"As I was going over the bridge the other day," said a native of Erin, "I met Pat Hewins, says I, "how are you?" "Pretty well, thank you, Connelly," says he. "Connelly," says I, "that's not my name." "Faith, then no more is mine Hewins." So with that we looked a aich other again, and su enough it was nayther of us.

The Sultan has 4,000 servants; and yet we dare say when the furnace fire won't work the Sultana tells him it is the hired girl's night out, and he has to go shining around in the cellar to warm up the harem again.

"Your handwriting is very bad, indeed," said a gentleman to a friend more addicted to boasting than to study; "you really ought to learn to write better." "Ay, ay," replied the young man, "it is all very well for you to tell me that, but if I were to write better, people would find out how I could spell."

A small boy, boasting of his father's accomplishments, said: "My father can do almost anything; he's a notary public and he's an apothecry, and can mend teeth, and he is a doctor, can mend waggons and things, and play the fiddle; he's a lackass at all trades."

he's a lackass at all trades."

Man's lot is not a happy one. No sooner is he free from his mother's apron strings and slipper, than he becomes the slave of some tyrant in pink and white, and marries. His wife then bosset him until a baby comes along, and then the baby bosses the whole family.

Freekles are not so bad. It is said that one girl does not object to seeing them on another girl's face.
