Wirs. Gatchel showed how cheerful-ss was not confined to those who d life easy, but rather the practice of it helps to lighten many a weary oad. In fact, the reader emphasized he fact that the harder the task and he more gloomy the outlook, the nore need there was for cheerfulness. Cheerfulness was a very essential hing in the home, especially to a nother, as so many look to mother in thelp in trouble, for love and light and cheer from morning until night, This good quality is not restricted to few. It belongs to all classes and all ages. It shows itself in acts of idness and tact. It is like a soft rain, penetrating the soil, in a quiet Mrs. Steed gave a reading telling about the trials of a "hen-pecked hus-nand." This amused the ladies. Had the gentlemen been present this would have received hearty cheers; as it was well applauded.

The meeting closed by singing, Keep the Home Fires Burning. Owing to the illness of the presi-ent, the business was held for the April meeting in school, Thursday, April 20th, 1916.
