for, and the half million dollars provided by the Armstrong Whitworth Co. would be, he thought, altogether inadequate to meet the requirements of such a gigantic industry. Whilst he had perfect confidence in the report of the late Mr. Scott and Mr. J. P. Powell as efficient and honest men to perform the work, it must be borne in mind that their report was made for the Reid Nfld. Co., who were anxious to negotiate this deal, and its being taken up by the British Government and the British investors depended largely, as a matter of course, on their report as to the available supply of timber in the Humber Valley and around Deer Lake and Grand Lake. There was unfortunately no report from Government cruisers or engineers to corroborate this. There were people in all cases to look out for the interests of the outside investors but no one to report for Newfoundland. It was not a fifty-fifty deal as the Premier had said previous to the election. Great Britain's investors had the first mortgage. We the second. The story that English capitalists were going to run the railway after being taken from the Reids was another myth. The Premier could not take the position that he had had a mandate from the people to go on with the Humber Proposition. The people did not know what the Deal was and therefore could give the Government no mandate. The Project revealed to the House is quite a different one from that which was written off in the Premier's Manifesto and was preached to the electors. The sooner the amendments suggested by the Leader of the Opposition are made the sooner the Resolutions will go through.

Premier's Undignified Conduct.

The Prime Minister is not to be congratulated upon his conduct in the House yesterday. Apparently the criticisms of Sir Michael Cashin got under the skin of the Premier, for he was noticed to suddenly leave his seat and proceed to the visitors' seat near the Bar of the House. Here were seated two gentlemen who, we understand, are connected with the Armstrong-Whitworth Company. In a most excited manner and in a tone of voice loud enough to be heard by spectators outside the Bar and members inside Sir Richard in a most undignified and ungentlemanly manner referred to Sir Michael as being "ignorant," and not to judge Newfoundlanders by such a speaker. He hypocritically apologized to the gentlemen for Sir Michael's utterances. We judge from the expressions on the faces of these visitors that they did not quite appreciate this unmanly attempt of the Premier to detract from the remarks of his opponent.

Supreme Court.

(Before the Full Bench.) This morning in the Supreme Court Mr. Eric Jerrett, LL.B., was presented by Mr. John Fenelon, on behalf of the benchers, for enrollment as a Solicitor, and after having been duly sworn, signed the roll and was admitted to practice. Later he was presented as a Barrister, and upon presentation and after receiving the congratulations of their Lordships, Mr. Jerrett announced that at the time of his presentation at the Bar of Nova Scotia last month, Mr. Justice MacKenzie of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, who presided, requested him to convey to the Bench and Bar of Newfoundland the greetings from the neighboring Province. The Chief Justice on behalf of the local Bench expressed his acknowledgment and reciprocity. On behalf of the benchers and law students Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C., presented Mr. Augustus Parsons, B.C.L. for admission and enrollment as a Solicitor of the Supreme Court, and Mr. Parsons having taken the usual oath and upon the signing of the roll, was duly admitted and congratulated by their Lordships.

Admitted to Bar.

In the Supreme Court this morning, two young gentlemen of distinguished College career were entered upon the rolls of the Law Society of Newfoundland. Mr. Eric Jerrett, LL.B., of Dalhousie, was admitted as a Barrister and Solicitor. After a College course at Bishop Field College he studied at Dalhousie, taking his Degrees as Bachelor of Laws, and was later called to the Nova Scotia Bar, but he decided to engage in practice in his native land. We understand that he is entering into business with Mr. W. R. Howley. Mr. Jerrett is a son of Frederick Jerrett, Brigus. The Telegram wishes him every success in his chosen profession.

Sir Michael Cashin's Speech at the House Last Evening.

The House being in Committee on the Humber Resolutions Sir Michael said: Mr. Speaker, before we go into this question I desire to review a little bit of history in connection with the proposition of this House last summer. We need to be careful now that that trick may not happen again. As to the proposition before the House a great deal can be said in its favor, but I would first like to go back and remind the House and the public generally of what happened since we prorogued the House last August. We expected that that promise would be fulfilled and that we would meet again in the Autumn when important legislation would be brought before the House. The time expired, but the House did not open. The finalization of the Humber Deal in England by the Premier was the excuse given. Even the Governor of the time fell for it. I was one of a delegation that called on his Excellency, who informed us that he had reliable information that as the Humber Deal was in the stage of completion it was impossible for the Premier to return from London at the date set for opening the House. He assured us that it would open for business as soon as the Premier returned. The Governor was deceived as we all were deceived, for when Sir Richard came back the Legislature was not called together for the usual winter session. Another trick was to be worked, that is to say to keep the House closed and spring an election in May with the Humber Deal as an election cry to get back to power. Some people seem to forget all this and the Government, no doubt, do not want to have it revived, but I for one would like to know what reasons or what defence the Premier has to offer for so deceiving the people. When he came back from England he could have called the House together. He had this great Humber Proposition with all its details which the public wanted to know and had waited for so long, but he kept it all to himself and to the few members of the Executive who sat with him at the Round Table conference, where it was decided to fool the people by keeping all the particulars of the Humber Deal from them except the one vote-catching detail that "it would give labor for all at good wages" and its being taken up and carried on was dependent on the return of his Government. He went to the country on this and another cry and won, but how much is it likely to suffer from this victory? There was no reason why the Premier did not call the House together other than the one I have assigned. He was afraid to do so because he knew that his Government would not stand twenty-four hours once the details of this deal and the railway pact became known. The story that he told the electors and printed in his Manifesto is quite a different one from that which is now being revealed, and when he penned the 1923 Manifesto he evidently forgot or maybe thought the people forgot what he had said in the former Manifesto of 1919. (Sir Michael here read from the Manifesto the clauses in which he and the Opposition were blamed for preventing Sir R. Squires from conducting the business of the House implying that it was the reason he did not open it). Mr. Chairman, said Sir Michael resuming, I challenge the Premier here and now to prove this assertion. He cannot do so, I tell him he is not correct and in plain language I tell him that he lies and he knows he lies. I defy him or any individual inside or outside this House to bring proof of this false assertion. It was written for a purpose and that purpose was all known. (Manifesto quoted again where Premier refers to Humber Deal). Did I not challenge him last spring before the election to come out in the open and tell the people what the Humber Deal was? I dared him to explain it, but I knew he would not because he wanted to fool the people and still he had the impudence to issue sufficient about it in the Manifesto to deceive the people and thereby get their votes. He speaks of it in the Manifesto as a "great programme." What is it but the old Nfld. Products Co. Agreement in which the Reid Nfld. Co. are to play such a prominent part, the same company that Sir Richard was going to "put in their place." Why, Sir, did you not do so in March last and come out and assert yourself? You discussed the deal at the Round Table sitting and beyond the five or six of you not one of the rank and file that you sent out to fight the election knew the first thing about what the Humber Deal was. They were all asked, but none of them could tell. All they could say was that it would give unlimited work. Yes, Sir, you fooled them on this cry, but you also did so on another cry which I regret to have to mention in this House. It was the "Religious Cry" and Dr. Barnes the Hon. Member for Twillingate, sitting there may be able to tell you about it and of the meeting at Upper Island Cove at one o'clock on the morning of Polling Day. (Dr. Barnes here rose and protested that Sir Michael was charging him unjustly and denied that he used sectarianism). If I am wrong I am sorry, but the evidence is pretty good. The idea of keeping us here to-day doing nothing when the country is in such a condition. What of the fishery, that your Government was going to do so much for. Has the champion of the "underdogs," calmly sitting there, nothing to say on behalf of the fishermen? With all his faults I have much more confidence in him than in his leader. This Manifesto of yours, Mr. Premier, is a hoax. In it you allude to me as a Tory. What were you when you sat with me in the Executive for four years. Certainly if I am a Tory you must be one too. No, Sir, this is a time for action not words. What are you going to for the 700 hungry men now walking the streets of St. John's, your own district? You found work for them between Nomination and Polling days by giving out $10 and $12 orders for food through the consent of the Governor—a new arrival, whom you deluded also. What have you done since. The men seeking work have called on you day after day but you have done nothing. Here you are with this Humber Deal fooling the workmen to the last. You are not sincere, not honest with the people. Some of them realize it now but you will be found out by all before long. In this Manifesto you mention a Fishery Policy. Now what have you done to help the fishery. The man who was going to revolutionize the fishery is sitting behind you. Your policy, dictated by him, has ruined thousands. The West Coast is done. There is not a cargo of new fish to go out to market. All the young men there are fleeing out of the country. And yet, Sir, you stand out this nonsense in your Manifesto. Your chief cry in the election was not however what is in this document but was the whispered word. You must not vote for Cashin because he does not worship at the same altar as Squires. The telegraph messages sent to Burgeo and Harbor Grace put the matter in much rarer terms which should make the reader hang his head for shame. Did you talk Fish at the election. No, Sir, you talked Religion. Sir Michael then read from the 1923 Manifesto of 1919 and showed that he failed in all the promises in the following items: Public Health, nothing; Workingman's Homes $40,000, lost; Widows' Pension, nothing; Tuberculosis, nothing; Education, 10 or 15 gentlemen and ladies down in the Department tripping over one another and nothing to show justification for the enormous grant. Hon. Dr. Barnes is their chief and he had to put him self under Cashin's wing to get elected in Twillingate. Trade and Commerce, nothing done except to send a dozen men abroad to draw big salaries for doing nothing. In the 1923 Manifesto the policy was changed to "Down on the Merchants" to get the fishermen's votes. As to your condemnation of the Fishery Department in 1919, you forgot that Hon. Mr. Piccott, now sitting with you, was the man abused. Piccott did good work, but all your men were down on him. Not one promise in regard to improvement of the fishery have you carried out. As to taxation, you promised, Mr. Premier, to take it off and relieve the "groaning," but you put more on. Regulation of tariff: you appointed a Commission two years ago and you have no report from them yet. This House has been open three weeks. We want to go on with the work but you want to keep an adjourning with one or two sessions a week. I know your reason for this and I will tell you later on. You are making the whole thing a joke, but the want of employment by the men of the town and outports who are hungry and naked is no joke. Before the election you said that 5,000 men would get work on the Humber this summer. Now the tickets are so rare and so precious that they are given in twos and threes to defeated candidates in Opposition. Constituencies. Imagine a man with red blood in his veins having to beg this way. It could not possibly happen 40 years ago. As to this Humber contract, part of it I am going to vote for and for another part I am not. There are many questions yet to be answered. For instance, who are the other stockholders with the Armstrong Whitworth Co.? Who is going to run the deal? It is taken from the Reid Nfld. Co. It is a big load to carry, but the Premier lies it up with the Humber in the hope of getting it through. It will involve a loss of not much under a million dollars every year. I tell you, Mr. Chairman, our country is in a terrible state. Poor old Newfoundland! Her young men fleeing away from her in thousands to get a bit of bread.

In Passing.

The Humber Resolutions will be further discussed in the House this afternoon.

The debate on same will likely occupy the attention of the Assembly to-morrow when the Opposition will offer some reasonable amendments for the Government's consideration.

These amendments will in no way interfere with the progress of the measure but are of much value to the country in the ratification of the bill.

The position taken by the Opposition to assist the Government in all its undertakings that will in any way benefit the colony is worthy of mention and it behooves the Government to accept their willingness in the same spirit in which it is tendered.

Such an attitude on the part of the present Government would be advantageous to the progress of business and create a higher standard in the workings of the legislature.

The members of the Opposition have thru their leader made it quite clear to the Government that they, as representatives of the people, and the country, do not seek in any way to molest the Government or its legislative programme provided, of course, that it means a policy which is in keeping with the general advancement of the colony and at the same time constitutional.

Never in the history of the country was there a time when personal bickerings and prejudices should be forgotten. We are approaching a crisis that must be faced with a firm determination to render the best results obtainable and it behooves the people as well as their elected representatives in the legislature to carefully guard the interests of the state.

Accordingly the best and only method for one and all to adopt is to avail of a certain united spirit of harmony that tends to increase confidence and assist materially in a proper realization of the good that must accrue when such methods and standards are accepted and lived up to.

Fishery Report.

The following messages were received this morning by the Marine and Fisheries Department:—
St. Anthony—Good sign of fish, traps getting from 3 to 12 qts, caplin plentiful;—weather stormy.
Bonnie Bay—Wind moderate, traps yesterday averaged 29 qts; caplin plentiful.

In a report to the Assistant Collector of Customs received from the sub-collector at Twillingate it is stated that only 23 cod traps are operating around the North and South Islands of Twillingate.

Mr. Ambrose Hearn landed 15 qts. of codfish in his traps at Ferryland this morning. A message received from Lunenburg stated that codfish has made its appearance, and that several good catches have been secured. Lobsters are also very plentiful at Bonnie Bay, according to a message received to-day.

Placed Obstruction on Road.

On the Long Pond Road last night some party or parties carried out a mean trick by placing a large tree on the road near North Bank. A cabman who was driving in that direction with a full load of freight, after dark, fortunately noticed the obstruction in time to prevent a serious accident. The perpetrators of this uncalled for act should be ashamed of themselves, and if caught severely punished.

Sir M. P. Cashin

PRESENTS FINE TROPHY FOR ATHLETIC COMPETITION ON BELL ISLAND.

In line with his many acts of generosity, Sir Michael Cashin has now shown his practical interest in the sporting affairs of Bell Island—that important section of Conception Bay—and has presented a handsome cup as an impetus to athletic games there. The cup was presented this week to Capt. L. C. Murphy, President of the Bell Island Star of the Sea Association, who is the present trustee, and the trophy is offered in competition at the Annual Sports of the Star Society, which take place on Saturday afternoon, July 14th.

This practical form of interest is much appreciated by the many members of the Association, and the fact that it is offered in open contest—and that all athletes on the island may compete for this splendid trophy—gives it added interest to all the Clubs and Societies on Bell Island.

The complainant's wife failed to appear against him, and the case of assault was dismissed.

Capt. Field Wires.

LEAK DISCOVERED—WATER NOW UNDER CONTROL.
A message from Capt. Field of the S.S. Portia to the Department of Shipping was received this morning. Capt. Field stated that the damage to the ship is not serious. Yesterday the engineers discovered the leak under the main boiler, and made temporary repairs from the inside. The water is now under control. Mr. McGettigan and Driver John Taylor were on the S.S. Sagona which left Little Bay Islands at 8.30 this morning. From there to Nippon's Hr. it is only a few hours run, and it is quite possible that the diver will go down this afternoon to ascertain the extent of damage done.

Returned From Second Trip.

The Lunenburg vessels that were out to the Banks fishing on their second trip have all returned. Their total catch is 34,000 qts. as compared with 75,000 on second trip last year. As the first trip returns was 20,000 this spring they have now landed a total of 54,000 qts. as against 120,000 last year. There is besides this 14,000 about 20,000 of old fish on hand to be marketed. On the whole, however, the entire stocks to be marketed are considerably smaller than a year ago. The counterbalancing fact is that the foreign markets are in a much weaker position than in June 1922. Last year there was a good demand at this season whereas the foreign markets are now nearly all overstocked. The "Maritime Merchant" says in regard to prices "The fishermen are asking $6.50 to $7.00 but the Lunenburg and Halifax exporters say that the market conditions and prospects do not warrant more than $5.00 per qt. With so wide a divergence of opinion fish will be held back for a few weeks waiting developments. Jamaica is still filled up with shipments from Newfoundland so that orders coming to Halifax from the West Indies are very limited. Porto Rico is very weak owing to recent heavy receipts on consignment. To-day's prices there barely net $5 per qt. The same applies to Cuba where big shipments to Havana keep the price down to $5.00. There is no improvement in Brazil nor where the exchange is still at a low level. There is very little favorable change in the European situation.
