THE SASKATCHEWAN VICTORY

The expectation that the Scott government would be returned to power by the electors of Saskatchewan proved to be well founded, and the increased majority given to Premier Scott may be taken as indicating a marked growth of the favor in which his administration is held throughout the neighboring province.

The record of the government was such that there could have been no ground for doubt that it would be returned to power if the campaign had been fought solely upon questions of domestic concern. The only cause for doubt with respect to the outcome, was to be found in the unwarranted interference of which the officials of the federal government were guilty. The failure of their efforts to influence the electors is a well-merited rebuke, which should always be administered when the federal government, whether Liberal or Conservative, intervenes in a contest which is purely provincial.

By inviting the electors to declare: "For Borden and Hautain," the Conservative leaders forced attention to the fact that a vote for Borden would be a vote for the forces that defeated reciprocity. If the government had been defeated, the Conservatives would undoubtedly have claimed that their defeat must be taken as evidence of the waning power of the sentiment for freer trade.

We do not intend to make the claim that every vote cast in Saskatchewan was cast as a "Yes" or "No" to that question. That the sentiment in favor of wider markets was a very potent factor in the election, however, is a fact that no reasonable person can doubt. As evidence that this sentiment is strong in the neighboring province the result is of interest, not because such evidence was required by the Liberals of the West, but because it may serve the purpose of checking the enthusiasm of those Tories who waste their time and energy in saying nothing of the patience of no small part of their audiences, by noisily celebrating what they are pleased to regard as the obsequies of reciprocity.

The Hon. Robert Rogers and his associates have gained nothing and lost much by their interference in the affairs of the neighboring province. The Hon. Walter Scott has secured an overwhelming endorsement of his government, he has administered a well-deserved rebuke to the meddlesome politicians from Ottawa and has, at the same time, demonstrated that, upon the question of most vital interest to the West, the electors of Saskatchewan stand precisely where they did in September last, when they returned a large majority for Sir Wilfrid Laurier and freer trade.

TO AN ALDERMAN

At a recent meeting of the board of trade, when the proposal to establish a municipal telephone system was made, one member of the city council, referred with disparagement to the attitude of two of the newspapers in the city with respect to the existing muddle at the city hall.

This alderman declared that the only logical conclusion to be drawn from the statements appearing in these journals was that the city did not know how to handle the business enterprises that it had already undertaken, and in making that deduction apparently imagined that he had at once demonstrated the falsity of the statements and his own reputation as a humorist and critic.

Whether or not this gentleman made a big hit

POLICEMAN RETIRES RICH

Leaves Chicago Force With $100,000 to Become a Banker

Chicago, July 11.—Lieut. John Dawney of the Grand Crossing police station announced today that he intended retiring from the police department on August 1, after serving twenty-three years. Lieut. Dawney estimated his salary at $100,000, much of which is invested in real estate in Grand Crossing and on the South Side.

FAVORS MUZZLING WIVES

Pittsburg Magistrate Thinks City Should Pass Such a Law

Pittsburg, July 11.—"There is a city ordinance requiring all owners to muzzle their dogs and there ought to be one compelling all husbands to muzzle their wives," declared Magistrate Pittsburg this afternoon in the trial of Mrs. Wright, who was charged by her neighbor, Mrs. James Woods, with disturbing the peace.

with the meeting, we do not think that his present attitude is one that is likely to commend him favorably to the great majority of the ratepayers. By this and other utterances of recent date he has given the impression that he is one of the few who are perfectly satisfied with the achievements of the existing administration and who see no cause for serious concern in the conditions revealed by the recent enquiry.

We venture to assert that there are few ratepayers who are able to regard the conditions revealed by the enquiry with the same degree of complacency as is exhibited by this alderman. Most of those who read the opinion of the experts employed, showing that by neglecting to provide adequate inspection of the concrete work, the city allowed the contractors to make a rake-off of $1.62 on every square yard, will be of the opinion that there is ground for serious concern, respecting the administration of the city's business.

There is no reason to doubt that the city is capable of conducting its own business. There is reason to question whether its business is being efficiently conducted at the present time. The ratepayers expect an improvement and look to the aldermen to aid in the accomplishment of that improvement—and to this particular alderman among the rest.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If Premier Scott's mount in the Saskatchewan race was a "dead horse," as R. B. Bennett said it was, what sort of animal did Hautain ride?

The Tories who stood at the tail of the "reciprocity" horse on the Saskatchewan race track and shouted that she was a "dead one," found that the dead horse was a live mule. "And her name was Maud!"

Saskatoon elected a Liberal candidate despite R. B.'s promise to the electors that he would use his influence to force the G.T.P. to move their depot into the town.

"Blow, blow, thou winter wind, Thou art not so unkind As man's ingratitude!"

Stories of the Streets

Up in this prosperous province everybody appears to be fond of automobiles. O. G. Devenish, the well known realty operator was committing the other evening after his return from Europe and the conversation ran something like this: "Great luxury, these automobiles," said a friend. "Luxury is right—almost a necessity," was the rejoinder.

"What do you mean?" came back the inquisitor. Then Mr. Devenish weakened. "People are wont to talk about the expense of motor cars. It's not, I have one that eats out of my pocketbook—nothing could be gentler. It is so tame it doesn't get frightened at the fire crackers on the Fourth of July. Why, almost it would eat out of your hand or consume the roof over your head!"

Some appreciative car.

This is said to have happened as the result of a visit of a bright-eyed child to Sunday school in Calgary.

An elderly gentleman who had been bemoaning the lack of enterprise and aggressiveness in children of the modern day met a youngster in a pretty pink frock and said:

"What kind of a great man do you expect to be when you grow up?"

"Don't know," was the rather brief reply.

"That's where the children of the old days differ from those of modern times," commended the inquisitor. "The boys of the grandfathers' days always had ambition to become statesmen."

"No chance for me," came back the reply. "I'm a girl."

Which is some reply for a child.

"William Some Shot"—erstwhile "Buckshot" Sherman has an automobile that misbehaves occasionally. Last night the engine went wrong and before the trouble could be righted the street railway traffic was interrupted.

"W. Buckshot"—who by the way is a regular fellow—tinkered with the pesky mechanism for some minutes but without avail. There was no more life in the engine than has been seen in some plays a few weeks back at a local theatre.

At last he struck the combination, the street car congestion was relieved and the general public won their "show" bet.

The Old Poet journeyed into the office last night and pulled this one ament the "swat fly" stuff:

"Swat the fly and swat him when you will, But on the cake his feet-prints linger still, I guess I am a knocker on the fly, For I don't like his foot-prints on my pie."

Regular stuff, Old Scout, and if you played the same boarding house I do, they'd hook you extra for the "feetprints".

(My landlady please take notice.)

WOMEN SUFFOCATED

An Aunt of Wm. Knabe and Her Daughter Found Dead

Washington, July 11.—Mrs. Mary E. Wehrant, 44 years old, an aunt of William Knabe, vice-president of the Knabe Brothers company, piano manufacturers of New York and Cincinnati, and Miss Katherine Wehrant, 26 years old, her daughter, were found dead at noon today in their apartment in this city.

All cracks around the doors and windows in the apartment were lightly caulked with rags, and gas was pouring from an open jet in the room. The police are inclined to the opinion that the gas was turned on by Miss Wehrant without her mother's knowledge. The aged woman, dressed in her night clothes, was lying on the bed as though she had been asleep and the body of her daughter was on the floor fully dressed.

It was a summer's evening. Old Knabe's work was done, and he before his outside door. Was sitting in the sun. His little grandchild butted in: "Have you a match?" said Peterkin. Milwaukee Sentinel.
