INSANE MAN

Malcolm McAlpine Went Gunning for Peter McAlpine at Glencoe.

Laid in Wait for His Man All Night-Plucky Capture by Detective Ward.

Malcolm McAlpine, of the town of Dunwich, Elgin county, is in the county jail this morning, charged with having threatened to shoot Peter McAlpine, a hotelkeeper, of Glencoe. On Friday night at 6:30 the prisoner went to the McAlpine hotel with an Enfield military rifle, and, carefully loading the gun, informed the proprietor, Peter McAlpine, that he was about to blow off the top of his head. He pointed the gun in McAlpine's direction but the latter made his escape through a side door. About eight o'clock, Mr. McAlpine started to go down the street, think-ing the man with the gun had gone away; but he had not gone far when he saw the barrel of a gun pointed at him through the window of a butcher shop. The proprietor of the butcher shop saw the action, and grabbed the gun, while Peter made his escape. Peter McAlpine laid an information before Justice of the Jeace Geo. Wilson, and the village constable. Neil Black, of Glencoe, was notified. When he went to make the arrest, Malcolm threatened to shoot, and held him off at the point of the gun. Many schemes were tried to capture him, but without avail. Saturday morning Detective Ward, of this city, received a message to come to Glencoe at once, which he did, leaving on the 7 o'clock train over the C. P. R. On arriving, Ward found that his man had been sitting opposite the hotel with his gun all night, waiting for

The two detectives got as close as possible to their man, when Ward made a spring, and had the prisoner by the neck. Black also grabbed the prisoner about the body. A fierce struggle followed, during which the prisoner threw a box containing some 25 loaded shells into the fire. The explosion that followed was deafening and the burning wood flew in all directions, completely covering the two detectives, but they pluckily held on to their man. Ward and Black were only three feet from the fire when the explosion occurred, and are congratulating themselves that none of the leaden missiles came their way. After the prisoner was over-powered he was taken to the Glencoe lock-up. The prisoner was tried before Squires W. J. Simpson and W. J. French, and a number of witnesses gave evidence to show that he was insane and dangerous to be at large. He was remanded until Tuesday, the 4th, at Glen-

Detachment of Canadian Troops From Kingston and Belleville.

Rochester, N. Y., July 2.-An event a company of foreign troops landed on American soil, fully armed, and with the national anthem of a foreign country sounding through the streets of an American city to the blare of brass. The Fourteenth Battalion, Prince of Wales' Own Rifles, from Kingston, Ont., were met on their arrival at Charlotte, via steamer Toronto, shortly after 9:30 this evening, and escorted to this city.

At the central station the Eightieth Separate Company, National Guard, met the visitors and escorted them to their headquarters at the Whitcomb Hotel, while thousands of people who witnessed their arrival gave every manifestation of enthusiasm.

COLLISIONS THE WAR NEWS COSTS MONEY

Cable Companies Get a Fat Thing Off Uncle Sam.

Sending Messages 13,000 Miles at $2 25 Per Word.

Sometimes Pushing the Bills as High as $18,000.

Washington, July 2. - Each one of those optimistic little dispatches from Gen. Otis costs the government about The cable tolls are $2 25 a word, and these encouragers average about 100 words in length. Sometimes they are a little longer. From May 15 to 23 an actual count of words gave a total of 821. As it happened there were no casualty lists in the dispatches counted, and of course there were censored portions which had to be omitted from the count. Supposing the censored parts to amount to no more than 500 words in a week, and adding a similar number for casualty lists (which require a larger number of words, and have to be sent in full), the total number of words received from Otis in the week would be in the neighborhood of 2,000. It is admitted by the war department that as much goes to Otis in the way of inquiries, instructions, etc., as comes from him. This would bring up the correspondence to 4,000 words a week. Now, this does not include the service messages sent and received by Rochester, N. Y., July 2.—An event the commissary and quartermasterinhistory was marked tonight, when a company of foreign troops landed on who has charge of the signal service, says those will equal the correspondence above alluded to; which makes the total 8,000 words a week at $2 25 a word. The weekly telegraph bill is $18,000. In a month it reaches $72,000, and for the period since the beginning of hostilities $228,000.

LONG TRIP OF CABLEGRAMS. This is a rough estimate of what the little Aguinaldo affair is costing Uncle Sam in the way of telegraph tolls. It is probably considerably inside the actual figures. The latter can-not be had for several reasons. In the first place the accounts are very much behind, and the auditor for the war de-partment himself does not know how the bills have been running for the last three months. There is at least $150,000 now due the Western Union Company, and a third as much due the Postal. Then the department does not like to go too closely into details in a matter so intimately connected with the conduct of the active campaign.

18 times in transmission from Washington. They are handled by operators of many different nationalities, and speaking many different languages. The relaying points are: Washington to New York; thence to Canso, Nova Scotia; thence to Valencia, Irish coast; thence to Plymouth, England; thence

Lisbon, Portugal; from there to to Bombay thence to Penang: thence to Singapore, Malay Peninsula; thence to Labuan, Borneo; thence to Hong Kong, and from Hong Kong to Man-

The time required to make this circuit, in ordinary cases, is 200 minutes. For a long message the time required for transmission must be added. This is between Yokohama and London, which is practically the same as Manila and Washington. The Eastern Cable Company has a "rush" arrangement, by which a short message paid for at triple rates may be put ahead of all other business. This will get it through in one hour. The distraveled is approximately 13,000 miles. If there were a cable from San Francisco, via Honolulu, the distance would be only about 8,000 miles. Newspapers get a little better rate than the government, matter of this kind being taken at $2 20 a word. The ordinary commercial rate is $2 35. In newspaper dispatches small words not essential to the sense are cut out. Gen. Otis never attempts to abbreviate his communications. They come along with all the "and's" and at $2 25 per. He desires to avoid ambig-uity; and then the government pays the bills.

THE OPERATOR'S BIG JOB. Secret dispatches relative to military movements are, of course, sent in changed. The authorities realize that there is no artificial combination of this character so intricate that human ingenuity cannot decipher it. Therefore they do not trust too much to its supposed secrecy, or rely on its remaining so for a great length of time. These cipher messages are made up of arbitrary arrangements of figures and words and arrangements of letters, and it is no small undertaking to get one sent 13,000 miles with 18 separate relays without errors. And the most trifling error, it must be remembered, is liable to destroy or alter the entire sense. In sending these cable messages over long distances the operator has a hard enough task if he has the sense to guide him; but without it he must rely on absolute mechanical accuracy. The modern method of receiving a cablegram is distinctly mechanical. It is not the sound method, as in ordinary telegraphing, nor is it the oldfashioned method of a wavering beam of light in a darkened room. It is now done by an automatic self-feeding pen which vacillates between two magnets, tracing a wavering line on a moving tape. The line is very irregular, and to an ordinary observer appears more like the trail of a drunken Indian than any record or intelligent thought. But receiver studies the wanderings of the line and finds significance in its course. If it travels some distance along one edge of the tape, that means two or three dots on that side of an imaginary line running through the center of the tape. If it meanders to the other side of the tape it registers a dash. The time it remains determines the number of dots or dashes. The continental code is used instead of the Morse. It differs in having no "space" letters.

The Ohio Senator Is Very Sanguine

That the Old Republican Ticket Will Be Renominated and Re-Elected.

London, July 1.—Senator Hanna completed the first ten days of his stay in England at Windsor, where he witnessed a military review this afternoon and caught his first glimpse of the Queen. He has enjoyed London immensely and his health has been so greatly benefited that he has postponed his visit to Paris for another week. The Ohio senator has had plenty of good company, including Senators Hoar, Lodge, and Spooner, Samuel Clements (Mark Twain), and Senatorelect Chauncey M. Depew, and it is expected Richard Croker will give him an outing on the turf during the coming week.

"I am delighted with outdoor life in England," Mr. Hanna said to a repre-sentative of the Associated Press today, "and with the wise measures born of experience which teaches the leaders in politics and business here to limit their working hours and take every opportunity for rest and recreation. I have felt like an American who has only a week to see the world's fair, and have regretted every minute I have had to devote to rest. The immense crowds everywhere, the splendid gatherings at the polo matches and horse shows and the proceedings in parliament have interested me im-

"I have not talked American politics with English newspaper men, but I am free to say that I believe the old ticket will be renominated by the Republicans next year and that it will be re-elected. I anticipate little opposition to the first part of this proposition, and I have no doubt the Ameri-can people will decide the latter part as they did three years ago.
"My reason for this belief is based on the fact that the United States is now entering in a renewed era of prosperity. Every promise of the Republican party has been kept. Every prediction has been fulfilled. There is not a man in the United States today out of work who wants work. This is the normal condition. Commercial prosperity is based on confidence, and the only thing which can destroy the confidence now prevailing is a change of administration."

"Are there persons who manifest a spirit of dissatisfaction with the course of events in the Philippines?' the senator was asked. He replied: "To my mind the conditions there are largely of our own making, in delaying the annexation bill. So far as the Democratic party is concerned, I believe it was never so much at sea as at present. "The trouble about the anti-trust campaign is that they cannot make trusts a political issue. So far as amassing wealth in a manner to injure the public is concerned, the Republican party is just as opposed to it as the Democrats.

Fargo, N. D., July 2 .- The final curtain was rung down on the North Dakota divorce law yesterday. All cases instituted in the future will require a residence of one year in the state. Prior to the last day of March there was a rush of eastern persons into the state to take advantage of the 90-day law. All those who arrived before that date were able to insti tute their suits today, and their residence is now complete. There have been no arrivals since.

Fully 35,000 drummers have been thrown out of employment and 25,000 more have had their salaries reduced as a result of the trust epidemic, said President Dowe in his address to the Commercial Travelers' Association at the Albany convention.

GREAT AGE OF BIRDS

Aquatic Birds Live to a Ripe Old Age [From the Ibis.] It is only possible at present to collect data from the duration of lives of birds in captivity; evidence otherwise must be very unreliable, and it is purely a matter of theory as to whether the natural possible life is greate. than that under the unnatural condition of captivity. There are records of a nightingale having lived 25 years, a thrush 17, a blackbird that was still alive at 20½, a goldfinch at 23, skylarks of 24 and 20. Ravens, owls and cockatoos are popularly supposed to live to a very great age, and the following records appear to be authentic: Raven, 50; gray parrot, 50 and 40; blue macaw, 64; eagle owls, 53, and one still alive at 68. Some aquatic birds appear to live old fight against free silver, but, how- a ripe old age, for we hear of a heron ever, the lines of battle are drawn. You of 60, goose 80, mute swan 70. It is will see the American people deter- doubtful whether any of the foregoing ages are any true guides as to the longevity of the actual families the birds represent, or, indeed, whether the possible age of one family exceeds that of another, but the records are interesting, and form a step in the ladder of investigation of this most diffi-cult question. The coloring of a bird in perfect health and the texture of its feathers are exactly the same at 50 as at 5, and those signs that are popuwas offered $4,000 for this same crop. | larly put down to age, such as bleached and faded plumage and misshapen claws or beaks, are attributable to unnatural conditions of some kind. The great tenacity of life some birds possess when deprived of food is marvelous, and the following instances are given: Golden eagle, 21 days; an elder duck, 28; and albatross, 35, and a penguin (Apteno dytes), it is stated, can live two months.

NEWS FOR STAMP COLLECTORS. A new postage stamp has just been issued by the government of New Zealand, and it is one which is likely to prove of special interest to philatelists. The government decided some time ago to establish a pigeon messenger service between Auckland and Great Barrier island, which is several miles from the mainland. This service was the more necessary as there was neither a cable nor any other regular connection between the island and Auckland.

The experiment was tried and proved so successful that it was decided to send letters regularly by pigeons, and it is for this purpose that the new stamp has been issued. Letters or dispatches sent in this way will be known as "pigeongrams," and each must be written on a small, thin sheet of paper. The address must be written at the top of this sheet, and the stamp will be affixed to the right hand corner. On the stamp appears the picture of a pigeon on the wing and carrying an envelope in its beak. Above the picture are the words, "Great Barrier Island," while at each side are the

the words, "One Shilling." Letters can be sent by those swift
