for a few more years, but there are several new lightweight stars rising inside of a year. He has done considbeen a continuous success.

Johnny Griffith's Australian trip will either make or break the Akron boy as a championship possibility.
The chances are it will make a great deal for him. He showed lots of heart in his July fourth scrap with Jack Britton. Across the ocean he will meet some good boys,

OLD STARS STAGED AGAIN

New York, Sept. 23.—There's nothing very promising in the outlook for good fighting material for the coming campaign. Old stars must be staged again, for the past year has seen little or nothing in the development of any real promising performers. As Harry Burns, of Los Angeles, writes, fight promoters throughout the fist world are in such a frame of mind that they do not know what to do for attractive cards. There is no such thing as new blood and what new comers did show a flash now and then have proven the theory that a mechanic must learn his trade before he can be accepted as a perfect workman.

Since the days of the Jeffries-Johnson battle the cry for new material, new blood, new stars, has been put up, and the promoters, the world over, have searched for and have proven the
a perfect workman.

Tom McCaskey, for the first time in 14 years, has to pass up the young and aspiring newcomers and stay to the already accepted stars of the ring.
The Southern promoter, in the time of his handling the boxing situation, staged more real scrappers, greater contests, more costly programmes, than any other fight centre of the world over. One has only to look over the men in the public gaze today and the majority of them either started with him or got their chance to break into pugilistic history by being permitted to box a main event in the Old Naud Junction, Hazard's Pavilion or McCaskey's Vernon Arena.

The material is just as good today as it ever was, but in the old days a fighter was schooled and drilled for months and years before he was put against opponents anywhere near the top. They were finished fighters when they were asked to meet the best men.
The rush for the top is too great now, and impatience prevails, and until it subsides the like of the fellows any old-timers will reel off will not be seen.

The same conditions exist here and it's hard to tell why they exist. The boxing game is a most lucrative job these days, but it will fall into decline unless a little more care is taken in preparing youngsters for ring service.
The arduousness of managers is always too anxious to rush their charges to the front. They stack them in against men of experience, who pound all the fight out of them and cause the youngsters to lose heart.

temperament the answer would be Oulmet. He has a nervous system, but it is buried deep. It doesn't bother him to any extent.

Travels' case in England was an old sporting example. He had gone up against England twice before in championships and had been checked quickly and eliminated, which didn't help him, as game a player as he is.

It is this memory of tradition which makes Pittsburgh break before New York. It is this same cause which renders Cleveland helpless before Washington. It is this same cause in the box-fight potpourri which prevents a beaten champion from coming back and mauling his conqueror.
Subconsciously there is remembrance of what happened before and it is rarely disclosed.

"THANK O'DAY"

GOLFERS ARE OFTEN BEATEN BY "NERVES"

The study of golfing nerves frames an interesting segment of psychology England, Jerome Travers, America's amateur champion, said: "I have never nervous in a match; that at times they were badly off their games, but it wasn't a matter of nerves. This was never nervous in his life. I saw him as Brookline last fall after his score had run high. 'What was the trouble?' I asked. 'Every time I reached the green, he replied, my knees shook so that I couldn't stand still enough to make a putt. I was afraid to even walk up to the ball.'

"At one time or another nervousness has beaten Vardon, Ray, Taylor, Hilton and all the rest. It has beaten Evans often. If I had to pick out one man with the finest and safest golfing
