SIXTEEN-INNING TIE
SENATORS VS. INDIANS

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 12.—Washington and Cleveland played sixteen innings today to a 2-2 tie, the game being called on account of darkness. Cleveland scored in the fifth and the Indians in the seventh, and each added a run in the tenth. Morton and Shaw, respectively, in the eleventh, after batmen had been sent in to hit for them. Shaw walked the first two men to face him, and was taken out in favor of Johnson, who pitched brilliantly for the remainder of the game, allowing only one hit, and striking out eight men. Score: R.H.E. Cleveland 000 010 000 100 000—2 13 0. Washington 000 000 100 100 000—2 11 0. Morton, Bagby and O'Neill, Billings, Dumont, Shaw, Johnson and Ainsmith.

SYMPTOMS OF HER DISEASE

Backache, Sideache, Nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, All Disappeared After the Woman's Medicine Was Taken.

Kingfisher, Okla.—"For two years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, and had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor told me I would have to have an operation. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking ten bottles I am now well and strong, have no more pain, backache or dizzy spells. Everyone tells me how well I look and I tell them Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did it."—Miss Nina Simpson, 2214 E. P. D. No. 4, Box 22, Kingfisher, Okla.

Every woman who suffers from female troubles, nervousness, backache or the blues should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Mrs. Simpson's story shows. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lowell, Mass.

FOHL STILL 'AS 'OPES

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Les Fohl, manager of the Cleveland Indians, unlike rival managers in the American League who have expressed their feelings on the subject, believes in artillery.

Fohl has an idea that fluke favor for victory is on the side with the biggest guns. So, pointing to Tis Speaker, Wambach, Chapman and others, Fohl announces he is going to have something to say about this pennant fight for a little while more, anyhow. He also places a great deal of dependence in his kid pitchers, and bunting their strength with the probable return to form of Joe Wood and Guy Morton.

Morton has proved he has something left of his old skill, but Wood is still as much of a mystery as he was six months ago. He has started once and was beaten, although he hurried nicely against the Yankees.

"Continuous warm weather will make a big difference in Wood," said Fohl. "If he shows us anything, we will cut a figure in the pennant fight."

Bagby, Gould and Lammie, youngsters all, are holding up the big burden on the Cleveland staff. Coveleske has shown the best form and has won the most games, but the young fellows are carrying the brunt of the defence.

AN OYSTER SHELL
REVOLUTIONIZED BASEBALL

An oyster shell revolutionized baseball. Back in the early 70's a pitcher named Cummings was amusing himself throwing the missiles. He noted the sudden shoots and after experimenting he could, to a certain extent, control the curve. Cummings adapted the knowledge thus gained to a baseball and finally was able, by wrapping two fingers about the ball and snapping his wrist, to force the leather to change its course and drop into what is now called an outcurve.

Scattered along the highway of the forty odd intervening years there have been occasional corners when new and puzzling ways of delivering the hook have been uncovered. There came the straight drop, the inshoot, which was, and is, nothing more than a fast ball with hop in it. Jack Chesbro and his spitter, Matty and his fadeaway, and—finally, Eddie Sumners and his knuckleball.

There have been at odd times the enery ball, the mud ball, the fork ball, the talcum powder ball, and many others, but all were dropped because of baseball legislation or ineffectiveness, depending upon the same old stuff.

Clark Griffith believes pitchers have reached the limit in their effectiveness, but he has succeeded in getting away from the same old stuff, by new curves, or methods of throwing a curve," says Hughes. "Thou- sands of pitchers have been experimenting for years with a view to uncovering something new to better a batsman, but none has succeeded."

"There may, of course, be a freak who will come along with five fingers, or two, and who will set a new twist on the ball. But these are rather re- mote possibilities. 'Miser' Brown was one of such. Brown owed his effectiveness to the fact that he was able to put a different spin on the ball, the result of it going off three fingers, instead of four."

Walter Johnson is the greatest pitcher for recognition with the Tigers, and he has been, but Walter doesn't say it, of course, but he has right now. Pitchers have been experimenting for years without discovering any new curves or any way of making them break quicker and witer."

Griff Couldn't Catch Sumners. When Sumners was a youngster toiling for recognition with the Tigers, Griffith heard of the knuckler and its idiosyncrasies.

"What—this so-called knuckler ball?" Griffith asked in derision. "I'll tell you what I'll do," came back the Georgian. "I'll let you a new curve. You can show me something new, I'll speak up Cobb."
