Loan Terms Very Stiff

POOR OUTLOOK FOR FLOATING THE MORRIS LOANS.

loan of Five hundred million dollars has been not only fully subscribed but over subscribed in the United States is most gratifying. This has been the denunciations and threats of heard against the motion. threatened bankers taking up part of the loan. The object of the loan is to steady the sterling exchange rate which began to decline seriously some months ago, and demoralized the exporting trade from this side of the Atlantic. The success of the loan shows that the banks and exporters were more concerned in rallying the export trade than they were affected by the threats of the hyphenated Am- LINIMENT. ericans and the Bryans and Fords of America. A Canadian firm says: "It would have lost $40,000 in exchange on two million dollars of wheat sales last month if it had not been in a position to hold on until the exchange market improved. A short time ago it fell to $4.50, and there was very little market even at that figure." The fact of the matter was that when the slump in exchange came quotations of exchange were really nominal and did not represent anything worth while doing in exchange. Trade was utterly demoralized, and even the prospect of a successful floating of the loan tended to stabilitate exchange and to stimulate trade. Now that the loan is an assured success, the export trade ficial effect on the export of Canadian wheat, and should favourably affect the export of Newfoundland fish.

Kitchener in Speech to Labor Representatives Says Present System will not Suffice to Repair Wastage—Suggests Form of Military Ballot.

London, Sept. 30.—Something more nust be done to replace the men who re dying or going out of action in what may prove to be the greatest battle of the war. Lord Kitchener put the situation frankly before a conference of Labor Union officials in an ddress on Tuesday.

The British army, the war lord said, is now at the required size, but the most serious problem is the keeping up of a sufficient supply of trained men to replace the human wastage in the fighting in France and at the system of obtaining armies, but he told the Labor officials with the utmost frankness that the present recruiting is wholly inadequate to fill the gaps that will be made in the Brit-

Lord Kitchener said he did not want to press compulsory service except as a last resort. His personal plan, he said, was to divide the country into districts and to call upon each district for a specified number of men. If the quota was not orthcoming by voluntary enlistment, e said, the Government should then resort to the draft among men eligible for military service along the same plans used in the United States during the Civil War. This plan, he pointed out, had not yet been author-zed by the Government. The speech made a deep impression on the Union heads. As a result, it was announced to-day, the Laborites will conduct a vigorous campaign of their own to secure recruits among the workers instead of merely assistng in other recruiting campaigns.

By Gradual Stages. This, seemingly, is the feeling every where in Government circles. If conscription is found necessary it is now likely that it will be reached by gradual stages, calculated not to extra the public and profiting. antagonize the public, and profiting by the wave of patriotism that has swept the country since the reports of British successes in France and intagonize the public, and profiting of British successes in France and Flanders.

The War Office to-day sent the foltions: "Falling off in receiving of reowing telegram to all recruiting staruits recently causes Kitchener and War Office greatest concern." If this message is not productive of esults, the Government will probably consider at once an intermediary
