

MEDICAL FACULTY.

"George" has lost his recently-appointed assistant, but the place has been filled by the return of "Jack," the former holder of the office.

Wednesday was breaking day in the Chemical Laboratory. The sound of smashing glass was heard through all the afternoon and the debtor side of deposit accounts grew accordingly.

After the election results had been declared several of the candidates for office entertained numbers of their friends at their homes or at their rooms. Some very pleasant evenings were so passed.

The towers on the new building are being completed this week by the erection of the cupolas. The condition of the work on the inside of the building might be expressed in popular language as "about the same."

We omitted a remark upon the elections of last week that we owe to the officers of the Medical Society. The voting was by secret ballot and the arrangements were almost perfect for the securing of that boon to the members who are indebted to Mr. Wilson for their carrying out.
