In every scene of patriotic manifestation the Italian has always been in the first line. In the present Victory Loan campaign you will seek on in vain for the Italian laborer who has not bought at least one Victory bond. Therefore, sir, the failure to hoist the Italian tricolor, with the other allied flags is a most discourteous act to Italy, and most unfriendly and unjust to the Italian colony of Toronto.

And we have that the Italian, will repair the offense, and order that the Italian flag be given its well-merited place among the allied flags.
