THE RURAL PROBLEM.

The rural problem was among the subjects discussed at the late Presbyterian Congress, a "very carefully studied address on the matter being delivered by Rev. Dr. Wilton, of New York. The rural churches in many States were not in a very satisfactory state because the farmer's business was not satisfactory. The farmer was the prey of the middleman and the jobber. He no longer had his boots or his clothing made at home. He got these in the towns. As many farmers specialized, there were numerous articles used on the farm that he had to buy outside. There was no chance for the farmer to buy his own boots, that of the farmer, the most important of all, was not attended. The speaker urged as one great remedy for this condition, co-operation on the part of the farmer. Denmark never began to succeed as an agricultural country until the farmers had become a united body. He did not know how rural conditions were in Canada but he did not think they were much better than in the United States. The farmer should insist upon his rights, both in spiritual and temporal affairs, but he could not expect to get them until the farmers were united in their own interests.

Pain heart never won fair play, but it may have escaped a suit for divorce.

Had a Stroke of Paralysis

And Found a Cure in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is always better to prevent serious diseases of the body. There are many warning signs of disease, such as irritability, headaches and nervous indications.

Prostration, paralysis and locomotor ataxia only come when the nervous system is greatly exhausted. Even though your ailment may not yet be very serious, there is a great satisfaction in knowing that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will cure paralysis in its earlier stages.

Mrs. J. Bright, 215 South Avenue Toronto, writes: "Two years ago my husband had a stroke which left him in a weak, nervous condition. He started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills and we saw the good results almost immediately. They have made a new man of my husband and we cannot speak too highly of them."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box of 12, all dealers, or Ed. Johnston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Parcel Post System.

One of the most important and progressive pieces of legislation which has been put on the statute books for years ago which will mean much for the people of Canada was introduced by Hon. E. P. Pelletier during the closing days of the session. This bill provides for the establishment of a system of parcel post of Canada. There has for years been an agitation for such a measure, but it was always turned down by the old government and the passing of this measure is a great step in advance.

Mr. Pelletier in introducing the bill explained the plan of the government. It has been decided to fix the weight limit of parcels at eleven pounds, and seventy two inches would be the maximum length and girth combined. The second zone will be outside the twenty mile radius but within the boundary of the province. The various provinces will be constituted by the various provinces, the Maritime being combined.

The government intends to establish a parcel post system as possible, although it is the intention to make the system self-maintaining and to put it on a business basis. It is the intention to put the system into force by January 1st, 1914, but perhaps before.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow eating." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or some other ailment which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and swallowed. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

People talk and sting of蚊ions in heaven and gold-paved streets.

remarked the man on the car, "and they throw away old shoes and dead cats in the alley back of home, and dead home."

We don't care much what others think of us provided they think some thing else.

Some people find it hard to tell the truth, and others find it difficult to tell it.

Help.

What help we can to help along the way is interest in the help we give another day back to our boots, and help to meet our need. Cures each kind word and charitable deed. Not how or why is given us to know. The contents of the human eye and flow. We have come and more while, then, we are doing, please—

Our "footprint on the made of time," the good that we have done.

Help.

The system for examinations for promotion of pupils to higher grades is to be abandoned in the Ottawa schools. Inspector Putnam says: "The system of asking questions depended on a formal written examination. The system of examining, excessive memorizing, and superficial teaching at the expense of the development of power. It makes a snap judgment, expressed in marks and percentages, and on which a year of the child's life depends, of more value in estimating the child's power than the teacher's intimate knowledge of him. It exposes the child to the whims of the examiner—both those who set the papers and those who examine them—and to the injustice of having to undergo the test when he may be unwell or in a state of excitement or mounting sometimes almost to panic. It tends to abate the gravity of the school away from teaching and conduct—its legitimate field of action—to a preparation for examinations, at best a mimic and merely superficial part of the work of the school. In the future the teacher will use written tests occasionally, but they will be set without preliminary notice. There is a plan to make it possible to promote a child from grade three to grade four, and from grade four to grade five without passing through intermediate grades. The inspector declares that it is a very serious matter to compel a child to repeat a grade, and it should always be avoided, if possible. The new plan is to be tried for three years. The result of the experiment will be watched with interest."

The Danger of Anaemia.

CONSUMPTION MAY FOLLOW UNLESS THE RAYAGS ARE CHECKED.

It is a danger to every girl and every woman who fails a victim to anaemia—that is bloodlessness. They become listless, feel too weak, too exhausted and too hopeless to take any steps to stop the trouble. To them, through neglect, they die. It is a more common condition, forgetting that anaemia frequently leads on to consumption. If you are anaemic to the degree you should lose no time in beginning treatment, to increase and enrich the blood supply. To do this, there is no other medicine so good as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps make rich, red blood, which drives out disease and brings again the bloom of health to pale and sallow cheeks. There are thousands of women and growing girls in Canada who owe their present good health to the timely use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among those who have been restored to health by this great medicine is Miss Rose Neville, Montpelier, Ont., who says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills performed almost a miracle in my case. I was a victim of anaemia, in what my friends considered a dangerous form. I was very pale, always tired out, suffered from severe headaches and had no appetite. I was taking doctor's medicine for a long time—in fact I tried two doctors—but instead of improving I seemed to be growing weaker. My parents were at a loss to know what to do for me and thought I would not recover. Then a friend advised Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I had only taken them a few weeks when I began to feel better. They greatly encouraged me and I continued taking them for some time longer, and found my health again as good as ever it had been. In fact I am stronger than ever I was before. I have advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to other girls who have found the results equally beneficial."

Wood-Block Paving

UNDER IMPROVED METHODS PROVING VERY SATISFACTORY.

The paving of city streets with wood is again coming into favor, new methods of laying the pavements making this one of the most satisfactory of pavements. Vancouver's pavements are largely of the same material. Eighty-two per cent of the new paving in Minneapolis is wood-block, and Saskatoon and other western towns are giving the wood block paving the preference.

Best results are obtained from rectangular shaped blocks cut from southern or Norway pine which are thoroughly seasoned and cross-cut. This latter process not only lengthens the life of wood but reduces its absorptive capacity for water, thus preventing the weakening of the wood fibres and reducing its tendency to buckle.

The most approved method of laying pavement used in London, New York and other large cities, is to first make a concrete foundation four or six inches thick on which is laid a thin layer of sand, or better still, of moist Portland cement, into which the blocks are closely set.

The blocks are from five to six inches in depth and must be free from defects. Care must be taken to place them with the grain perpendicular to the road bed. If laid with the long edges at right angles to the curb the joints on the hips' shoes, so as to prevent this and to best provide for possible expansion, the paving is laid at an angle of about sixty seven degrees with the curb. The joints are usually filled with ground cement and the surface of the paving is then covered with a thin dressing of coarse sand, which binds into the pores of the blocks and toughens them.

Such a pavement has the smoothness of asphalt and will last almost without repair for fifteen years under ordinary conditions. It is sanitary, self-cleaning, easily kept clean and has a certain springiness lacking in asphalt, and is so much easier on horses' feet.

Expert labor is not required in its laying and the cost of installing it is practically nil, so that from the standpoint of cost as well, it compares favorably with the asphalt, macadam and brick now being used in Canadian towns and cities.

The manufacture of wood-blocks for paving would furnish small owners with a means of utilizing the many defective logs of Norway pine unfit for saw material, and could a steady market be developed, much of the waste in connection with present lumbering and milling operations could be avoided.

Worse than Editors.

An editor is supposed to be the most criticized man on earth, but a person has just been putting in a wild for eulogies, claiming that they are the most miserable of all the sons of men. He says:

"The preacher has a hard time. If his hair is grey, he is old. If he is a young man he hasn't had experience. If he has ten children he has too many. If he has none he should have, and isn't setting a good example. If his wife stings in the choir she is presuming. If she doesn't she isn't interested in her husband's work. If a preacher reads from notes he is a bore. If he speaks extemporaneously for some material, he is a bore. If he is at home in his study, he does not mix enough with the people. If he is seen around on the streets, he ought to be at home getting up a good sermon. If he calls on some very poor family he is playing to the gallery. If he calls at the home of the rich he is an aristocrat. Whatever he does, someone could have told how to do better. He has a fine time living off of donations that never come in, and promises that never mature. Next to being an editor, it is an awful life."

Singing as Birds Sing.

The American negroes are natural singers. Nature has 'placed' their voices and given them a genius for improvising the alto, tenor and bass parts of their songs with emotional richness and perfect harmony. The American negroes, writes a contributor to the 'Craftsman,' have what has been called the 'harmonic ear.' At Hampton Institute, the industrial school for negroes and Indians in Virginia, a chorus of eight hundred negro students sings without accompaniment such an 'instinctive' path throughout an evening, chanting to the untutored harmonies peculiar to the negro the old plantation songs of the past generation.

Once when I visited Hampton, a musician from Europe was present. He asked me who trained the chorus. 'Nobody trains the negroes,' I said. 'Their singing is natural.' 'Nobody trains the negroes,' he said. 'I mean who teaches them their parts and trains them to sing together?'

'Nobody,' I repeated.

'That is impossible,' he said. 'I have never heard finer choral singing.'

'If you do not believe me,' I replied, 'ask the negro leader who starts the chorus in each song.'

'M. J. Moton answered as I did. The musician was amazed.

'How do you do it,' he asked.

'I don't know how we do it,' the negro answered. 'We just sing, that's all.'

Can't Keep It Secret.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Tablets is daily becoming more widely known. No such grand remedy for stomach and liver troubles has ever been known. For sale by all dealers.

Tommy had been given two pennies—one for candy and the other for Sunday school.

By-and-bye he came in from play and said—

'Mamma, I lost one of my pennies.'

'Which one, dear?' she asked.

'The Sunday-school one,' he replied.
