

CHARGE BOYS WITH DERAILING CARS

Street Railway Officials Have Two Youths Up on Serious Offence.

SMALL FINES IMPOSED

Magistrate, However, Warns "Wreckers" That Law Will Be Enforced to Limit.

An Oxford car, running at a high rate of speed, eastbound, on the Hamilton road, crashed into a heavy board placed diagonally across the rails. It was after nightfall, and the motorman could not see the obstruction in time to check the momentum of his car. The trolley leapt the track, ploughed through the dirt roadway and smashed into a post with terrific force. The car was crowded and passengers were badly shaken up, although, by a miracle, none was hurt.

Last night, at nearly the same point, another car crashed into a plank in the darkness. The trolley tumbled over the plank, shaking up the passengers, but the motorman was able to check the car before it was badly derailed. Similar attempts have been committed from time to time on the Hamilton road. The London Street Railway Company has determined to prosecute all offenders.

Heavy Penalty Possible. In police court today two youths, Gordon McKay and James Loaman, were charged with disorderly conduct for placing the board, which caused last night's derailment, on the track. Charles H. Ivey, counsel for the L. S. R., pointed out the seriousness of the charge, stating that the case might be dealt with under the railway act, when a heavy penalty could be imposed for the offence.

Mr. Ivey stated that from information the railway company had received, it was apparent that a gang of young men residing in the vicinity of the spot where the derails had been committed were evidently responsible for previous derails.

Leniency For Parents' Sake. The court ruled that because both young men were still attending school, and that consequently the fines imposed would have to be met by their parents, that $2 and costs for each day, would be a sufficiently heavy penalty. In dismissing the case, his worship impressed upon the offenders the seriousness of their act, declaring that if they were again guilty of such a crime, the full extent of the law, according to the magistrate.

Card of Thanks. Mrs. Maynard and family wish to thank their many friends for kindness shown them during the recent bereavement.

CHOIR ENTERTAINED

The choir of the First Presbyterian Church was entertained at the home of George Letbridge, organist, 230 Princess avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Letbridge were most genial hosts.

WINNERS AT WHIST DRIVE.—Mrs. W. Nelson and Mrs. Ford each with a score of 27 points, were the winners at the British Social Union whist drive in Hyman Hall last evening. Tunes were the music for a concert and on Thursday next a social.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONCERT.—A largely-attended concert was given under the auspices of the Epworth League in the Memorial Methodist Church last night. Cyril Hayes, reader, the London Male Quartette; Grant Milligan, violinist; and Miss Bernice Anderson, soprano soloist, contributed numbers to the program.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN FOOT. While shooting rabbits yesterday afternoon at the rear of his farm in Arden, a gun in the hands of S. D. Dry exploded. The whole charge entered his heel, inflicting a very serious wound. Dr. H. A. Stevenson dressed the man's injuries. Unless complications arise in he will recover. A portion of the foot had to be amputated.

ST. ANDREW'S SERVICE OF PRAISE.—Monday evening next, November 22, the choir and soloists of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, under the direction of Charles W. Wheeler, will give their usual fall "Service of Praise." Two special artists have been engaged for the occasion. The program to be rendered by this leading choir will be of exceptional interest.

BUILDING PERMITS TAKE JUMP.—Building permits took another jump yesterday, and went up over the fifty thousand-dollar mark. Up to yesterday afternoon fifty permits have been issued for the month with a value of $31,740. Yesterday's permits include a new two-story residence on Thornhill avenue for Mrs. L. A. Bosa to cost $2,800; a new residence on Dufferin avenue for Harry Hayman to cost $2,850; and a residence on Colborne street for Mrs. McLeod to cost $1,400.

ROSS-McLEOD A pretty wedding yesterday took place at the home of Presbyterian Manse, Hyatt avenue, when Miss Etta McLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McLeod of Omsby street was united in marriage to P. H. Ross of the 23rd Battalion, C. E. F. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. D. L. McCraw in the presence of the contracting parties. The young couple have the best wishes of many friends.

CHANGE IN FREIGHT ROUTES.—The C. P. R. freight office has issued a notice to local shippers to the effect that no lake and rail freight for Port McNichol will be accepted after November 30. This method of handling freight for the extreme west has been in vogue during the summer months, but after November 30 it must be handled by rail only. The date for receiving freight for the Georgian Bay ports by way of Owen Sound, lake and rail, will be November 22. After that date goods must be shipped by the all-rail route.

LEADER'S NAME IS STILL A MYSTERY

Appointment of Commander for London Battalion Being Kept Dark.

MANY NAMES MENTIONED

But Authoritative Statement From Headquarters Has Not Been Issued.

The appointment of a commanding officer of the city of London battalion, to be authorized shortly, is not being made public. It seems that there is considerable difficulty in getting the name of the right man. Rumor has connected the name of almost all London's prominent citizens with the post, but there is nothing authoritative as yet.

Among the names mentioned are Capt. Hugh Niven of the Princess Patricia's, Major Gordon Inkram of the 13th, Major John Graham of the 7th Regiment, Major Woodman Leonard of the 12th Battery, Lieut.-Col. Ibbotson Leonard of the 4th Mounted, and many more.

It was stated today that neither of the Leonard's would accept. Major Wood Leonard has done, and is doing brilliant service with the artillery, and is in line for promotion there. Col. Leonard has just gone abroad, and will get into the fighting soon, if not already there. Capt. Niven is a name world famous, and will undoubtedly remain with them.

It seems as if it is rather a big problem to get a suitable head.

1,500 SHRIMERS TO VISIT OASIS HERE

Coming From Many Points to Fall Ceremonial of Mocha Temple.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Dr. Roy Routledge of Lambeth To Be Next Local Potentate.

At the fall ceremonial session of Mocha Temple, to be held on December 1, 1,500 Shrimers from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Sarnia, Buffalo, Toronto, Sarnia, Windsor, St. Thomas, Stratford, Brantford and other cities will make the pilgrimage to the Oasis in London, where many novices will be led over the hot sands and instructed in the mysteries of the order. In the crowd will be two visiting patrols, that of Moleen Temple, Detroit, and that of James Temple, Toronto. Detroit will also bring a brass band. The Mocha Temple patrol, with Col. A. E. Sonner-ville in command, will meet the visitors. If the weather is satisfactory, a street parade will be formed, and some fancy drilling done for the benefit of the unwashed.

To Elect Roy Routledge. The election of officers will take place, and Noble Lt. A. Roy Routledge will be elected potentate to succeed Noble W. W. Gammage. Capt. J. L. Richmond, who is on active service, will be named chief rabban. The other officers will probably fall in line. Delegates to the Imperial Council session, to be held in Buffalo next week, will be selected. Dr. John Clark, a former Londoner, will be the next potentate of Ismailia, Buffalo, the temple that will entertain the Imperial Council, and the London Shrimers will make the occasion memorable. It is expected that the patrol will be sent, and other marks of esteem shown. It is expected that a big delegation from Buffalo will be here, among them being Dr. W. L. Alexander, Dr. John D. O'Connell, G. Murray, Mackenzie Hecher and many others. Detroit will send Potentate Sid Millard, one of the best, and other American cities will be represented.

Will Pay Dues. A large number of members of the temple have offered themselves for election to office, and the temple will pay their dues while on active service. The financial statement is most satisfactory. The receipts of the year are over $18,000, leaving a big balance on hand. The assets of the temple are worth more than $21,000. The membership is 1,048 and it is expected that it will reach 1,100 before the meeting is over.

Mention will be made of the members who died during the year. They include Nobles W. G. Cooper, W. J. Ward, W. H. Ingram, C. B. Hunt and A. F. Goodell. The session will commence at 2 p.m. and will be continuous. Dinner will be served in the temple, and there will be some revelry by night, just to create a stir.

Expecting Big Time. Lieut. Potentate W. W. Gammage and Recorder H. H. Abbott are assured that the gathering will be a success. "We are looking for a big time," said Mr. Gammage.

The various committees in charge of the affair are as follows:

Reception Committee. George Coleman, chairman, past potentate of Mocha Temple, and Hugh Ashton, Charles Abbott, John Irwin, A. Flowers, J. R. Clunis, George H. Bellon, G. F. Mitchell, P. E. ALDERMAN TAKES LEGAL ACTION

Institutes Suit for Alleged Damage to Property on Wellington Street.

Legal action is being taken by Ald. James Donnelly against R. H. Cullis in connection with a building Mr. Cullis is raising on Wellington street. It is twelve feet in height, and Ald. Donnelly claims it is over on his property, and is shutting out the light from his tenant's house adjoining. It was stated that following the refusal of Mr. Cullis to follow out certain suggestions, Ald. Donnelly ordered his workmen to keep off his premises altogether and threatened them with arrest if they trespassed.

Building Inspector Piper has instructed Mr. Cullis that certain changes must be made in connection with the work before it can proceed. It is understood that these will be done at once.

WANT BREAKWATER EXTENDED SOUTH

Present Work is Completed, But West Londoners Desire Further Protection.

The West London breakwater is now complete, with the exception of a cement coping and iron hand-railing. These will be put on at once. Many are of the opinion that the breakwater is to be extended further south next year. There is no money set aside for such a purpose.

It is said that West Londoners plan to take this question up and ask that the breakwater be extended south from the end of the now completed work.

PERSONAL MENTION

PAROLE PROSPECTS LOOKING BRIGHTER

Freedom for Dr. MacGregor Regarded as More Probable Now.

NO CRIMINAL CHANGES

Alterations in London Doctor's Books Not Criminally Made, Says Governor.

Prospects for the parole of Dr. Robert MacGregor, the London doctor now serving a life sentence in Jackson, Mich. State Penitentiary for causing the death of Cyril Sparling, are believed to be brighter as a result of the attitude taken by Governor Ferris of Michigan.

Doubt Still Exists. "When all reasonable doubt is done away with, I will pardon Dr. MacGregor, but doubt still exists," is a statement attributed to Governor Ferris yesterday. During the afternoon he had a conference with Mrs. Carrie B. Sparling, mother of the boys for whose deaths the Londoner has been incarcerated.

A Lansing, Mich. dispatch says: "One important point in the case was settled to the governor's satisfaction at this conference. During the trial of Dr. MacGregor on the charge of having caused the death of Cyril Sparling by poison, testimony was introduced to the effect that the doctor's books had been tampered with, and the jury was allowed to get the impression that these changes had been made with an idea of concealing something. Governor Ferris examined them, the effect of the prosecution, and he said that there was no element of criminality in the changes that apparently have been made.

"Nothing is the worst set of books I ever saw, even for a country doctor," he said. "However, if the jury had seen the books themselves, instead of simply hearing testimony regarding them, the effect of the prosecution to make them an element in the case would have been a failure.

Alleged Confessions Fakes. "But they are the worst set of books of all the alleged confessions that have been made since the case came up, purporting to tell the real inside of the case, and frauds pure and simple," added the governor.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON EXTENSIONS

Will Consider Port Stanley Requests at Special Meeting.

HYDRO SURVEYS START

Work of Mapping Out Proposed Radials Already Under Way.

Application has been made to the city by the London Railway Commission for permission to extend the London and Port Stanley line westward to and to build sidings into the Gas Company's premises and the Norton street power station.

A special meeting of the council will likely be called next week to deal with the application.

Surveys commenced in West London yesterday for the new hydro-radial, which is proposed to run north of London to Parkhill and west through the fruit district to Sarnia. One of the surveys consists in through the property owned by Truant Office, Weir and Dr. Harry Reason, and will run along the south breakwater and the line come over Dundas street bridge.

Another route it is stated will be surveyed so as to come in over the new breakwater.

PAYS FOR 1914 ONLY

Morris Gootson Says City Will Have to Collect 1915 Taxes From Commission.

Morris Gootson, whose property was expropriated by the London Railway Commission, has paid his tax arrears for 1914 but has not yet settled for 1915, as the claim that the London and Port Stanley Railway is liable for a portion of the amount. An effort will be made to get the board and Mr. Gootson to agree as to the proportion each is to pay.

Mr. Gootson's suggestion that the city collect its tax arrears from the sum paid into the railway commission was turned down.

R. C. R. IN TRENCHES

The Royal Canadian Regiment, two platoons of which left London at the commencement of war, is now in London from members of the regiment. The unit had been in the Bermudas from the time it first left Canada until a short time ago. Then it was transferred to England. On the evening of October 20 the unit embarked in England for France, and on the morning of November 1 arrived in France. It is understood the members are now in the trenches getting their long-awaited crack at the enemy.

GENTLE LITTLE GAME

So Gentle It Required Several Stitches to Close Wound It Caused.

A number of youths, who participated in a game in which the "victim" was ducked under a tap in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., were summoned to court today on a charge of assault. The majority were juveniles.

William Taylor, who said he was a cigar-maker, 41 years of age, admitted having hit Sam Rosenbaum under the right eye, during the melee, inflicting a cut which required several stitches to close. His case was adjourned for one week, and in the meantime $5 is paid to the court clerk to cover the doctor's fee and court costs, the charge will be dismissed.

"What the kind of performance that goes on in the Y. M. C. A.?" queried the magistrate, in disposing of the case.

SAYS HE SHOWED GOOD JUDGMENT

London's M. O. H. Defends Chicago Physician Who Let Defective Die.

APPROVES OF PRINCIPLE

Dr. H. W. Hill Declares It Is Being Carried Out Daily in Cancer Cases.

"What do you think of the decision of the doctor and mother in the case of the Bollinger baby in Chicago, which, born defective, was permitted to die without an attempt to save its life by means of an operation?" was asked of Dr. H. W. Hill, London's medical officer of health, today in reference to a report of a case which has attracted much attention.

Without hesitation, his reply came: "I cannot pretend to say what the actual facts of the case were. All I have to go on is the report of the newspapers. But, on the face of the report which I have read, I should say the mother was entirely right and showed unusual strength of mind in getting aside her natural feelings of the time, and considering the real, ultimate good of the child. As far as Dr. H. J. Hilsden was concerned, and again I repeat, I can only base what I am going to say on the report of the newspapers, not knowing all the facts—I think he showed good judgment in refusing to operate.

"The report says that the child was very much deformed and, in the doctor's opinion, would be a hopeless cripple, and would suffer from fits." He believed the babe was doomed to a life of uselessness and unappiness, and acted under these conditions. "There is just one point, however, how can one be ever quite sure of the outcome? Dr. Hilsden simply did what is being done every day by eminent surgeons in life or death cases for adults.

"Take, for example, an advanced case of cancer, where operation would mean increased agony for the patient with very little chance of prolonging the life of suffering. It is not unusual for a surgeon to give his decision against operation. In that case, the adult can be consulted in the matter, and there have been told stories of the greatest men of strong mind and strong religious conviction who, hearing the end of their lives and in great pain, have begged for sufficient morphine to bring the suffering to a more speedy end.

"The difference in the Chicago case was that the patient was not a judge or understanding to speak for itself. Under the circumstances, the nearest relative, the one to whom the babe was dearest, and who had its interests most at heart, was consulted.

Refusal For Self Alone. "As I have already said, surgeons frequently refuse further operations on the ground of hopelessness of any good results. In a case like that, however, the doctor, well convinced in his own mind that he is right, should have consultation for his own protection. In Hilsden probably did this. If he did not, there is one important fact that must be taken into consideration. He was not in the position of a judge refusing to commute a death sentence, where decision meant life or death. He refused to operate as far as he himself was concerned, but that did not prevent another surgeon from making the effort to save the life."
