Mr. Seargeant, general manager of the Grand Trunk railway, is of the opinion that the Pullman strike is so extensive and so many interests are involved that an early settlement seems reasonable to expect. He said that he did not think the Pullman strike would effect the Canadian portion of the Grand Trunk system, and it might be borne in mind by the strikers that the Pullmans used by his company were manufactured in the company's own shops and were in no sense the property of the Pullmans.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, July 4.—The Speaker took the chair at 10 o'clock.

Sir Charles H. Tupper, in answer to Mr. Gillies, said the Government had entered into a convention with the United States, which, though not dealing specifically with the subject of purse seine fishing, contemplated a joint investigation, which was now proceeding, and which would deal with those subjects.

Mr. Tisdale, on motion to go into supply, read correspondence between the Lake Erie fishermen and the Department of Fisheries, and quoted statistics at length to show that the regulations of the department respecting fishing in Lake Erie were unduly severe and stringent.

He contended that there was no reason for issuing regulations for the reduction of the number of nets. About August last year seven American trawlers, with about 30 miles of nets, had been fishing within the Canadian limit. There was no sufficient reason for prohibiting whitefish and salmon fishing in November. Not only were many fishermen thrown out of employment, but communities suffered in consequence.

The total number of men employed on the Canadian side of the lake in 1889 was 465, and on the American side 2,181. In the same year the value of the appliances on the Canadian side was $116,000 and on the American side $851,000. The quantity of fish caught on the Canadian side in 1893 was 9,000,000 pounds, and on the American side 63,000,000 pounds.

Sir Charles H. Tupper said that absolute ruin was staring the United States fishermen of Lake Erie in the face, while the Canadian fishermen were making money. This was due to the fact that the Canadian fisheries were protected, and showed that the restrictions were highly necessary. He was prepared, however, to give due consideration to the representations made by Mr. Tisdale.

Mr. Bergeron called attention to the delay in the payment of the wages of the employees of the canals. On the 3rd of July the paymaster was paying for the month of May. Something should be done to prevent a recurrence of this.

Mr. Gibson argued that there should be an established pay day.

Mr. Haggarty said he found that the pay rolls were received on the 5th of the month. Before the 7th they were sent to the Auditor-General's department. There was no delay except what was caused by the system of auditing.

Mr. Mulock said he proposed to trace the history of the schedule of Canadian cattle by Great Britain, and point out where the responsibility for it rested. He charged the Government with negligence in not taking measures to confine the Imperial Government, that proper precautions were taken to inspect American cattle in transit through Canada, and thus remove the scheduling of Canadian cattle.

Mr. Mulock, continuing, read correspondence to show that the Government had authorized an inspection of the border. Everybody must know that such an inspection was a perfect farce. He moved in amendment that the Government was deserving of censure for negligence in not taking measures to confine the Imperial Government, that proper precautions were taken to inspect American cattle in transit through Canada, and thus remove the scheduling of Canadian cattle.

Mr. Tupper said the hon. gentleman had not shown that the Imperial authorities were dissatisfied with the transit regulations adopted by Canada. Respecting the inspection of cattle at the border, it was impossible to tell whether an animal was affected from an ordinary inspection.

Mr. O'Brien said the question was not whether pleuro-pneumonia existed in Canada, but whether the Imperial Government had violated the agreement with the Imperial Government.

Sir Charles H. Tupper said the discussion would do nothing to alleviate the condition of the cattle trade, and was most unfortunate. The whole question had been discussed by the British Board of Agriculture, and the action of the Canadian Government, instead of being regarded as quite satisfactory.

Messrs. Sproule, McMillan (Huron), and Fairbairn also spoke.

The amendment was defeated by a vote 39 to 59. Mr. McMillan (Huron) moved in amendment that the House should vote in support of the Opposition.

The House went into supply and reported progress.

The House adjourned at 2:10 a.m.

HAVE GIVEN SATISFACTION.

The obsequies which have been under the direction of Grace Brown, funeral directors, whose efficient discharge of the delicate duties, as well as their promptness in the management, have given universal satisfaction. This is shown by their large increase in business.

IN CHOOSING A HUSBAND.

What Particular Qualities Should a Girl Look For?

Under the heading "What Constitutes a Good Husband" the Ladies' Home Journal prints a number of letters from famous women writers who seek to answer the question. Extracts from some of the letters follow:

FIVE RULES FOR GIRLS.

Amelia E. Barr writes:

First—Choose a man of genuine piety, not so much a "pious man" as one who has a natural religiosity: who loves truth and mercy and justice.

Second—Choose an unselfish man. A girl had far better remain unmarried than to herself to a creature who considers himself to be everybody, for when a man is everybody his wife is necessarily nobody.

Third—Choose an industrious man—one that has a native 12 life, or he will make himself and everyone around him miserable.

Fourth—Do not choose a poor, struggling man. A man in this age has no right to talk of love in a cottage, and roses and honeysuckle to pay the rent. No man who really loves a woman will ask her to share with him the ugly wretchedness and materialism of poverty.

Fifth—Choose a patient and affectionate man.

CHOOSE A MANLY MAN.

Mary Hallack Foote writes: When I asked our wise doctor at home what sort of a physician I should choose in the event of my being laid up, he said, "Choose a man who is a good fellow, who is so much better represented than others in the West, he answered briefly, as if in answer to a question, 'First, get a man.'"

So I think we mothers might say to the girls, "Choose a man who is a good fellow, who is so much better represented than others in the West, he answered briefly, as if in answer to a question, 'First, get a man.'"
