"I am not speaking theologically, of course."
"You are not speaking philosophically.
Killing a man is merely shifting his sphere of action. Perhaps you are doing him asertice. Thus, you kill a bad man. His appirit or being instantly sinks into some one of the lower forms of animat life, and his degradation becomes an explation. You are expenditing his final return to goodness, and you have limited the range of his deterioration."

This is pure paganism," said I, indig-rilis is pure paganism, said I, indig-ntly. "You don't mean to tell me that a believe in metempsychosis?"
"As much as I believe in anything."

"Well, his 'Evelyn Hope' is not hard to understand."

He forthwith proceeded to recite it, and seemed to recite it tolerably well. Perhaps his impassioned earnestness and fervour of conviction helped him. How his voice thrilled at the lines:

thrilled at the lines:

"God above
Is great to grant as mighty to make:
And creates the leve to rew might to love;
Leiam you still for my own leve's sake.
Delayed it may be for more lives yet,
Through worlds I shall traverse not a few;
Much is to learn much to forget,
Ere the time be come for taking you,"
"But," I chiested, when he hed down

"But," I objected, when he had done, "according to your theory, your Evelyn Hope might become in her after-phase of being a gazelle or a dove, and you might become a lion or a hawk, in which case your union with her would be anything but affectionate. Eh?"

He stretched out his right hand with an imposing gesture.

tionate. Eh?"
He stretched out his right hand with an imposing gesture.
"And, even if so, is that worse than the Gehenna which human hate has projected into the hereafter? But no! I believe in divine goodness, which makes this and every state of being mutually blessed to the good. In the Maker's house are many mansions. Let us fit ourselves for the noble rooms and the chambers of imagery. But still it is true that if are base here, we shall be base there till we are purged with pain, and have expiated our guilt by degradation. I am not, however, dogmatic on the precise form of retribution and restoration. No one dare be. But let no one think that here we walk on flowery meads. Chasms yawn around us. We are wicked at our peril. All religions paint happiness upon a dark background. Do not be misled by the indifference of nature. Her indifference is but a step from cruelty. The world was not built in a holiday humor. The Maker is in deadly earnest."

He had gradually glided into gnomic utterances, like the old Greek philosophic poets. It was interesting and stimulating, if not convince.

if not convincing.
"Well," said I, after a respectful pause,
"suppose we change the subject."
He nodded thoughtfully, and we reentered the house.
"Are you going to stay a little longor?" he asked in a matter-of-fact way when we were seated in the library.
"Yes; why not?"
"To be sure, why not? Don't suppose I the door (there was a handle inside)—"

My friend groaned.
"What's the matter?"
"Good heavens! my dear fellow, one one would think you were in the witness box. Why all these trivialities? You will be telling me next that there was a step which could be let down."
"Well, there was, and it descended automatically when the door opened. I found an aged lady in the coach lying back in an unconscious state, face livid, lips blue, pulse almost imperceptible—severe syncope, in short. Now I always carry about with me a flask containing water and C2H9G. It is a powerful restorative."

Call for $5,606,000 Mere.

Cuicago, Ill., Oct. 16.—Auditor Ackerman has sent his report of exposition finances to the directors. It covers the expenditures of the fair to Sept. 30, and shows that the total receipts have been $10,634,866 98 and the total expenditures $9.829,777 17, leaving a balance of $805,598 81 in Treasurer S. E. Berger's hands.

According to Mr. Ackerman's report the obligations of the Exposition Company, as represented by contracts now being carried out, are $10,522,659 73. The amount paid on these contracts is $5,900,251 28, leaving a balance yet to be paid of $4,682,408 45. This indebtedness will be met by the proceeds from the sale of souvenir coins and by the issue of $4,000,000 in exposition bonds, the first money from which will be received Nov. 1.
