STRICKEN ON PARADE

T. T. C. SECRETARY DIES

Thomas Vodden, Veteran Labor Officer, Met With Sudden Death
While Marching in Parade.

Thomas Vodden, 45 years, 137 First-avenue, financial secretary of Toronto Typographical Union No. 91, collapsed opposite 26 West Queen-street yesterday morning while walking in the Labor Day parade and died on the way to St. Michael's in the police ambulance. The body was removed to the morgue. No inquest will be held.

When Mr. Vodden dropped out of the parade the man beside him did not notice him leave. He staggered to the curb and was assisted to a nearby drug store. It was soon seen that Mr. Vodden was in a serious condition and the ambulance was called.

Paralysis is believed to have been the cause of death, as Mr. Vodden had previously suffered from strokes.
After the last one, a year ago, the union sent him on three months' furlough, and upon his return he seemed vastly improved and appeared to be gaining strength daily.

Was Widely Popular.

Mr. Vodden was one of the most prominent union men on the continent and known from coast to coast.
His services to the local union were invaluable and won him friends and good wishes from all the members of,
not only his own union, but also the men of others. He had held the position of financial secretary for sixteen or seventeen years. Year after year he was reappointed as a matter of form more than anything else. Not once was there another name mentioned for the office.

Twenty years ago since Mr.
Vodden learned his trade. For a long time he was employed by The Saturday Night, but on being appointed permanent secretary of local 21, was obliged to resign his former position, and since then had been deeply attached to his union and was known amongst to the men as the "patron" friend.

He leaves a widow and several children. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, which will be in charge of the union.

FARMERS AGAINST PACT.

Mr. Bruce Barnhardt, a farmer of Auramouth Township, Dufferin County, was a delegate to the exhibition yesterday. Mr. Barnhardt leaves to-day for Barrie, where he is going to take part in the "patron" friend.

ALL ROADS LED TO EXHIBITION 151,000 PEOPLE ON GROUNDS

How Toronto Spent Labor Day

A holiday in Toronto is certainly not a day of rest of the reposeful sort; it is a day of recreation. The workers believe in the old maxim that a "change is as good as a rest," and they act accordingly.

Yesterday's crowds were in evidence early in the day, and the Labor Day parade was a signal, as it were, to call forth the happy multitude. But the parade was only a beginning, and after viewing the procession the crowd broke up and made up the vanguards in the migrations to the city's numerous pleasure resorts.

The exhibition was, of course, the chief attraction, and ideal weather prevailed. Large crowds arrived early in the day, and about noon the attendance was augmented by the arrival of the parade. A monster crowd thronged the grounds and buildings, and it is estimated that 151,000 passed the gates.

The Union Station, however, was the best example of actual congestion. Vast throngs of visitors poured in all day, and at times the waiting-room approximated the crush of a closed street car in a six-o'clock rush. The traffic was mainly arrivals, comparatively few people leaving the city for outside points. When seen by The World Station Superintendent Beck stated that over 125,000 people would pass thru the depot yesterday, and this figure, he believed, would constitute a record.

Labor Day also saw large crowds landed at the wharves, and nearly all the incoming boats were crowded to their full capacity. Many of the visitors from Niagara, Hamilton and elsewhere came merely to spend the day, and intended to return on the last boat. This, however, was found to be quite impossible, as it was feared that the incoming boats would be unable to accommodate the crowd. Rumor to this effect spread quickly, with the result that many visitors returned by an earlier boat, altho the navigation companies stated that there was no grounds for the report. Many sight-seeing coaches, and the boats and oblique gondolas, were also in evidence, and it seemed to do up the city in its public holiday and the stores are all closed."

The Toronto Ferry Co. did a tremendous business, and it was estimated that nearly 50,000 people journeyed to the island. The lacrosse game attracted over 12,000.

About 25,000 people spent the day at Scarborough Beach.

The theatres, too, played to capacity houses; in fact, every amusement resort had its crowd.

The rush to spend the holiday was naturally very gratifying to the street railway, who carried tremendous throngs all day. It is estimated that nearly 300,000 passengers were carried, and the street cars and shareholders are already talking of another melon-cutting.

Yesterday was labor's festive time at the Canadian National Exhibition, and in days of days for the management of the great fair. Never before have the grounds held such a seething, hurrying mass of humanity. The official figures for the day's attendance were 151,000, which boasts the total attendance to date to something like 540,000.

And that is very remarkable, there was not one serious accident to a single member of all that great hurrying throng.

The crowd was an ever-changing one. It packed the cars with thousands before 9 o'clock in the morning, and had the grounds as thronged by 11 o'clock as it would at night of an ordinary day. By noon every building was packed and lawn crowded, and when the great labor procession arrived it was swelled to a vast army of thousands who had preceded it and was to that mighty throng even as is a drop to a pall of water. Then, in the mid-afternoon people began to stream out, and the fair was a howl-bat-
