Guelph, Ont., Nov. 24.-After an illness of only two or three days, John . Hobson died at his residence here last night. He was one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Guelph. Mr. Hobson had been one of the chief promoters of the Provincial Fat Stock Show, and has always been interested in agriculture. He was 65 years of age, and a brother of Joseph Hobson, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk. He leaves a widow and an only child, Mrs. A. F. H. Jones, of this city.

SUFFER NO MORE.-There are thousands who live miserable lives because dyspepsia dulls the faculties and shadows existence with the cloud of depression. One way to dispel the vapors that beset the victims of this disorder is to order them a course of Panmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are among the best vegetable pills known, being easy to take and are most efficacious in their action. A trial of them will prove this.

FATAL ISSUE NOW FEARED

Condition of Emperor Nicholas Is Considered Critical.

His Majesty's Illness Believed To Be Much More Serious Than the Bulletins Indicate.

Berlin, Nov. 25 .- The following special dispatch, dated St. Petersburg, Nov. 25, 3:49 a.m., has been received here: "It is persistently rumored in St. Petersburg that the condition of Emperor Nicholas is critical. Well-informed people here declare that the disease has made far greater progress than the czar's physicians have publicly admitted. A fatal issue is now avely feared."

St. Petersburg, Nov. 25.-Midnight.-The following bulletin was issued this morning from Livadia: "The czar passed a quiet day yesterday. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon his temperature rose to 103.4, the pulse being 88. At 9 o'clock in the evening the temperature was 10.22 and the pulse temperature was 102.2 and the pulse 80. His majesty slept well during the night. This morning his general condition and strength are satisfactory. Temperature 99.5, pulse 75. No com-plications whatever have been observed."

SUCCESSOR TO THE RUSSIAN THRONE.

The succession question is believed to have occupied the ministry, and the imperial council, and it is thought that if the czar's illiness should terminate fataliy, Grand Duke Michael would assume the regency until after the accourtement of the empress.

CONDITION SERIOUS. From three sources of information, directly connected with as many ministers of state, a St. Petersburg correspondent has ascertained that imperial officials are becoming extremely pessimistic regarding the condition of Emperor Nicholas, and asserts that the Livodia bulletins conceal the gravity of the illness, and many believe that the chances of the czar's recovery are di-minishing. One report says that the emperor, in addition to typhoid fever, with pectoral complications, has brain fever, the result of a blow he received from a fanatical policeman during his tour in Japan, and it is even asserted in some quarters that trepanning has become necessary. CABLE NOTES

PARISIANS

WERE PRUDENT

Welcomed Kruger, But Avoided Anti-British Demonstrations.

Paris Nov. 26 .- The city of Paris welcomed Mr. Kruger in a wholehearted manner, according him a sincere reception at the railroad station, showing by the cheering of the crowds along the route that the was cordially welcome. The thoroughfares through which Mr. Kruger passed were not lavishly decorated, but a few flags were flying and the hotel was nicely decorated, while from early morning the street hawkers did not permit the pedestrians to forget that it was Kruger. All sorts of insignias were offered for sale. Small Boer flags badges of the Boer colors and scarfpins of the same character were called out by vendors on the boulevards, and almost everyone wore a Boer emblem, Among those gathered at the railroad station were Count Boni de Castellane and several other well-known Nationalist deputies, and Miss Maud Gonne and a party from the Irish delegation.

KRUGER'S FAITH

Mayor Grebauval and the president of the pro-Boer committee and others presented the aged traveler with addresses of welcome, to which Mr. Kruger replied that he was touched to the bottom of his heart by the welcome he had received. He concluded with saying he had faith in the Boer nation, which, though tempest-tossed, would keep afloat and never sink. Replying to the words of the Paris Boer com-mittee, Mr. Kruger said: "I am deeply touched by the sympathy the popula-tions of all the French towns I have passed through have displayed towards me by such striking demonstrations. We are seeking to maintain our independence, feeling that the independence of the people, in itself, guarantees peace. It is in order to obtain this peace, founded on liberty and justice, that we are struggling on the soil La Riviere's election in Provencher of the two republics, and that I myself have come to Europe. Never will I dream of soliciting the least favor of an unjust character. I have clearly proved this by never ceasing to ask for arbitration and that is what I still demand. In order to accomplish this work I rely on the good offices of the people, and especially on the sympathy of the French people." AT THE ELYSEE PALACE.

Just before 4 o'clock a gala landau from the Elysee Palace was driven to the Hotel Scribe, and Mr. Kruger, his interpreter and M. Crozier proceeded to the Elysee, escorted by a strong detachment of Cuirassiers. The scenes of enthusiasm of the morning were repeated. Mr. Kruger as received at the Elysee with semi-official ceremonies, such as were accorded to the sovereigns who visited the exhibition.

M. Loubet returned Mr. Kruger's visit at 4:30 p.m. The French president was warmly acclaimed during his drive to the Hotel Scribe, and during his stay at the hotel the crowds raised the shouts of "Vive Kruger!" and "Vive Loubet!" After President Loubet's departure Mr. Kruger withdrew to his own room and declined to see further visitors, even the officials of the municipal council (who were desirous of ascertaining the day on which he would accept a reception at leaving in a very discontented frame on the stage of mind. Mr. Kruger dined with members of his family at 6:30. He was very much fatigued, and retired early.

PARIS PRUDENT. Paris, while giving full vent to her pent-up feelings of sympathy with and admiration for the Boers in its reception to Mr. Kruger, comported herself with wisdom and prudence. While a few isolated instances of anti-British shouting were unavoidable, never once throughout the day was there any semblance of an organized demonstra-tion against Great Britain. Mr. Kruger's secretary announces that his chief will remain in France only a short time, going thence to Holland, where he will make an equally brief stay, af ter which he will return to the Medit-erranean for the benefit of his health.

The Temps, semi-official, this evening, laying stress on the dignified demonstration today and the absence of Anglophobism, says: "Mr. Kruger's mission may prove to be practically unfruitful, but his protest will be heard by the civilized world, and his last duty, as chief of his nation, will be fulfilled. The spectacle he will present will not be useless.'

DISMISSED THE ACTION

Close of the Taylor-Davis Will Case.

The Will of the Late Mrs. Burkholder Sustained.

Justice Meredith Finds No Suspicious Circumstances in Mr. Davis' Actions-Plaintiffs Pay All Costs.

The action brought by Mrs. Helen Taylor, of Pickering, and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, of Sanilac, Mich., to set aside the will of their sister, Mrs. Margaret Burkholder, who died in August, 1899, leaving her entire estate to the four children of Ven. Archdeacon Davis, of South London, was dismissed by his lordship, Mr. Justice Meredith. at the non-jury sittings on Saturday afternoon. The plaintiffs, he said, had failed in all branches of the case, and Dean & Shibley, of New York, have they must pay the entire costs. The made a bargain with the corporation count could not discern a single suspicious circumstance in the relations of Mr. Davis to Mrs. Burkholder. His lordship did not consider it strange that Mrs. Burkholder should pass over relatives who had not written to nor visited her since their mother's death in 1870 or 1871. In giving judgment Mr. Justice Meredith said that the legal point of view, parallegal point of vie sented no difficulties. regard to the facts in issue between the parties was not very difficult to find according to the evidence. The law applicable to the case was plain. His lordship was not concerned with the case from what was usually called an ethical or moral point of view further than to say he had no doubt the question whether it was proper for a priest to receive from his parishioner a gift by way of will was right or wrong had entered into the case to some extent and given it what little prominence it had attained. The evidence had to some extent been tinc-tured by the feelings of the witnesses upon that subject. There could be no doubt that sides had been taken, having regard to that particular question, and he could not help saying that to some extent the protracted litigation had been fomented by the feelings of the parties, who had concerned themselves in the case upon that question. Looked at from a legal point of view. only a gift by will from parishioner to priest or priest to parishioner was

> There was nothing in law to prevent any parishioner from giving to a priest a gift of this character any more than there was to prevent a father giving to a son or a son to his father. The daughter died in 1891, and Mrs. Burkholder was left alone in the world. She had relatives, but her relations were such that she might as well have had none. Thirty years ago she and her sisters and brother met at their mother's grave. From that day until the day of her death they never met again, nor had any of them ever communicated with Mrs. Burkholder nor she with them. They stood all those years practically in the position of strangers to each other. In 1892 Mrs. Burkholder sold her real estate and acquired the whole of her husband's estate, aggregating about $5,000. far as the evidence showed she properly managed the whole of this property and cared for herself.
