as well as the people. I must see that our ~~own~~ men who have the same good purpose as you had, will come forward to help you to be to you what you were to me. who will continue to do the same good; I must try and find some one who feels the same towards you as you felt towards me; you must never doubt for the help you ^{will} need don't let any voice influence you, or deter you in your determination don't let any one dictate with respect to your own concerns you must conquer, no matter what throws in your way you shall, - follow on, journey on and on. God bless you good-by. - as Sir Wilfrid ended his voice grew sweeter and sweeter, ~~and~~ ^{and} ~~there~~ ^{there} was a note of emotion in it, as if we were saying to say good-by - there was very great affection, I could feel his desire to see me do the work he had given his life to and to do it bravely facing home, and I feel that the heavenly hosts are with us and fighting for us. What a glorious company appeared, that an array of grand soldiers Gladstone, Alexander Macdonald, Sir John Macdonald, Peckham, another Hall and many - dear old Mr. Sturt - and his others to let us know that 'all are here' all are being helped, and that what is done for ^{us} right and justice here, must continue to be for both hemispheres.

I thank you with all my heart for our Divine Guidance
