HOOD'S

Sarsaparilla
It would be difficult to find a man better known in the vicinity of Burlington, Vt., than Mr. R. D. Wheeler of Windsor Falls, the efficient Deputy Sheriff of Burlington county. He says: "I have taken it for years, and I can tell you it is the best medicine I have ever used. It has cured me of many ailments, and I feel that I cannot live without it."

"Dear Sir: I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for years, and I can tell you it is the best medicine I have ever used. It has cured me of many ailments, and I feel that I cannot live without it."

for if ever a man suffers with anything in this world it is with that awful disease. It seems to me as if all other physical sufferings were compressed into that one. I took about everything man ever tried for it but never got a dollar's worth of help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
I have taken it now pretty regularly for ten years and have no more pain and can get around all right. I have advised a good many to try Hood's Sarsaparilla." R. D. WHEELER, Deputy Sheriff, Windsor Falls, Vt.

WHIRLING!

Lightning Speed at Which London Excursionists Traveled to Detroit.
One hundred and eleven miles in 108 minutes was the marvelous time made by the excursion train on the Michigan Central, carrying the people's excursion to Detroit Tuesday. Promptly at 7:15 a train of seven coaches in charge of Conductor L. B. Weiler, Brokenhead Ed. Alderman and Wm. Major left the M. C. R. depot, carrying 300 people.

After a slight delay at London junction, St. Thomas was reached at 7:50. One of the Michigan Central's largest engines, No. 440, with Engineer William Kells at the throttle, with Fireman Robt. Kerr second in command, was attached to the train and at 8:03 a start was made on a trip which proved to be the fastest ever run between St. Thomas and Windsor, breaking the record by five minutes. The first 47 miles was made in 44 minutes, and the run from St. Thomas to Windsor in 1 hour and 55 minutes. Although the extraordinary fast run of 111 miles in 108 minutes was made, the passengers were not aware of it until the arrival in Windsor, so smooth was the track.

As advertised previously, a colored porter passed through the train between London and St. Thomas and presented each lady on board with a handsome bouquet of flowers. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the People's Excursion Company and the officials of the Michigan Central for the manner in which the arrangements were carried out and the splendid run so safely made, every passenger on board expressing their pleasure in the most unqualified terms for the comfortable train, the courteous conduct of Conductor Weiler and all connected with the trip.

The return journey was started from Detroit at 9 p.m., and a speed of nearly a mile per minute was maintained to St. Thomas, the train reaching London at 12:30 a.m., disembarking the most pleased crowd of excursionists that ever left the city for a day's outing.

Prof. Dorenwend will be at the Tecumseh House on Thursday, 2nd June. Do not neglect seeing the latest styles in hair goods. Ladies and gentlemen be sure to inspect his stock. 60-n twxtwz

"THE CENTENNIAL"

The Corner Stone of the New Methodist Church

Formally Placed in Position by Miss E. E. Bowman.

The Contents of the Stone—Addresses by Thos. McCormick, Rev. J. V. Smith, Rev. B. Clement, Rev. Geo. Boyd and Mr. C. H. Ivey—Financial Statement, Showing Cost of Church—The Evening Programme.

Threatening weather, baseball matches, horse races and excursions did not prevent a large crowd of London's citizens from spending a portion of the Queen's Birthday in witnessing the laying of the corner stone of the Centennial Methodist Church, which is being built in East London, a complete description of which was published in yesterday's ADVERTISER. At 3 o'clock, the appointed hour, the south and west sides of the building were occupied with persons eager to see the stone put in position. Among those on the platform were: Thos. McCormick, chairman, Rev. Messrs. A. G. Courtice, J. Philip, J. V. Smith, B. Clement, Geo. Boyd, A. E. Griffith, Chas. Smith, H. Crews, Stephen Bond, W. Godwin, Geo. Kerr and McVittie, Ald. Yates, ex-Ald. Ivey, J. Frith Jeffers, Wm. Bowman and many others.

Rev. B. Clement, president of the London Conference, opened the ceremony by reading hymn 669, which the choir of the church and the congregation sang. Rev. Stephen Bond led in prayer and Rev. A. G. Courtice read the first lesson—Psalm 132—with responses by Rev. Messrs. Philip, Bond, Boyd, Henderson and Clement. The second lesson—I Corinthians, iii., 9-23—was read by Rev. Wm. Godwin. Miss Lillywhite followed with a well rendered solo. Next came THE ADDRESSES.

Thos. McCormick, chairman, was introduced by Rev. Joseph Philip. Mr. McCormick was pleased to be present on such an occasion. He belonged to a denomination that was aggressive. In 1851, when he came to London, there was but one Methodist Church. Now there were eleven. There had been a great deal of good accomplished in the old East End Methodist Church, and by the amalgamation of the congregations of the Elizabeth Street and Queen's Park Churches a large congregation had been formed. The new church would, he thought, accommodate about 1,000 people, or about one-seventh of the seating capacity of all the Methodist Churches in the city. Mr. McCormick hoped that the new church would be the birthplace of many souls.

REV. J. V. SMITH, of Toronto, formerly of this city, said that of London people were not to be placed in the second place anywhere. He was glad that a new church was being built in the East End. He talked of that matter when he was a pastor in London. The new building would be a credit to London and to the denomination. A Methodist Church could not be placed astray, as there would always be a congregation, especially when there was a good old orthodox minister in the pulpit. Great progress was being made in many lines, but Christianity led them. Some people threw aside all the restraints and obligations of Christianity and tried to make themselves believe that there were no obligations. Nothing had done so much for the country and for the peoples' intellectual standing as Christianity. It made a man immortal and is to live forever, and if there is a heaven and a hell, all other things must be held in abeyance until the question "What must I do to be saved?" has been answered. Mr. Smith hoped that as long as the church stood there would be a faithful, earnest and evangelical minister in the pulpit. The bodies as well as the souls of our fellow men were to be looked after. We should not be charged with having the spirit of hardness, which says: "He was glad to be living in an age when theological hair-splitting had come to an end. Denominational bickering and bigotry were almost at an end. As Christian people had to endeavor to bring men to God. That spirit of hardness, which says: 'he has made his own bed, let him lie upon it,' should be destroyed. We should help our fellow men in every possible way. General Booth's plan for the amelioration of suffering mankind was a grand one—he reached the hundreds and thousands of those who were in need. He was pleased to be present on the occasion of the starting of a church for the worship of the most high God, and prayed that God's blessing would rest on the Centennial Church, its trustees and its pastor.

REV. BENJAMIN CLEMENT, president of the London Conference, congratulated the chairman on the position he held on an important occasion. Mr. McCormick had really been one of the fathers of Methodism in London. There was something seemingly in having the laying of the corner stone on the same day as the celebration of the 73rd birthday of our Queen. The church was a grand one, and it was having the event on this day. The churches were built for the glorification of God; and the Methodists were the people of Canada. Mr. Clement wished the Centennial Church, its trustees, congregation and pastor every success.

REV. GEORGE FOYD, chairman of the London district, believed that the history of heaven itself would be the better of having a new church in East London. He was pleased to be present, and congratulated the Methodists of East London on their undertaking.

EX-ALD. CHAS. H. IVEY considered it a privilege and an honor to be requested to submit the following figures, showing the entire cost of the new building and of removing and fitting up the old church as a Sunday school room: Brickwork for new building, $8,725; carpentering, $2,538; plastering, $425; cut-stones, $545; slating, $600; painting, $130; gasfitting, $70; galvanizing iron, $219; roofing, $230; glass, $320; seating and pulpit, $963 18; gas fixtures, $250; moving and repairing school room, $427; plastering, $25; extending gas main, $22 75; transferring property, $20; architect's fee, $318 30; mortgage on property, $1,200. Total, $12,102 23. Subscriptions to date had amounted to $5,525, of which $2,300 had been paid. There was now due $450, and there would be due on Nov. 15, 1892, $1,400, and on Nov. 15, 1891, $1,375. There was paid on Dec. 13, 1891, $2,000, and since then, $500. The amount asked for to-day was $700. Mr. Ivey was also pleased to see Mr. McCormick occupying such an important position on the occasion. He could not understand why the trustees had requested him (Mr. Ivey) to stand out as a mark for so many Methodist ministers to shoot at. He paid a high tribute to Rev. J. Philip for having done such a great work in bringing about the amalgamation of the two organizations that will occupy the Centennial Church.

MORE OFFERINGS. Mr. McCormick said that although Mr. Ivey was a young man he had done a great deal of good work. It was now the congregation's turn, he said, to speak. The trustees then passed around the envelopes to receive subscriptions. Besides many smaller ones the following were offered: Thos. McCormick, $100; Miss E. E. Bowman, $50; Ladies' Aid, $50; Willing Workers, $30; Mayor Spencer, $25; Wm. Bowman, $25; C. H. Ivey, $20; H. Keyes, $10; Rev. B. Clement, $5; Mrs. Carie, $5; Miss Bowman, $5; Henry Bell, $5; W. Lewis, $5; R. Watson, $5; Ald. Yates, $5; J. A. Matthews, $5. The total amount subscribed yesterday afternoon was just $35 less than what was asked for.

THE CORNER STONE. Rev. Joseph Philip then presented Miss E. E. Bowman with the tin box which she was to deposit in the corner stone and a pretty trowel with which to place the latter in position. The crowd made a rush towards the southwest corner of the edifice where a derrick had been erected to hoist the stone. The interesting little event was soon over. The box placed in the stone contained a Bible, Methodist Hymn Book, Discipline and Magazine, Christian Guardian, Wesleyan Guardian, Missionary Outlook, Sunday School Banner, Onward, Pleasant Hours, Sunbeam, Happy Days, Berean Leaf, names of pastor, trustees, building committee, architect and contractors, financial statement, invitation, programme of exercises for afternoon and evening, and a copy of the Toronto Mail, Globe and Empire, London Daily and Weekly Advertiser, Wives and Daughters and Free Press.
