DEATH OF THE BISHOP OF ELY .- The Right Rev. Dr. Illen, died at two o'clock on Thursday evening at the Palace of Ely. For some time past his Lordship's health has been declining; but within the last three or four weeks the decay of his strength, and the diminution connexions were therefore fully prepared for the melan-choly event which we now record. He had been somewhat better in the middle of last week. On Friday there was a change for the worse. In addition to the cough, rallied. There was an improvement in the symptoms on Sunday, and both nights he passed rather easily. On Monday he became worse, and the bad symptoms about 1818 of New Rangound other symptoms came on; but he was particularly affected by the cough, and there was evidently a good deal of ferbile excitement. On Saturday his Lordship slightly morning at the hour above mentioned. His death was tranquil in the extreme and he was perfectly sensible to the last. Dr. Fisher, the Downing Professor of Medicine in the University of Cambridge, was in attendance at the Palace, with his Lordship's ordinary surgeon, Affairs, praying his lor

when the melancholy event took place.

Dr. Allen was formerly Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge; he graduated B.A. in 1792, when he was seventh Wrangler. Soon after his election to a Fellowship he was appointed tutor to Lord Althorp; and upon completion of the noble lord's education, the Earl Spencer presented his tutor to the Vicarage of Bat-tersea, Surrey. About the same period he received a Prebendal Stall in Westminster Abbey, and soon afterwards the living of St. Bride, London. In 1834 he succeeded Bishop Gray in the See of Bristol, and was translated to Ely in 1836, upon the death of Bishop Sparke.

The Cambridge Chronicle says:—"He closed his life

tranquilly, without a struggle, in peace with God and man. His Lordship commenced his course in this University as an Undergraduate of Trinity College and attained distinction for his acquirements both in Classical and Mathematical learning. He was early elected a Fel-low of his College; to which through life he continued to feel a warm attachment. After holding some subordinate preferments and dignities in the Church, he was in the year 1834 elevated to the Bishopric of Bristol, and thence translated in 1836 to this Diocese, to the care of which he devoted himself with unremitted zeal and vigilance, manifesting on all occasions his firm attachment to the great principles of the Church of England, as settled at the Reformation. His intercourse with his Clergy was marked by that frankness and candour which were distinguished features in his character. He was a zealous and munificent supporter of any well-devised measure for improving the religious and social condition of the community, particularly for extending to the hum-bler classes the benefits of a sound education on Church principles. Recently, when two Fellowships, one at St. John's, the other at Jesus College became vacant, his Lordship showed his desire of rewarding acedemical merit by throwing them open as prizes for general com-petition; and in the disposal of his Church patronage he by his family; and the benevolence, integrity, and manly independence of his character will justly endear his memory to all who knew him.'

BISHOPRIC OF ELY.-We have the satisfaction of announcing that her Majesty has approved of the appointment of the Rev. Dr. Turton, Dean of Westminster, and formerly Regius Professor of Divinity in this University, to the vacant See of Ely. The selection of Dr. Turton for this high office will be hailed with peculiar pleasure in this Diocese. He is a man of eminent ability, of sound dgment, and of most amiable disposition; and the minster has done himself honor in recommending his elevation to the Episcopal Bench, - Cambridge Chronicle.

DEATH OF SIR HERBERT OAKELEY .- We have to announce the death of Sir Herbert Oakeley, Bart., Archdeacon of Colchester, Dean of Rocking, and Prebendary of St. Paul's, which took place at Patteson's Hotel, in Lower Brook-street, on Thursday morning, the 27th.— Sir Herbert Oakeley had been long suffering from illness, but his death was comparatively sudden, as he had retired to rest on the previous evening not perceptibly worse than usual. Sir Herbert was born in 1791, and in 1826 married Atholl Murray, daughter of Lord Charles Aynsley, and niece of the late Duke of Atholl. He survived this amiable lady only fourteen months. He is succeeded in the baronetcy by his eldest son, Charles William Atholl, who was born in 1828. THE SEES OF ST. ASAPH AND BANGOR.—The Clergy

A petition from the laity on the same subject is also contemplated, and if carried into effect will receive the signatures of thousands of the members of the Established Church, both in the large towns and rural parishes. There is nothing that the people regard with more anxiety and sorrow than any measure for the dismemberment of the institutions of the Established and succeeding generations. Church, and a general desire prevails that the Welsh Church may have continued to her that episcopal super-intendance which is her ancient right, and which is in these days so essential to her efficiency and success as an instrument of spiritual good to the population of the principality. The question will shortly be brought under the notice of the Legislature by Earl Powis, and if the noble lord is only properly seconded by petitions from the members of the Established Church, there is little doubt but his Christian labours will be attended with success, and the Welsh Church have preserved to her the ancient and much required number of Prelates to watch over her interests, and to rule her to the advantage of pure religion and the spread of Christian virtue.

THE PRINCE OF WALES AND THE WELSH BISHOPRICS. -We are enabled to state that legal and constitutional questions, involving the rights of an illustrious Prince, three charity schools were also present.—Sherborne Mernow in his minority, and also involving the constitution of the House of Lords itself, have since been raised upon the question of destroying a Welsh Bishopric, which renders it somewhat improbable that the bill will be again stopped in its course by any technical point raised on behalf of the Crown.—Church and State Gazette.

BISHOPRICS OF ST. ASAPH AND BANGOR.—At the Denbighshire General Quarter Sessions, held at Denbigh, on the 18th and 19th inst., the Grand Jury agreed unanimously to petition both Houses of Parliament against the union of the Sees of St. Asaph and Bangor. An address to the Queen was likewise unanimously adopted, praying her Majesty to give her sanction to the introduction of a bill into Parliament for the repeal of so much of the 6th and 7th Wm. IV, as provides for the union of the above-named Bishoprics. The Grand Jury also the above-named Bishoprics. The Grand Jury also unanimously resolved to memorialise the Archbishop of Canterbury upon the same subject, praying his Grace to use his very great influence with those in power to pre-serve to the Welsh their ancient and long-cherished Episcopates. When it is remembered that the Grand Juries are selected from the middle class, and that a very arge proportion of this class dissent from the doctrines of the Established Church, this may be taken not only as a very fair expression of the opinions of this order respecting so momentous a question to the principality, but also as the strongest proof of the interest taken alike by all Welshmen, dissenters as well as Churchmen, in a subject involving so completely as it does the best interests of the Church in North Wales.

THE BISHOP OF CALCUTTA .- It is with heart-felt regret we learn that our good Bishop is still very far from being well in health. He was attacked with a cold accompanied by cough and fever last Sunday night, and we are truly sorry to say, that though his medical advisers recommended his proceeding to Agra for change of air, yet it was feared that a long time would clapse before he recovered his accustomed health. It is much to be desired that as little business as possible should be pressed upon his Lordship's attention in his present very delicate condition, and those who are his real friends will avoid doing so. Unless some very unexpected improve-ment should take place, the Bishop does not expect to be able to preach until he reaches Calcutta. - Bengal Hur-

The propagation of the Reformed Protestant religion has been much checked in Jerusalem-indeed, almost entirely proscribed-and the building of a church completely stopped by the local government there; whilst various minor sects of professing Christians have been permitted to worship God in their respective temples. The memorialists pray Lord Aberdeen to give such instructions to the representative of the British Crown in Turkey, Sir Stratford Canning, "as shall enable him to prefer the necessary representative of the case to the Turkish Gogarnset and the strategies of the case to the Turkish Gogarnset and the strategies of the case to the Turkish Gogarnset and the strategies of the case to the Turkish Gogarnset and the strategies of the case to the strategies of the strategies of the strategies of the case to the strategies of the strategie sentation of the case to the Turkish government, and obtain from the Sultan a firman, authorising the completion of the buildings, upon which so much money has been already expended, and which have excited such general and intense interest. A strong proof of this interest is afforded by the fact, that an English lady has undertaken £100 per annum for a permanent Minister, as well as to contribute the sum necessary to form a fund for keeping the church in repair."

ETON COLLEGE.—The annual examinations for the Newcastle Scholarship (of the value of £50 per annum, to be held for three years, founded by the Duke of Newcastle, in 1829) which commenced on Monday last, were concluded on Friday. The scholarship was adjudged to concluded on Friday. The scholarship was adjudged to Day, K. S., the son of the Rev. H. T. Day, Vicar of Mendlesham, Suffolk, and the gold medal to Back, as the boy who stood second in the examination for the scholarship. The number of candidates was thirty-six.

Dr. Scoresby .- We mentioned last week, that on Friday evening an address was presented to the Rev. Dr. Scoresby, the Vicar of Bradford, from the inhabitants of that parish, requesting him to reconsider his determina-tion of resigning the living. RETURN OF A STRAY SHEEP FROM POPERY TO THE FOLD OF CHRIST.—We are most happy to state that Miss Marriott (daughter of the Rev. Harvey Marriott, of Bath) who had unhappily been seduced to apostatize from the Church of Christ to the popish sect in England, has re-turned from that bye-path of heresy and schism to the fold of God. This cannot be otherwise than gratifying to every Catholic, as well as to her Reverend father.

THE SUCCESSFUL WAY OF OPPOSING THE POPISH Sect.—A Rev. correspondent writes to us as follows:—
"In the preface to Dr. Hook's sermon, copied in your paper of December 17, is the following passage- But while Anglicans are as strongly opposed to the Church of Rome as ever, they are as fully persuaded now, as they always have been, that the cause of Rome can only be intercession for us, shall then also interpose, and against all successfully opposed by displaying the excellence and restoring the discipline of the Church of England.' This s an important truth, which has been exemplified by facts; instance, some years ago we had controversial sermons in Limerick, when one of the pope's priests, a very clever man, said—'Oh, I do not care for all their sermons, but I fear their Church!' I wish this saying were sounded into the ears of all our brethren in England, and that it of the Archdeaconry of Durham have resolved to petition both Houses of Parliament to repeal such portions of the Act, 6th and 7th William IV., which proposes to unite in one the ancient Bishopries of St. Asaph and Bangor on either of these Sees becoming vacant. Yet this proveth not that he is present among us in his body. For his Godhead hath one property, his manhead another. His manhead was create; his Godhead uncreate. His manhead is in some one place of heaven; his Godhead is in such sort everywhere that t filleth both heaven and earth. But to make this point plainer, by a similitude, or comparing of like to like. There is nothing that doth trulier, like a shadow, express Christ, than the sun; for it is a fit image of the light and brightness of Christ. The sun doth alway keep the heaven; yet do we say that it is present also in the world; for without light there is nothing present, that is to say, nothing to be seen of any man; for the sun with his light fulfilleth all things. So Christ is lifted up above all heavens, that he may be present with all, and fully furnish all things, as St. Paul doth say .-King Edward the Sixth's Catechism, A.D. 1553.

THE WITNESS OF THE SPIRIT.

How unspeakably joyful and consolatory is the assurance hereby given of the interest which God takes in us! If the ordinary graces of our Christian profession are the work of his blessed Spirit, they prove that we have already his Almighty protection both conferred on us in this world, and pledged to us in the world to come. For, if he has already been thus gracious to us, in working in us, and with us, and for us, in even marking us out for his own; how can we doubt the continuance of his goodness? or how can we set bounds to the exercise of that goodness towards those whom he has already called to the Which he is prepared to put up to order in the most fashionable endearing relation of his children.
