MASSEY-MACLEAN LABEL CASE

JUDGE MACMAHON OPENS THE SPRING ASSIZES.

The World Prosecuted for Criminal Libel
The spring assizes of the Criminal Justice Court were opened yesterday before Mr. Justice MacMahon. Mr. MacMahon presided over the trial of the World for criminal libel.

The following were sworn on the Grand Jury: James Robinson (foreman), J. MacMahon, W. A. Giddens, Richard E. H. W. Henderson, John L. Howard, R. J. Hunter, William Johnson, Philip Jacob, Benjamin Kent, John Keith, Richard Knowlton, Robinson Long, Robert Marsh, Robert Norman, J. S. Peckham, B. F. Ressor and James A. Young.

His Lordship commented on the various cases, dealing finally with the criminal libel charges against the Empire newspaper. He then proceeded to deal with the case of the proprietor of the Mail, had made a charge to the charge of this nature, was a newspaper, for instance, addresses anonymous, independent of the measure which it considers for the benefit of the country, it has a perfect right to do so. But if it does it may do so boldly and fearlessly and not in a timid and hesitating manner.

THE WORLD LIBEL CASE.
W. F. Maclean charged with criminally libelling Mr. A. Massey—Publication of the World in which the publisher of the World is charged with libelling the head of the Massey Manufacturing Company, as far back as December, 1910. Much interest was taken in the proceedings, as the alleged libel arose out of the heated debate of Federal and anti-Federal reformers in the House of Commons.

Mr. Massey's offer to withdraw from the prosecution.
Before the case was instructed by Mr. H. A. Massey to state that he would be content with a retraction by the defendant. The prosecution was not to be dropped, or he was willing to leave the matter in his Lordship's hands.

Mr. King: "We maintain there is nothing to retract; and are fully prepared to answer the charge."
His Lordship: "What is it, Mr. Massey, you wish the defendant to retract?"
Mr. Massey: "I wish the defendant to retract the article in the World of the 12th of March, 1910, in which you published a story that I was a 'fakir'."

Mr. King: "Did Mr. Massey subscribe to the World?"
His Lordship: "No, he did not. He was not a subscriber to the World."

Mr. King: "Did Mr. Massey subscribe to the World?"
His Lordship: "No, he did not. He was not a subscriber to the World."

SWINDLED LIKE BENWELL.

FOUR YOUNG ENGLISHMEN WHO WERE CAUGHT BY DECEITS.

Lured to America by Rosy Pictures of Prospective Wealth and Then Made Intolerable on Ontario Farms—A Glimpse of the Abominable Farm-Paper Fraud.

DELAMAR, PLACER COUNTY, CAL., March 17.—The murder of Frederick Cornwallis Benwell and the extraordinary circumstances surrounding it have excited the greatest interest among the young Englishmen who have recently been coming to California in large numbers, many of whom have been lured to the "farm-pupils" swindle.

One of these is Arthur C. E. Johns, a nephew of Lord Lugard and now owner of an extensive fruit orchard at Delamar, whose experience is almost a parallel to that of Benwell and Foley. In conversation with a correspondent of this paper, he has been asked to describe the swindle.

Mr. Johns: "Did not Mr. Massey leave Cleveland in the good of his mind?"
His Lordship: "No, he did not. He was not a subscriber to the World."

Mr. King: "Did Mr. Massey subscribe to the World?"
His Lordship: "No, he did not. He was not a subscriber to the World."
