

Roumania Proud to Draw Her Sword on The Side of Crusaders For The Right

Her Entry Into the Struggle Simply the Outcome of History of Her People and in Every Epoch Aspiration on the Two Sides of the Carpathians has been for Union and a Single Independent State.

M. Take Jonescu, the distinguished Roumanian statesman, writing to the London Daily Chronicle, says: Roumania's entry into the war is simply the outcome of the entire history of the Roumanian people. A Latin colony established astride the Carpathians, between the Black Sea and the Tisza, the Magyar invasion had separated us into two. In spite of centuries of political separation, the intellectual life of all Roumanians has been one and the same, and in every epoch the national aspiration on the two sides of the Carpathians has been for union and a single independent state.

Never before this war has the principle of nationality as the corollary of national sovereignty—that is to say, the right of every people to live according to its own genius—been declared as the foundation of political right in Europe. This principle was first declared by immortal France, but it has been the English who have given it its present epoch who have given it its present epoch. So, too, are the British people for this principle; yet more than any conquest do they value being the champions of Right and Liberty.

Crusade For The Right.

I know no greater good fortune than to be able to assist in the realization of your national ideal, while serving at the same time the cause of civilization and a permanent future peace. Such is the case of the Roumanian people at this moment.

For two years I have never ceased maintaining that even if Roumania had nothing to claim for herself, she owed it to her own feeling of dignity and honor to draw the sword on the side of the Crusaders for the right.

The creation of a great Roumania, which will convert us into a state of 14 million inhabitants, is a European interest. We must put Germany into such a position that she will find it materially impossible to start again that tragedy of armaments, a outrance, which fatally led to this monstrous war. We must put between Germany and the Orient a cordon of states sufficiently strong and sufficiently distant from the German spirit to be, by the nature of things, soldiers of civilization against German cupidity.

Magna Roumania will fulfil these three conditions. With our amazing racial fecundity we shall have in 40 years between the Tisza and the Black Sea a State of 25,000,000 inhabitants; and for France, England, Russia and Italy this will be some recompense for their enormous sacrifices.

The whole nation has received the declaration of war with a satisfaction that is marked with the greatest distinctness. Nothing could prove better how true and inevitable war was. Our armies have seized all the passes of the Carpathians with extraordinary rapidity; yet that has turned nobody's head, for the Latins of the Danube have sense of measure and self-command.

You will read in the official communiques of the fighting on the Dobruja frontier. There, too, we are defending a cause that is not only our own, but also that of the Allies, and I might say, of Europe. In order that the Turk may be driven from Europe, it is necessary for all to subdue Bulgaria, or rather her rulers, who are the real cause of Bulgaria's madness. In my belief, it is the duty of Europe not to repeat the mistakes of last autumn, but to bring to bear upon the Balkan front sufficient forces to solve the Bulgarian problem.

In dealing with the initiative people like the Bulgarians a display of force is the first requirement.

Victory Foreseen.

I am sure that the Allies, who have proclaimed the principle of Unity of Front, recognize these truths even better than I, but as The Daily Chronicle does me the honor of asking me my opinion, I welcome the opportunity.

As for the ultimate victory of the Allies, that has been as clear as sunlight to me for a long time past. Today more than ever, the possibility of our common victory is definitely guaranteed not only by our military superiority, but also, and in an especial degree, by our moral strength.

The Roumanian nation is more than touched by the marks of sympathy which are reaching it from all sides. As gratitude is a characteristic of our race, you may be sure that from the sympathy which is now being shown us there will emerge a firm and lasting fraternity.

Take Jonescu.

On the ground he emerged from the residence, leaning on the arm of her father, as the wedding march was played by Miss Bianche Cook, sister of the groom.

The charming young bride was attractively gowned in white messaline silk, with adornments of silver passementerie and shadow lace trimming and wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a handsome bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair fern.

Little Miss Mary McMillan, youngest sister of the bride, was a flower girl and preceded her carrying a basket of flowers.

After the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Leon H. Jewett, the reception followed, after which all repaired to the dining room, where supper was served.

The groom's present to the bride was a set of black furs and a great number of other beautiful gifts were received, including cut glass, silver, cheques, and numerous other articles of beauty and usefulness.

Later in the evening the bride appeared in a tailored suit of blue, blue with a becoming hat to correspond. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were driven to Carletonville, where they will make their home.

WELSFORD

Welsford, Sept. 22.—The social which came off last Thursday evening at the Welsford was quite a success, and much enjoyed, the weather was lovely and the attendance good. The sum of $31.00 was realized for Sunday School purposes.

Willie Braden of Olivine shot a fine moose on Friday morning last, and William Speight of Welsford shot a fine one on the Saturday morning, weighing 800 pounds, having 10 points.

On Monday afternoon last, Hedley Cooper of South Clones had the misfortune to send a shot right through one of his feet. While he was cleaning the gun it accidentally went off.

At a special meeting of the members of the local branch of the Women's Institute, held at the Victoria Hall, Monday afternoon, it was decided to send samples of various preserves to the World's Fair, which is to take place in St. John, N.B., on Monday, the 11th inst. The young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and prosperous married life.

Mr. Robert Johnston of Napier, arrived here on Tuesday and will remain for some time. Miss Mildred Fraser left on Monday for New York, where she will take a post-graduate course in nursing.

Mrs. B. T. Holman of Boston, Mass., who spent the summer here, returned to her home last week. She will visit friends in Logville and Chatham en route.

Mrs. Charles Combeau and Miss Clara Hodnett of New Brunswick, are guests of Mrs. Jas. W. Hierarchy. Mrs. T. T. Taittie moved to Campbellton on Tuesday, where he attended a meeting of Presbytery. He was accompanied as far as St. John by Mrs. D. Murray, also Mrs. George J. Symeist and little son Vivian.

Mr. Taittie exchanged pulpits with Mr. Dewey on the following Sunday, dispensing Sacrament, at New Bedford and Canobie.

Bimer Hanson, adopted son of Mr. David Savoy, of Covedale, enlisted recently with the 132nd Batt., and is now at Valcartier.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dickenson and little nephew Harold Moran, returned to Boston recently. They were accompanied by Mrs. John T. Murphy, who will spend two months with relatives in Boston and vicinity.

Mrs. Jane Taylor and Miss Edna E. Graham are undergoing medical treatment at Hotel Dixie, Chatham.

MARRIED.

Cook-McMillan.

Apoahqui, Sept. 21.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan, Head of Millstream, was the scene of a most brilliant event, on Wednesday, Sept. 20th. The occasion was the wedding day of their second daughter, Miss Florence Jeanette McMillan, who was united in marriage with Roy Allen Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cook of Carletonville, Kings County.

About one hundred and twenty guests witnessed the impressive marriage ceremony, which took place on the lawn beneath a beautiful floral arch, the stately trees and autumn tinge foliage making an attractive setting for the pretty gowns of the ladies and the more sombre garb of the gentlemen.

At precisely 4 o'clock, the bride emerged from the residence, leaning on the arm of her father, as the wedding march was played by Miss Bianche Cook, sister of the groom.

The charming young bride was attractively gowned in white messaline silk, with adornments of silver passementerie and shadow lace trimming and wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a handsome bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair fern.

Little Miss Mary McMillan, youngest sister of the bride, was a flower girl and preceded her carrying a basket of flowers.

OBITUARY.

Colin C. Gray.

Yarmouth, N. S., Sept. 23.—Colin C. Gray, son of J. B. Gray, Albert St., formerly of Sambro, in dead of tuberculosis. The deceased was in his 21st year, being born in Halifax in 1895. He enlisted in the 85th Battalion in January last. Shortly after on account of poor health he went to the military hospital where he stayed up to about three weeks ago. Although of a quiet nature he had many friends, at the Yarmouth Academy taking many prizes at his graduation, and at other times. After graduating at Yarmouth he went to Mount Allison University, from which place he graduated with high honors, and later to McGill in the science class. He was a lover of sport and played on the McGill hockey and football teams. The McGill year book speaks of him as "a quiet unassuming lad, immune to fashion, freak or fad." He leaves a father, three sisters and two brothers. Members of the 85th Battalion will conduct a military funeral from the house on Sunday at 2.30.

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS

Read How to Care for Their Health.

New Orleans, La.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, for I know my daughter never would have been so well if she had not taken it. For more than a year she had suffered agonies from irregularity, backache, dizziness, and no appetite, but is now well. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters who can publish this letter."

"Mrs. A. Estrada, 129 N. Galveston Street, New Orleans, La."

"My daughter was feeling tired and all run down with no apparent cause. She had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and knew its value so she again purchased it and she was able to keep to work, her eyes became bright and natural, and her system was built up completely. We generally keep the Vegetable Compound in the house for it is so reliable."
