THE FAITHLESS VOW.

BY G. H. BARNES.
I know thee when a merry child,
And memory's faithful still,
Too true, for oft through manhood's breast,
Sad thoughts will send a chill.
Thy soul-fall eyes, thine arched brow,
Thy smile, thine lip, thine cheek,
Thy hair, thine locks, thine dark deceit,
Nor one false thought impart.

I know thee when in beauty grown,
Beneath the moon's pale beams,
Then said'st that heart was mine alone,
Ah, can it be a dream!
No, no, then proud, false-hearted one,
Thy faithless, broken vow,
Shall rattle in the bosom yet,
And bend thy spirit low.

I know thee now, thy once fair cheek
Is traced with furrows deep;
Thy eyes have lost thine languent glance,
Aye, thou hast lears'd to weep
For him, whose tranced lip, a snare,
Intend'd the poison slow;
Betray'd the pure and guileless heart—
False one, break't thou thy vow.

THE SLEEPING CHILD.

BY LEIGH MUNT.
A brook went dancing on its way,
From bank to valley leaping,
And by its stony margin lay
A lovely infant sleeping.
The murmurs of the purling stream,
Broke not the spell which bound him,
Like music breathing in his dream
A lullaby around him.
It is a lovely sight to view
Within this world of sorrow,
One spot which still retains the hue
That earth from heaven may borrow;
And such was this, a scene so fair,
Arrays in summer brightness,
And one pure being fastening there—
One soul of radiant whiteness.

What happy dreams, fair child are given,
To cast their shadow o'er thee?
What canst thou see that thou art given,
Where visions glide before thee?
For wandering smiles of cloudless mirth,
O'er thy glad features glowing,
Sty, not a thought—a form of earth,
Alloys thine hour of dreaming!
Mayhap, afar on unseen wings,
Thy spirit soaring,
Now hears the burst from golden strings,
Where angels are adoring;
And with the pure angelic throng,
Around their Maker praising,
They joyous heart in joyous song
Ten thousand tongues arising!

THE CHOICE OF A CALLING.—Dr. John M. Mason, in some one of his essays, tells a story of a man who had been originally a maker of brooms, and had 'studied divinity' as it is termed, for two or three sessions. Having presented a specimen of his improvement before the Presbytery, he was found to have acquitted himself on little or no preparation, that they judged it necessary to remand him to his first vocation, as more commensurate with his abilities. This decision was announced by a reverend old Minister in the following manner:
"Young man, it is the duty of all men to glorify God. But he calls them to glorify him in different ways, according to the gifts he bestows upon them. Some he calls to glorify him by preaching the Gospel of his Son; and others by making brooms (brooms.) Now it is the unanimous judgment of this Presbytery, that he has not called you to the ministry, since he has not called you to it; and therefore that it is your duty to go to your father. Glorify God by diligent industry in making brooms."
The associate has a moral. Each man to his calling. There is for every man his own peculiar sphere of action, and influence, and the sooner he finds it out, the better for him. It saves the loss of time and many mistakes. There may be error in both directions in aiming too high or sinking too low. A man who would make a poor artist might make an excellent broom-maker. One who would make but a poor figure at the Bar, might make himself usefully familiar with the exercise of a crowbar. Many a young sentimentalist, who has started in a garret, might have been of some service to the world, if he had but exercised his talents as an anviler.

"Do you eat things here?" inquired a Yankee the other day, as he entered into a friendly and addressed the proprietor. "What is it, Pat?"
"Why I dreamt that your honor made me a present of a plug of tobacco, and her ladyship there—heaven bless her!—gave me some tea for the good wife."
"Ah! Pat, dreams go by contraries, you know."
"Faith, and they may be that," said Pat, without the least hesitation; "so her ladyship is to give the tobacco, and yer honor the tea?"

Mr. Pitt went into evening into the Duchess of Gordon's box, at the opera house. He had been telling her for some time, she addressed him with her usual blunt familiarity. "Well, Mr. Pitt, do you talk as much nonsense as when I last saw you?" "I don't know that," said Mr. Pitt; "I have certainly not heard so much nonsense since I had the pleasure of seeing your grace."

THE SHIPPING ROPE.—The shipping rope, a toy which is discarded by the young girl when entering a premature womanhood, but which ought to be looked upon as a necessary article in every household or private room occupied by a woman of civilized life and civilized habits, is one of the best and the very best kind of gymnastic exercise that I know. It exercises almost every muscle of the body, and there are few women who do not neglect to take sufficient exercise.—Dr. Robertson.

BROTHERLY LOVE.—"Jack, Jack!" cried a sailor, on board a ship at sea, lately to one of his companions. "Hallo!" replied Jack. "What is it?" "Your brother's overboard!" "Overboard?" "Yes." "How the lubber! he has got my best coat and tankards packed out!"

Advice.—Gentlemen walking the streets with canes or umbrellas should always carry them on their shoulders, for then they may get an opportunity of putting out the eyes of persons behind them.

A degree of disrepute for public opinion is absolutely necessary for one's individual dignity, virtue, and happiness.

HEALTH WHERE 'TIS SOUGHT!

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND STOMACH, WHEN IN A MOST PLEASSANT STATE.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. Mathew Harvey, of Chapel Hall, Ayrshire, Scotland, dated the 10th January, 1850.

To Professor HOLLOWAY:
SIR,—Your valuable Pills have been the means, with God's blessing of restoring me to a state of perfect health, and at a time when I thought I was on the brink of the grave. I had consulted several eminent Doctors, who, after doing what they could for me, stated that they considered my case as hopeless. I ought to say that I had been suffering from a Liver and Stomach complaint of long standing, which during the last two years got so much worse, that every one considered my condition as hopeless. I was a hot tempered and a Box of your Pills, which soon gave relief, and by persevering in their use for some weeks, together with rubbing night and morning your Ointment over my chest and stomach and right side, I have by their means become completely cured, and to the satisfaction of myself and every body who knows me.

(Signed) MATTHEW HARVEY.
CURE OF A CASE OF WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY OF FOUR YEARS'S STANDING.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Smith, of No. 5, Little Thomas Street, Gibson Street, Lumbeth, dated December 12, 1848.

To Professor HOLLOWAY:
SIR,—I beg to inform you that for nearly five years I hardly knew what it was to have a day's health, suffering from extreme weakness and debility, with constant nervous headache, vertigo and sickness of the stomach, together with a great depression of spirits. I used to think that nothing could benefit me, as I had been to many medical men, some of whom, after doing all that was in their power, informed me that they considered me as a dejected state, and I was never able to get on my feet, together with a very disordered state of the stomach and liver, making my case so complicated that nothing could be done for me. One day being unusually ill and in a dejected state, I saw your Pills advertised and resolved to give them a trial, more perhaps from curiosity than with a hope of being cured, however I soon found myself better by taking them, and I went on persevering in their use for six months, when, I am happy to say they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF ASTHMA OF TWENTY YEARS'S STANDING.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. J. K. Heydon, 25 King Street, Sydney, dated 10th November, 1849.

To Professor HOLLOWAY:
SIR,—I have the pleasure to inform you that many extraordinary cures of Asthma have been effected here by means of your Pills. One is that of a lady residing near the "Banstead," who after having for Twenty years been unable to make the slightest exertion, suffering very severely from shortness of breath, coughing and spitting, but in now, (to use her own expressions) able to run up to the top of that mountain. Another case is that of Mr. Canon, Tailor, Hutchinson's buildings, Clarence-street, who was so dreadfully ill that he was confined entirely to his bed-room for six months, prior to his commencing with your Pills, and attended regularly by his medical man, who pronounced him to be in a dying state, yet he, likewise, to my knowledge, has been restored to perfect health by the use of your Pills, and rubbing your Ointment night and morning into his chest.

I now take this opportunity of sending you an order for the amount and at the same time to add, that your Pills have effected a cure of a disorder in my Liver and Stomach, which all the eminent of the Faculty at home, and all over the Continent, had not been able to effect; nor, even the waters of Carlsbad and Marienbad, I wish to have another Box and a Pot of the Ointment, in case any of my family should ever require either. Your most obliged and obedient Servant.
