DINAL FARLEY AT PONTIFICAL MASS FOR JOHN REDMOND.
At 10 o'clock on Friday, March 14—Cardinal Farley at a pontifical memorial high requiem for the late John E. Farley, Irish parliamentary leader, in St. John's Cathedral today. Mgr. M. J. O'Connor, who preached the sermon, said

Redmond's fame would rest in history chiefly because of his achievements in behalf of old age pensions, the Irish land purchase and home rule bill. Dr. J. E. Power, a son-in-law of the dead statesman, and four of Dr. Power's children were chief mourners. Those present included Lord and Lady Aberdeen and T. P. O'Connor.

QUEENSLAND'S SUGAR GENTLE IS WIPED OUT

Tidal Wave Following Cyclone and Rainstorm Floods Large Area

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 5.—(Correspondence)—Mackay the sugar city of Queensland, was practically wiped out of existence by a tidal wave January 25, following a cyclone and rainstorm which raged over northern Queensland, flooded large areas of country and washed away several towns. Situated midway between Townsville and Rockhampton, the coastal terminal of two great railway lines running due west into the heart of Queensland, the sugar city has a population of about 12,000 souls. The whole of the district is given over to the sugar industry, the value of the annual output from its twelve mills being estimated at nearly $1,000,000 ($5,000,000).

Mackay, which is situated on the Pioneer river near the coast, was reached after the discovery. Capt. John Mackay, who left New South Wales in 1861, with five whites and 1,000 head of cattle, and the first sugar cane grown in the district was planted four years later from a Java consignment. A report from Mackay before the hurricane started that there were about 8,000 tons of raw sugar on the wharves, and 24,000 tons at the mills, valued at $2,000,000 ($8,000,000), all of which appears to have been lost, for the wharves have been swept away, the town is submerged and almost everything in it is destroyed.

Many lives were lost and hundreds were rendered homeless and starving. Large numbers of cattle were drowned, telegraphic and telephonic communication was cut off and so many places were isolated that the greatest difficulty is experienced in sending relief. An attempt was at once made to cope with the disaster, the commonwealth government voted $25,000 ($25,000), the state government another $1,000 ($5,000) and tons of provisions were forwarded with as little delay as possible to relieve the distress.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

At the monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society last evening a committee was appointed to endeavor to get an amendment to the Children's Protection act giving the society jurisdiction over boys up to sixteen years of age.

The president, A. M. Belding, was in the chair. Following the reading of the report of the agent, Rev. George Scott, there was a discussion over the problem mentioned as a result of which the committee mentioned was named as follows: Rev. W. R. Robinson, Sheriff Wilson and Rev. H. A. Goodwin. This committee will also consider the question of other amendments to the act.

The report of the agent showed that during the month three little girls were admitted to the shelter temporarily. He was consulted as to the cases of one wayward girl and two wayward boys. The two boys subsequently appeared in the police court on charges of theft when Judge Ritchie allowed them to go home, with them were also allowed to go home with their parents. The agent as well as Mr. Robinson were present at these trials. A number of visits were made to mothers who had been complained of for neglecting their little ones and these were warned. In one case where a family was left motherless a visit was made to the home with S. M. Wetmore. As a result a permit was issued and the two youngest ones were taken to the Municipal Home. Relatives are making arrangements to care for some of the others.

THE LATE DR. MUNYON.

Dr. James Munyon, famous manufacturer of homeopathic patent medicines, who died suddenly while sitting at lunch in the dining room of the Poinciana Hotel, Palm Beach, a few days ago, leaves a son, who is understood to be in Atlanta. Dr. Munyon was widely known throughout America and England for campaigns advertising his patent medicines.

He exploited the medicinal value of herbs and roots, and in the vicinity of his home, Thompson, Conn., where he was born in 1848, he was known as "Money" Munyon, because he was always supplied with cash earned by himself. At an early age he became a publisher, his papers being Christian Voice, The Labor World, and Munyon's Illustrated World.

Early in the nineties he began the manufacture of homeopathic home remedies on a large scale. He kept a large corps of expert chemists and physicians at work, reporting to him their discoveries, making the practical applications himself.

His young wife, an actress, whom he married in 1896, returned to the stage in 1913 after she had sought a divorce in Philadelphia. Dr. Munyon also sued her for divorce. When they were married Munyon was 60 years old, and his wife 24. Dr. Munyon had been married twice before.
