Adele Frost's "Lucille."

Miss Adele Frost appeared before a London audience for the first time at the Grand Opera House last evening in Sardou's four-act play, "Lucille," taking the title role herself. In the lighter parts Miss Frost was not above the average, but in the third act an intensely dramatic scene was very good indeed, showing the lady to be possessed of considerable talent. In the character of De Champlicu Mr. Ogden Stevens did himself and the character full justice. The remainder of the company was much poorer than would be expected, and an attempt at criticism could only reveal their degrees of unfitness rather than any individual excellence. This evening the Lester & Williams' London Novelty and Gaiety Company will occupy the boards.

The Dobbin-Granston Case Again.

In the Common Pleas Division at Osgoode Hall on Saturday motion was mode for a new trial in the case of Marianne Brown Dobbin, formerly of this city, against Alexander Cranston. The case was tried at the September Assizes. Mrs. Dobbin claimed that she was slandered by the defendant after the publication of the defendant after the publication of certain charges made against her husband. The defendant got a verdict, and the new trial is asked for on the grounds that the evidence of several witnesses was refused. Mr. N. G. Bigelow, Q.C., made the motion, which was opposed by Mr. William Lount, Q.C., who claimed that the names of the witnesses had not been furnished in the statement. The motion was dismissed with costs, leave to appeal being refused.

A New Implement Works.

Mr. John McClosky, of Sarnia, had an interview with Mayor Taylor to-day respecting the formation in this city of a joint stock company for the manufacture of agricultural implements. Mr. McClosky is the inventor and patentee of several improvements in threshing machinery and grain separators and is willing to put in what capital he has together with his patents. He visited the Globe works and appeared satisfied that the new company could turn most of the machinery now standing idle there to good account. The Sarnia Implement Company, which has recently been bought out by the Sawyer-Massey Company, was paying him a royalty on his inventions, and the Sarnia people want Mr. McClosky to organize a company in that place, but he prefers London, provided suitable arrangements can be effected. The Mayor instructed him to put his desires in writing and submit them to the Council, and expressed his conviction that the city would deal liberally with him provided he gave them assurance that the company would be a bona fide one.

Supper, Speeches, and a Social Success. The members of the Ladies' Aid prepared an excellent supper for those who attended the aniversary tea meeting of the King Street Methodist Church last evening. The eatables were served in the basement of the church by a large number of the fair sex, who were very attentive to their guests. The audience afterwards assembled in the church to hear the speechmaking, which was prefaced with a programme short but sweet.

Ec Denies the Marriage Bond.

Martha Elizabeth Hilton charges her husband, William Hilton, a boiler maker employed at Winnett's, with neglecting to support her. She was examined at the Police Court this morning and told her story substantially as follows: "I was married to Robert Hilton about twelve years ago in St. Paul's Cathedral by the Dean of Huron, and have lived with my husband until two weeks ago last Saturday, when he left the house and has not since returned. I have since been informed that when he left the house and has not since re-turned. I have since been informed that he has been living during that time with another woman named Jenkins. I have ap-plied to him for money to pay the rent and other supplies, but he has refused. Since he left I have not had a cent, nor is there any food in the house at present. I have been getting my meals at his parents' place in the meantime."

"What do you say to that, Hilton?" the Magistrate asked.

"Well, I don't remember anything about that marriage," replied the prisoner. "I would like to see the proofs."

"Do you intend to support the woman any more?"

"No; I do not."

The Magistrate decided to adjourn the case until to-morrow, as the woman says she has the marriage certificate in her possession, but had neglected to bring it. Hilton admitted having lived with her for twelve years. He earns $2 per day at his trade.
