TRADING IS UNSTEADY

Federal Reserve Bank Rate Increase Causes Uneasiness and Lower Prices.

By STUART F. WEST Special to The Advertiser. New York, Feb. 23.—Wall Street tolay responded to the raising of the Federal Reserve Bank rate with an unsteady opening and generally lower prices during the early trading.
Studebaker started in at 120, but quickly dropped to 11842. Baldwin Locomotive was off a point, and Steel, common, a half point. Shares of the Independent Steel were still weaker, especially Crucible and Bethlehem B.
Railway stocks came down with the rest, and so did most of the specialties in which pools had been active earlier in the week. Most of the oils were well supported, and lost little or no ground. The sugars were also sustained by the news that the price of raw sugar had been put up this time to 95½ a pound. One of the few exceptions to the general tendency was American Wool, which made a new high following the announcement that several of the most important lines of fall goods had been oversold, and in consequence withdrawn from the market. nsteady opening and generally lower

BALDWIN ORE PROSPECTS HAVE BEEN INCREASED

Cobalt. Feb. 23.—A find which appears to considerably enlarge the immediate ore possibilities of the Baldwin, Kirkland Lake section, has been made on the 100-foot level, at a point 50 feet cast of the shaft. A stringer of quartz showing a good deal of free gold was cut, and a few feet further on a very streng fracture was picked up. This fracture appears to be the same thing as is being drifted on with good success a hundred feet away and to the west of the shaft. Developments at the Baldwin are very interesting. Exploratory work is being carried on very efficiently.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Wheat lacked support today during the early dealings and underwent a sharp drop in values. With eastern selling in evidence again. May delivery fell to $1.17½, and for the first time in a long while buying at $1.19 failed to develop. Setbacks in quotations at Liverpool and Winnipeghad a depressing effect here and so, too, in some degree did Washington reports of delay to proposed farm credits legislation. The opening, which started varied from ½c to 1½c lower, was followed by material further losses.

Corn and oats sympathized with the weekers of weekers.
