A TERRIBLE accident occured at Grand Mortgage Sale. Wednesday, by which a young man named Scott lost his hand. He is an employee on the Murray Harbor Railway construction and was carrying some dynamite from a building, when it exploded, tearing off the right hand above the wrist. Another man named Smith who was entering the building at the same time was struck about the head and body by pieces of flying timber and boards from the building but was not seriously injured. The wonder is that both men were not killed. As it is, Scott, besides loosing his hand, was injured though not seriously about the body and had his clothing torn from him. Both
