Some of the Distances.

Edmonton, N. W. T., Aug. 10.-Public meetings at Edmonton, Fort Sas-katchewan and St. Albert have passed resolutions calling upon the government to take measures this fall to open up a cart and pack trail to the Yukon by Lesser Slave Lake, Peace River, and the valley of the Nelson, Liard and Pelly Rivers. A pack trail now exists to Fort Liard, 500 miles from Edmonton, thence across the mountains to Pelly River, 450 miles by way of the Liard Valley. The boat route is well known and the land is known to be fairly passable as the mountains are but no traveled land route exists The Valley of Pelly is easily passable The total distance to the Klondike by this route is 1,400 miles, and the route could be rushed through this fall if the government acts promptly.

DISCOVERY OF YUKON MINES The claim has been made in the Se attle papers, says the Victoria Colonist that American citizens are entitled to the credit of the discovery of gold in the Yukon waters. This is not true. In 1880 John McKenzie, a Canadian, with a party of Canadians, went down the Lewis River to Lake Labarge. He was the first white man to run the White Horse rapids. He may be said to have discovered the route into the Yukon Valley. The first discoverer of gold and mineral on Stewart River was a man named Fraser, from Nova Sc tia. Franklin Gulch and Forty Mile Creek diggings were discovered three Canadians named McCue, Stewart, and Franklin. Davis Creek was discovered by a party consisting of one Canadian and four Americans, Miller and Glacier Creeks were discovered by a party consisting of Canadians and Americans. Birch Creek was discovered by a party consisting of three Canadians and two Americans. Klondike was discovered by a Canadian named Henderson. The Yukon gold mines are Canadian by right of territorial ownership and by right of discovery. A Murderer's Fate.
