No Agreement Yet Between Allied Powers As To Their Disposition.

CONGRESS TO DECIDE

If Excess Over Losses, Should Return Amount To Reparation Commission.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—President Wilson informed the Senate today that he had not entered into any agreement or understanding with officials of Great Britain concerning the fate of German liners seized in American ports, nor had he entered into any agreement or understanding with respect to what disposition should be made of them by the United States.

At the same time, he transmitted to the Senate a copy of "proposed" agreement between the allied and associated governments at Paris, under which each is to retain use of all ships captured, seized or detained during the war as a war measure, and to own the same free from any claim of the allied or associated governments.

This agreement further provides that in case the ships so detained by any allied or associated government, there is excess of the claims of such governments for war losses in merchant ships, such government shall not make a claim for a share of other ships ceded under the treaty of peace. Ships so ceded will be distributed among the other governments under the basis of tonnage and class of the ships to stand not replaced by the enemy vessels seized or captured by them during the war.

It also provides that since the ships are to be retained by the United States, Brazil, China, Cuba and Siam would exceed their claims for merchant tonnage lost, the commission shall determine a reasonable value of the excess, and that those countries shall pay such sums to the commission for the credit of Germany in making reparation for war losses of merchant ships.

He felt confident.

The president said that while he felt confident that congress would make the disposal of the funds to which he had agreed he had no authority to bind it to that act, but must depend upon its taking the same view that is taken by the joint signatories of this agreement.

The president's message was in reply to a resolution passed by the Senate on February 4, requesting Mr. Wilson to inform that body "whether any, and if so what, agreement or understanding exists between him and the officials of Great Britain concerning the disposition by the United States of the German ships which the shipping board is proposing to sell, or which were acquired by the United States after the termination of hostilities between such United States and the central European belligerent powers."

The proposed agreement was signed May, 1919, by Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Wilson, but the signature of the president was made conditional on an appended "explanation" that it was subject to the approval of Congress.

In transmitting the document the president said he had intended to send it to the Senate after ratification of peace treaty.

ALLEN'S NEW THEATRE SUPERB IN BEAUTY OF DESIGN, COMFORT, DECORATION, SANITATION, ETC.

Dame Fortune Shows Special Favor To Londoners in Presenting Them With Second Modern Theatre in a Week
—New Place of Amusement Will Be Open To Public
On Monday.

Dame Fortune is smiling exceedingly and unusually brightly on the theatre-goers in this city, for it is on rare occasions that she, in all her vagaries, presents two superbly beautiful and splendidly equipped theatres to a city of this size in the period of one year. On this occasion she has decidedly outdone herself, because on Monday night she will formally present to London Allen's beautiful new playhouse, the second such gift in the period of seven days.

Today for the first time, the boards which hid from view all that had been wrought within were thrown away, and the public glimpsed for the first time the magnificent interior. True, only the rosy lobby was to be seen today, for few passed the portals that led to the auditorium, but the delicate beauty of the vestibule and the lobby gave promise of wonderful blending.

There are so many new and unusual features in this theatre that it is hard to pick out the one thing that is new. Of course, the thing that strikes a deep chord in the mind of the theatre-goer, on entering, he is crammed every inch with a rich tapestry of the architecture and decoration of the interior.
