every convenience in their hall for the purpose.

St. Helen's Circle, No. 2, is meeting with good success, the meetings be ing largely attended. At its last session two applications were received. The chaplain, Rev. Father Cruise, paid the members a visit, and gave a short address of advice and encouragement: he praised them for the business like manner in which they conducted the work of the circle. On Sunday, the 27th, the ladies attended St. Helen's church for Holy Communion, only those being absent who reside a great distance from that church. After Mass they partook of breakfast prepared for them at the house of one of the members residing near the church.

A united meeting of the members of St. Ceclia's Branch (No. 29) and Circle No. 3 was held on Friday, the 25th alt. The foilowing visit ors were present: D. A. Carey, G. P.; W. Lane. S. T.; A. McGinn, member of exc. com; J. Delory, Chancellor; D. Murray, R. S.; J. Mc. Carthy, F. S.; P. Sheehan, W. Finan, P. Donovan, D. P. Shea and J. Hickey, of Branch No. 11. A very Persant time was spent. Miss Kelly and Miss Gunning gave selections of vocal and instramental muste which received well merited applause A. McGinn being called upon gave an address congratulating the ladies upon their determination to carry out the laws as revised at the convention, J. Delory also made a short address. The address of the evening was, as usul, by the popular Grand President; and in saying that he was in good trim (if we may use the term) for the occasion, we are satisfied no more need be said.

The Grand Secy, was appointed to Install J. Walsh as Pres., and J. Rafferty as Vice Pres, in place of officers who had forfeited their positions. Pres. J. Walsh, made a short but very effective speech showing the determination to work in the interested in which he has been elected, and there is no doubt the branch and association, and he pledged his word that the other members would not the same, He certainly appears well suited for the nosition to which he branch and association, and t

FATHER M'ENTEE'S REPLY.

Father McEntee was visibly affected by the address from his fellow priests, and replied as follows:—Allow me to thank you most cordially for this magnificent address, most generous gift, and also for leaving your various parishes and your many labors, at no little inconvenience and expense, to come here to-day to extend to me in person, an humble confrere, your warmest congratulations on this, the twenty fifth anniversary of my ordination to the sacred priesthood. How noble, how generous on your part! How sweet and encouraging to me! How can I find words sufficiently strong to express my heartfelt thanks?

I see among the ranks of the clergy here present representatives of the various religious communities of many other dioceses—Hamilton, London, Buffalo and Rochester, and some even from the far distant Atlantic Coast, many of whom are old college chums, and many of whom hold high ecclesiastical positions. All have come to extend to me their hearty good wishes, not in the conventional, stereotyped fashion, but in the honest, sincere manner that always characterizes the Catholic clergy.

It is with feelings of the deepest humility that I have listened to your kindly words of praise—speaking of my disinterestedness, zeal, unflagging energy, spirit of self sacrifice, and my successful labors in the various parishes that it has been my good fortune to preside over. I feel, however, that I merely did my duty, and that the credit and thanks of these good works are almost entirely due to the good, generous and large-hearted congregations over which it has been my good fortune to preside. Also permit me to thank you for your kindly reference to my ho-pital ity. I can assure you that as the years roll by the pleasures of associating with yen multiply, and that you will always have a hearty welcome at my hearth.

Allow me to thank you once more, most warmly, for this generous gift, so opportunely chosen, and one that I will ever dearly th has been whole somed, generous and thistured.

I wish, gentlemen of the committee, to convey, through you, my sincere thanks to the congregation for their kindness and generosity this morning.

After the services were concluded His Grace the Archbishop and the visiting clergy were entertained by Father McEntes to a sumptuous bacquet in St. Joseph's Hall, Williams & Co. being the caterers for the occasion. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, evergreens and rare exotics, Mr. Wm. Kelly superintending the arrangements. arrangements. Wellwood's orchestra furnished music of a Father McEatee received many valuable and beautiful presents, among which was the elegantly bound Missal, kindly presented by His Grace the Archbishop; also a very handsome sanctuary lamp which was donated by the late Miss Mary McGinty.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S PROGRAMME.

In the afternoon at 4:30 a delightful programme was presented by the children of the school in the presence of the visiting clergy, among them being Venerable Archdeacon Campbell. Following is the programme:

the laws as revised at the convention, "Delovy also made a short address. The address of the evening was, as usual, by the popular Grand President; and in saying that he of the eccasion, we are suggested to the convention of the veyed to the parish church and received by Rev. Father McMahon, who performed the last rites.

The rev. pastor spoke in eloquent terms of the edifying life and character of the deceased. In the course of his remarks, Father McMahon said deceased was the most respected man in the parish, because of the truly Catholic life he had always lead. He said he was a good example, not alone to bits own family, but to the Church which claimed him, and to the church which claimed him, and to the church at large. On leaving the church, the funeral proceeded to St. Michael's ceme tery, Toronto, where all that was mortal of Nicholas Phelan was lain to rest beside his son, Luke, who preceded his father to the grave some eight or nine years ago. The immense procession of carriages from Toronto and the surrounding country, which accompanied the remains, was a fitting testimony of the esteen in which deceased was held by all classes and creeds. He leaves an aged widow, three sons and three daughters to mourn the loss of a kind and devoted husband and a loving and generous father. May his soul rest in peace!

They Never Fail.—Mr. S. M. Boughner, Langton, writes: "For about two years I was troubled with Inward Piles, but by using Parmelee's Pills, I was completely cured, and although four years have elapsed since then they have not returned." Parmelee's Pills are anti-bilious and a specific for the cure of Liver and Kidney Complaints, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Headache, Piles, etc., and will regulate the secretions and remove all bilious matter.
