HINTS FOR PANCAKE MAKING.

A good way to prepare the pan for pancakes, fritters and such things, is to put the batter in a clean cloth, and rub the little bundle all over the pan. The heat, melting the butter, will let just enough through the cloth, to butter evenly and prevent waste. For the pancakes themselves, there is an increasing use of Blended Flour, which, good cooks agree, is without an equal for making light, tasty pancakes. It can be had from any good mill-and is a scientific blend of Ontario fall wheat and Manitoba spring wheat. Freed, as it is from waste matter, this Blended Flour is richer in flavor and food value than either of the wheats could give alone. It contains just the proportion of those elements in flour which prevent the food becoming soggy and indi-

The blending of flour is an old trick, taught good housekeepers by their mothers and grandmothers. It is convenient to have this byno-means-easy task shifted from our burdened shoulders onto the broader, sturdier ones of the dustless millers of today. And they should certainly do the blending more accurately, with all the modern machinery, than could be accomplished by the most pains-taking work at home.

Careful housekeepers are using Blended Flour for beead and pastry, too.
