SMALL WONDER.

I squeezed the hand I held in mine, With rapture, then I pressed This hand, so perfectly divine, Against my throbbing breast.
Three others were assembled there, They gazed, oh, stern and fast, Upon me with a stony stare,
And then each duly passed.

You'd think to be alone that we Would duly rejoice;
Alack, the others saw through me And thus my woe I voice.
They had observed my joyful grin; Small joy such passing brings.
The hand I held—it was a sin—Consisted of four kings.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 9, 1908.

CLEAN GOVERNMENT.

Because a Halifax clergyman in a recent speech said that Canada was beautiful and prosperous and happy, the logical Fredericton Herald deduces triumphantly the two-fold conclusion that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his administration are responsible for these pleasant conditions and that clergymen, as a rule, are liberals.

In further support of the latter conclusion it says:

"There is another reason why the men who direct the spiritual affairs of the country are sympathetic with liberalism and opposed to Toryism. As right thinking men with strong religious convictions, they recognize that under Sir Wilfrid Laurier the country enjoys pleasant conditions and that clergy-
men, as a rule, are liberals.

There are no McCreveys or Langvines or Ganneys in the liberal party council; there are no political scandals "smelling to heaven," as there were in the days of Toryism, no revelations such as those of 1891 which made the people of Canada hang their heads in shame."

The statement that the clergy are sympathetic with liberalism is no more ridiculous than the assertion that the government is clean and honest, whose leader was accused on the floor of the house by the ablest member of his cabinet of being a tool of private capitalists; the government which has fathered the Yukon scandals and the infamous Treadgold concession; which defied public opinion and at the bidding of Senator Cox and his allies forced upon the country a railway policy which thousands of the best of the electorate had petitioned against; which by the weight of its parliamentary majority has balked all inquiry that might tend to expose the band of grafters that flourished under its regime.

The taunt regarding McCrevey, who was punished for his ill-doing, comes not well from a party which uses the power given it by the people to protect men beside whom McCrevey would have been a novice in grafting and a sneer at Ganney, who took a bribe, does not become those who shield many Strattons, who with misdirected public money, do the bribing.

"GENTLEMEN; THE KING."

Today Edward VII. by the grace of God, king and emperor, attains his sixty-second year. During the three years of his reign he has shown himself to be not unworthy of the crown which his mother wore. His work has been for the peace of Europe. He has proven himself a diplomat of eminence.
The present kindly feeling in Ireland and the recently accomplished rapprochement with France are practically his personal triumphs. Though he will never be the object of the love and reverence that was Queen Victoria's he is already entrenched in so surely in the affections and esteem and respect of his people, that few in the empire today will not join in the universal congratulations with a hearty and earnest "God Save the King."

When the history of these years we are living in comes to be written by-and-by, King Edward's name and that of the British Empire will be associated together in the minds of those coming generations who shall study that history. For though the empire was nominally in existence when he came to the throne, it is left for the later years of his reign to see the binding together of the scattered states which own his soverignty, into one great commonwealth which shall be an empire in more than name, an empire of which each part is so related to and so dependent upon the other that dissolution will be unthinkable, and so self-sufficient that for the rest of the world need have no existence.

If that Milligan-Crocket case is re-tried, it is to be hoped that some of the witnesses will be less successful in evading the constable than they were before. Interest has not yet altogether died out in that Rotherham forgery and the people would like to hear from a few of those ten or a dozen people who, according to Mr. Milligan, might be guilty.

That's an awfully sad thing about the German Emperor. He has had an operation performed on his throat and the dispatches say he won't be able to talk until the wound is healed. Looks as if the surgeons were taking quite a risk of congestion of his vocabulary and other complications.

If the lumber cut is going to be so much smaller than last year, the local government will have to devise some other means of providing for their extravagance besides the increase in the stampage rates.

In the list of those whom the king is honoring on his birthday, the names of Mr. Blair and Mr. Tarte are conspicuously absent. Also Col. Tucker's great efforts for the protection of the defenceless lobster are forgotten. "Ingratitude, thou marble hearted fiend."

LOCAL NEWS.

The prompt action of the board of health toward the immediate isolation of the smallpox case discovered yesterday and the quarantining of the hotel containing it, assure the city that its health is being well guarded. This assurance will be made still more satisfactory if the letter of the quarantine law is rigorously observed with respect to the many people who, by residence in the hotel, may have been exposed to the infection. This enforcement will be hard upon those affected, most of whom are visitors here, but the good of the greatest number demands that no sign of favor should be allowed, which in the remotest way may endanger the community.

A WOMAN'S REPLY.

(By Mrs. Browning.) Do you know you have asked for the costliest thing Ever made by the hand above—A woman's heart and a woman's life, And a woman's wonderful love?

Do you know you have asked for this priceless thing—
As a child might ask for a toy?
Demanding what others have died to win
With the reckless dash of a boy?

You have written my lesson of duty out, Manlike you have questioned me; Now stand at the bar of my woman's soul
Until I shall question thee.

You require that your mutton shall always be hot,
Your socks and your shirts shall be whole;
I require your heart to be true as God's word,
And pure as heaven your soul.

You require a cook for your mutton and beef;
I require a far better thing:
A seamstress you're wanting for stockings and shirts,
I look for a man and a king.

A king for a beautiful realm called home,
And a man that the Maker, God, Shall look upon as he did the first And say, "It is very good."

I am fair and young, but the rose will fade
From my soft young cheek one day—Will you love me then, 'mid the falling leaves,
As you did 'mid the bloom of May?

Is your heart an ocean so strong and deep
I may launch my all on its tide?
A loving woman finds heaven or hell On the day she is made a bride.

I require all things that are grand and true,
All things that a man should be;
If you give this all I would take my life
To be all you demand of me.

If you cannot be this—a laundress and cook
You can hire with little to pay;
But a woman's heart and a woman's
Are not to be won that way.

DRINKS ACID WHEN HER FATHER SCOLDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Upbraided by her father for frequent visits to the home of her cousin and chum, Mary McGrath, sixteen years old, yesterday drank carbonic acid in the hallway leading to the apartments of her grandmother, at No. 201 Sackett street, Brooklyn, and was taken, dying, to the Long Island College Hospital.

Prompt and judicious action by Police-man Randall, who poured a quart of mulligan down the girl's throat, prolonged her life, but the physicians at the hospital said she could not survive.

The girl left a note written in a neat hand addressed—"To my Papa, Mr.
McGrath." "Personal." It read as follows:

Papa—I hope you will forgive me.
You have accused me wrongfully and also my cousin, who was only acting as a friend's part to me. You wished to see me at seven o'clock tonight, but even seven o'clock is here I will be in eternity. Goodbye.

P. S.—Be good to Katie.

Patrick McGrath, the girl's father, is captain of a lighter that lands freight at the wharves at Erie Basin. Her mother died five years ago, and the girl went to live with her grandmother.

For three years Mary McGrath has been the housekeeper. Her nearest friend and only confidant was her cousin, Mary Marlow. Recently Miss Marlow married a man named Parrel, and Miss McGrath was a frequent visitor at their apartments.

COLLEGE HAZING.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 8.—The police are investigating the cause of the death of Martin Low, 27 years old, a student in the dental department of the University of Maryland, whose lifeless body was found today in his room at his boarding house, on this room mate, Ephraim Stone, 23 years old, was found lying unconscious beside the bed. Low is from Germany, and Stone hails from Cape Town, South Africa. Low, it is said, has relatives in New York City. His body is at the mortuary.

It is said that the men were initiated last week into the "V-Pei-Chi," a college fraternity, of which many students of the university are members.
From numerous bruises on the bodies of the two men it would seem that they had been roughly handled, whether from the initiation or otherwise is not known. An inquest and post-mortem examination will be held by the authorities tomorrow.

MAIN STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. Howard H. Roach yesterday entered upon his duties as pastor of Main Street Baptist church, and at both morning and evening services preached to large congregations. Mr.
Roach spoke on the necessity of the church doing its utmost to attract the masses and build up the congregation.
For this they should join hands in the fellowship of pastor and people.

The collection at the Cathedral yesterday, which goes to the St. Vincent de Paul Society, amounted to $750.

sionary committee. Subject: "World

The West India liner Oceanic, Capt.

Halifax yesterday.

Edward Nixon has been reported for furiously driving a horse with carriage attached on Sidney street Saturday evening.

Both bidders have been put in the str. Senlac and it is expected the bid plate will be in position by this evening.

A number of returning harvesters route to their homes in Prince Edward Island and eastern Nova Scotia from Manitoba and the western wheat fields.

There will be a meeting of the St.
John Board of Trade held on Wednesday evening at their rooms at 8 p. m. improved harbor facilities. The public

Florence Nolan, of the Boston firm of Nolan Bros., who are part owners in the Lake Superior, left for home on Saturday. He has been in St. John several weeks watching the work of breaking up the big ship.

Agnes Farnan, aged 17 years, who was arrested on the 19th of September for stealing $33 from a residence in the city in which she was employed as a domestic, was before the police magistrate Saturday and was sentenced to 10 months in jail. She has already spent over a month in jail.

Frank Baird has returned from a very successful trip to the big game districts of York county. In company with Charles Whelpley of Fredericton, Mr. Baird was successful in shooting a large moose. The head is a magnificent one, the antlers spreading fifty-eight inches.

The death occurred yesterday of Ethel, the eighteen-year-old daughter of the late Edward Walsh. Deceased, who was a particularly bright girl and a general favorite with her numerous friends, graduated from St. Vincent's convent in 1901. For years she has resided with her grandfather, George Doherty of Brussels street, at whose home she died. Death resulted from apoplexy.

The Canadian Pacific Railway have received advice from their European traffic manager, Archer Baker, that it is being arranged with marine underwriters in London that insurance on London cargoes via Antwerp to West St. John will take no extra premium on account of calling at Antwerp. This information will be very pleasing news to all importers in this territory.

The death occurred at her residence, Duke street, on Sunday evening, of Agnes, wife of Jacob S. Brown, in the 58th year of her age, after an illness of some months. Mrs. Brown was an esteemed woman, domestic in all her ways, and beloved by all the family circle. Her husband has the earnest sympathy of a host of friends and acquaintances.

The work of tearing away the upper portion of the hull of the Italian bark Battistina Madre, which fell over-on Sillyard's blocks, is proving a tedious task. The bark, which was generally rotten and the planking is bad, but still the job is hard to get through with. The owners, Messrs.
Lantulum, have a huge job on their hands, as they have to remove the old bulk before the new str. Senlac can be launched.

The following were re-elected officers of the Bartenders' Local Union, No.
248, for the ensuing term, at their regular meeting, Saturday evening:

vice president; Joseph P. Doody, recording secretary; James J. Baxter, treasurer; John Joseph, John Joseph Nugent, inspector; Wm. Duffy, inside guard; Joseph Breen, outside guard.

The union is in a healthy financial condition and will hold a smoke talk and reason with the future.

W. B. Wallace, solicitor for James Adams, Carleton, has notified the city that he has been retained to institute a suit for damages. It appears that the city left a pile of rocks and earth on Prince street, Carleton, through the street workmen. Mrs. Adams fell over these and was severely cut and bruised. She was confined to her bed for some days. The rocks and earth were thrown in such a way as to block up a very considerable portion of the sidewalk.

CRAZED BY DEATH
OF HER BABY BOY.

Mother Raced to Save It From Railroad Train, But Misses and is a Martyr.

LEROY, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The two year-old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Smith was instantly killed by an Erie train today. The child's life was crushed out just as the mother reached out her hands to drag it from danger.

The baby wandered away from the house and when Mrs. Smith caught sight of him he was sitting on the track and an express train was rapidly approaching.

The race to save the baby's life was lost by a fraction of a second. Mrs.
Smith's arm was struck by the engine and she was hurled to the side of the track. She is now a raving maniac.

EVERY MAN IN TOWN ON HIS LIQUOR LIST.

HILLSBOROUGH BRIDGE, N. H., Nov. 7.—The male population of Antrim has been placed under ban by former Governor D. H. Goodell, a well known temperance reformer of that notice town, who has legally warned by hotel here the only place selling liquor near Antrim—not to sell to any male inhabitant of that place. The hotel has been served with a list of every one of the 400 men residents of Antrim more than twenty-one years old. No one is excepted—ministers, doctors, lawyers—even Mr. Goodell's own name and those of his sons appearing in the document.

The law provides that no liquor shall be sold to "any person where notice in writing has been given forbidding sale to such person from the parent, guardian, husband or wife of such person or by any magistrate or overseer of the poor of any town or city."

Y. M. C. A. WORK.

A Y. M. C. A. service was held in St.
David's church last evening, the rector, Rev. Dr. Morrison, preaching an eloquent sermon on Y. M. C. A. work from Acts 2: 17: "Your young men shall see visions."

On the platform with him were Frank White, president of the St. John Y. M.
