Not Ethical:

Even with the low Pre-War Prices prevailing we are not so egotistical as to believe that every person reading the Cut-Prices as advertised will flock to the store in droves, so to speak; there may be a great many who do not even know where Thomas' Store is.

However, we are not adopting the method of placarding the front of the store with biatant vari-colored signs. The store remains the same in appearance as always, with attractive windows bedecked with plain price tickets.

Three classes are in training on the G. T. R. at the present time. Examinations in the workers that word will be in the work on that road will be tried in the work on that road will be tried in the near future. So important is the work deemed by the officials of the road that special cars are equipped and stationed at different points on the division. PLAN TO EMPLOY 1,000

The local G. T. R. car shops will with-a short time employ 1,000 men if the lans of the local officials are carried out. There are now over 800 men em-ployed in the shops—the most in the history of the institution—and more are at the institution—and more are taken on immediately. An additional 25 carpenters are being adverted for at the present time.

Although throughout the war as little repairing and building as possible was done owing to the high costs and scarcity of money, the staff has grown from 350 men in the years before the war to the present staff. The master car builder stated today that he could easily handle 1,000 men, and that he was endeavering to secure permission was endeavoring to secure permission from Montreal to hire them.

Heavier work is being done all the time. Cars, both passenger and freight are being built from the wheels up at the present time. Every year every is there at the present time. WAGE SCALE DECIDED.

After many weeks of unrest on the part of the clerks, and headaches on the part of the cierks, and neadacnes on the part of the officials of the local division of the G. T. The award as it now $2.50 to grants increases ranging from $2.50 to $55 a month. The senior positions have granted the greatest increases.

REPAIRING MANY CARS. Although the C. P. R. has no carshops in this city, considerable repair work on the rolling stock is carried on here. On a siding called a rip-track located in the east end yards, many cars which have been damaged, or which have become the worse for wear, are daily fixed up and put back in the service. Sometimes as high as 30 cars a day are put on the siding for repairs of more or less importance.

NTENSIVE DRIVE O ACCIDENTS PLANNED FOR SAFETY WEEK

Half of Fund For Work Already Obtained—Expect Objective.

DAYS DESIGNATED

Separate Aim On Each One-Sermons From Pulpits Sunday.

To make further arrangements for "Safety Week," October 10-16, when various organizations will put over an intensive drive against accidents, a meeting was held in council chambers by the Safety League last evening. In the absence of Mayor E. S. Little, Ald. John Bridge acted as chairman. C. B. King outlined the work of the league with a view to making the members more enthusiastic.

About half the objective has been obtained and in order to obtain sufficient funds to put the drive over on a better basis than in other cities the finance committee faces considerable work. Those present were willing to give part time in the interests of the campaign, but claimed it impossible to put full time to the work. Volunteers having been obtained at the meeting and the prospects of more energetic workers time to the work. Volunteers having been obtained at the meeting and the prospects of more energetic workers volunteering for campaign work, it is expected that sufficient funds will be raised and the accident prevention cards and pamphlets distributed throughout the city. Manufacturers, stores and citizens have co-operated in other cities to make the week a success.

The various days of the week have been specially designated. The ministers of all the churches will be asked to co-operate and have fire and accident prevention the subject of their Sunday sermon. Monday is careful day for motorists. Tuesday, careful day for motorists. Tuesday, careful day for street car men. Wednesday is set aside for school safety. Friday is to be called careful day for pedestrians, and the slogan for Saturday will be "Safety for all, all for safety."

Banners and cards in street cars and stores, motion picture slides, letters, advertisements and newspaper advertising have been proposed as means to impress the public to guard against accidents. That safety week has its value is shown for numerous accidents which occur during other weeks in the year, in large cities, have been practically eliminated safety week.

C. B. King will act as chairman, with C. E. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor League as his assistant. Mr. King is also chairman of the traffic committee. Arthur Carty is his assistant. A number of women present volunteered to assist in the work. Talks will be given to the children in the schools and the teachers will co-operate with the Safety League in teaching the children the danger of taking unnecessary risks.

Two local Greeks, Peter Pappas, 173 Kent street, and Gus Chourikos, 297 Grey street, admitted fighting on Dundas street at 2:55 a.m. today.

Constable Singleton testified that when arrested both were covered with blood. Pappas was discovered hiding under the Dundas street sidewalk, where he had sought refuge via a hole through the front cellar wall of a cafe. Chourikos exhibited a gash in his scalp and a bitten finger as his share of the spoils, and Pappas said, "Yes, look at my eye:" on the altar beyond.

The bride was charming in her nuptial robe of ivory satin, with over-drapery of white tulle and silver lace. A court train of brocaded satin, lined with shell pink georgette, fell from the shoulders, to which it was attached with pearl ornaments, and pearls and orange blossoms banded the long tulle veil to the forehead of the fair bride. A large sheaf of Ophelia roses and orchids, from which fell a shower of ribbons and Sweetheart roses, put the finishing touches to this most beautiful of bridal costumes.

Plans for siding extensions will be laid before the Dominion Railway Board at St. Thomas this afternoon by the London Railway Commission. The proposed extension would cross Bridge street in Port Stanley, and relieve the congestion on the single track which extension which crosses a public thoroughfare.

No definite decision may be given because of the unsettled plans for a new bridge. Some residents of Port Stanley favor a "Jack-knife" bridge, which will permit boats to pass up the river. The railway commission thinks that a higher bridge which extended right over their tracks would be the better, as it would eliminate a level crossing. They point out that the laying of another track will make a still more dangerous level crossing unless the bridge is extended over it.
The railway commission's appeal The railway commission's appeal against the assessment on its Port against the assessment on its Port Stanley property has been disallowed by Judge Colter of St. Thomas. The assessment was placed at $90,000 this year, compared to $31,000 last year. An appeal was made to the Port Stanley court of revision, and a reduction was made. This did not satisfy the commission and it carried the case to a higher court.

KNOLLWOOD SCHOOL

First Section of the Board of Education Program Is Completed.

Knollwood public school will be opened Monday. This will mark the completion of the first section of the board of education's extensive building campaign which was commenced this year. The structure which has been transformed into a school was formerly Red Cross building on Carling Heights. As the use of it for this purpose ended with the war it was sold to the board of education. Only slight remodeling was necessary to make it suitable for school purposes, and this was quickly carried out after it had been moved to the site on Quebec street.

Two classes will be found at the school Monday morning, comprising Grades 1, 2, and 3. Two teachers will be in charge. School Inspector C. B. Edwards thinks that there will be fairly large classes enrolled the first day, and that they will grow steadily throughout the term. By the time sufficient pupils are enrolled to form additional classes, it is expected that the other two rooms will be ready for occupation.
