THE WEATHER FORECAST.
Fine Weather—Stationary or a Little Higher Temperature.

TORONTO, March 15. The depression near Ottawa yesterday has been joined near the New England coast by another from the Atlantic, and is now central near the Bay of Chaleur. It is causing a fall of snow in Eastern Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Higher pressure and fair, colder weather prevails in Ontario and Western Quebec, owing to the advance eastward of an anti-cyclone from the Northwest, which still spreads over the Northwest, accompanied by fine, cold weather there.

Minimum and maximum temperatures:
Medicine Hat, 2° below—12°; Qu'Appelle, 18° below—4°; Prince Albert, 30° below —10°; Fort Arthur, 14° below—24°; Toronto, 9°—19°; Kingston, 12°—18°; Montreal, 26°—36°; Quebec, 26°—32°; Halifax, 28°—40°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.
TORONTO, March 16.—A. m.—Probabilities for the next 24 hours for the lower lake region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: Lakes—West and north winds; fine weather; stationary or a little higher temperature.

REV. ANNA SHAW.
Rev. Anna Shaw, who will speak at the Tabbot Street Baptist Church to-night, is one of the most attractive orators that has visited this city. Her addresses, whether on temperance or on other topics, are always intensely interesting, and wherever she goes she is greeted by crowded audiences. London will be no exception to the rule. The church should be crowded, for a treat of no ordinary character awaits those who attend. Admission 10 cents.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.
—Mr. M., Mrs. and Miss Masurel are registered in Jacksonville, Florida.

—Dr. Eccles is on a professional visit to Baltimore, Md. He will be back in a week or ten days.

—Will Watson and Robert Waggett, of London, both formerly of this place, are in town this week. (Windsor Record.)

—A good orchestra of about a dozen pieces is now a noticeable feature in Queen's Avenue Methodist Church choir.

—Ex-Mayor Spencer has been appointed a member of the general executive committee of the Sabbath School Association of Ontario.

—J. A. Matthews, of this city, has been elected warden of the Canadian Order Chosen Friends at the meeting of the Grand Circle in Berlin.

—D. C. Macdonald, of London, was placed on the executive committee of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association of Ontario at the annual meeting in Toronto yesterday.

—H. A. Childs, assistant master mechanic on the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad, who has many friends in London, has been appointed master mechanic on the eastern division of the road.

—Mickey Jones, the well-known pitcher, once with the Tecumsehs, has signed with the Athletic Club, of Hamilton, for the season of 1893. Two or three clubs from the other side have written for Mickey's terms.

—Mrs. Martin's millinery opening will take place on Saturday and the following week. This year's opening promises to eclipse all former displays. The styles this year are all very pretty and novel.

—Martin's opening is an event to which ladies look forward with pleasure.

—Mr. Charles A. Morden, a former London man, but now foreman of the Portland Oregonian, is visiting his friends in this city and vicinity. Mr. Morden speaks of Portland, Oregon, as a progressive city, instance the fact that the city is connected with the continent by a structure costing $500,000.

—Mr. E. Price, tinsmith, in the employ of the McClary Manufacturing Company, left Monday on a visit to his relatives in Worcester, England. A number of his workmen and members of his church look forward with which he is an esteemed member, were at the G. T. R. station to wish him Godspeed and safe return. He sails by steamer City of Paris.

—Mr. Thos. Moffat, son of Col. Moffat, who has been practicing law in Chatham for the past ten years, has decided to continue the practice of his profession in this city, and has opened an office in the new building, 418 Talbot street, between Dundas and Carling streets. Mr. Moffat is an old London boy, and was at one time a partner with Mr. James Magee.

St. Patrick's Concert.
To-morrow night the annual St. Patrick's concert will be held in the Grand Opera House. As usual some of the best local and outside talent has been secured. The concert is a question of considerable concern. The plan was opened yesterday and was well "taken." A packed house is assured.
The concert is in aid of the new Cathedral.

Still More Identified.
Two additional informations were laid against George Crispin this morning. The lady's gold chain found upon the prisoner has been identified by Mrs. John Elliott, whose house was broken into about Oct. 5, 1889. The lady's gold watch found on the prisoner has been identified by Mrs.
White, Pall Mall street. Her place was entered about Oct. 9, 1889.

Struthers—Moore.
The marriage of Mr. E. R. C. Struthers, son of Mr. R. C. Struthers, wholesale merchant, city, to Miss Helen Moore, sister-in-law of Mr. E. L. Edy, was celebrated at the latter's residence, 832 Richmond street, last evening in the presence only a few immediate relatives and friends.
The bride was attired in electric blue silk and was attended by Miss Nellie Edy. Mr.
R. J. Munro assisted the groom, and Rev.
Ira Smith was the officiating clergyman.
Among the many valuable wedding gifts was a check from the groom's father for $1,000. Both the contracting parties are popular young people, and their many friends will extend to them the best wishes. They left via the 11:40 p.m. G. T.
R. train for New York and other eastern cities.

Congratulating Judge MacMillan.
At a meeting of the Middlesex Law Association, held yesterday afternoon in the library at the Court House, the following resolution was carried unanimously:
"Moved by J. H. Flock, Q.C., seconded by Mr. R. K. Cowan, that the Middlesex Law Association congratulate Duncan Mac-Millan, Q.C., upon his appointment as judge of the County Court of the county of Halifax and local judge of the High Court of Justice. The members are not unmindful that his appointment will never less pleasant than since his call to the bar, but while regretting that elevation they recognize with pleasure his elevation to the bench, and believe that with his natural talents and experience and his acquired knowledge he will become an honored judge. They record their appreciation of his appointment and extend to him an invitation to become an honorary life member of the Middlesex Law Association." The meeting then adjourned.

Messrs. E. J. Farrow, Q.C. (president), C.
H. Jarvis (secretary), Duncan Stuart, T.
H. Purdon, J. P. Moore, J. H. Flock, Q.C., W. A. Proudfoot, W. J. Clark, R. K. Cowan and others were present.

Hon. D. C. Fraser, M.P.
The Young Liberal Club room was crowded last night. Hon. D. C. Fraser, M. P. for Guysboro, N. S., received a rousing welcome, as did Mr. Hyman, M. P. elect for London, who accompanied him.

Mr. Fraser spoke for about half an hour, giving the young men some excellent advice, and expressing the appreciation of the Liberal and Independent members of Parliament at the choice which the electors had made in sending Mr. Hyman to represent them. He was sure that when a proper opportunity presented itself the fraud which had deprived Mr. Hyman of his seat would be rebuked in no uncertain manner by the electors of London. This sentiment was applauded to the echo.

London, Port Stanley and Cleveland.
John Smith, superintendent of the Globe Ship Building Works, of Cleveland, accompanied by a draughtsman from the works, and Mr. Clark, a member of the Cleveland syndicate which controls the London and Port Stanley Railway, spent last week in the city. On their arrival they immediately visited the old car ferries, International and Huron, and were busily engaged Thursday and Friday in making an estimate of the alterations required in the boats necessary to make them suitable for car and passenger ferry steamers to ply between Cleveland and Port Stanley. Drawings were taken by the draughts-man, so that all the work that can be done without the boats being in the dry dock will be commenced in Cleveland at once.

As soon as navigation is open all the work, including the necessary casing, etc., will be put together, when the boats will be run down to Cleveland. The improvements included in Mr. Smith's estimate are as follows: A double deck, false keels, bows and improved steering gearing. The lower decks, or ones now used for cars, will be used for the same purpose, but above an upper deck will be constructed and will be fitted up with state rooms and all other necessary accommodations for passengers. When the boats are completed after Mr. Smith's plans, and remodeled, they will be more shapely in appearance and have a greater speed. Mr.
Smith is well known in Port Huron as the owner of the car ferry Huron, and an old Grand Trunk employee. (Port Huron

COOKING AND COOKERIES.
Mrs. Ewing Discusses Them Before a Large Audience.

A Remarkably Clever Lady with Original Ideas—The Importance of the Kitchen Interests—The Cooking of Our Ancestors.

Victoria Hall was crowded with women yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Ewing, of New York, delivered a free lecture on "Our Kitchen Interests." She is a remarkably fluent and an excellent speaker. For seven years she has been superintendent of the Chautauque School of Cookery, and during the last twelve years she has been practicing her profession. The first title ever awarded in household science was given her, and she was at the head of the first school of household science instituted in a college.
Similar schools have since been established in connection with Wellesley, Vassar and Smith's ladies' colleges, the most famous in the United States. She was instrumental in organizing in Boston a school of cookery under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association.

"A great deal is said about our agricultural interests, our manufacturing interests, our commercial interests, and the other interests that are closely intertwined about our social fabric," said Mrs. Ewing, in opening her address, "but in the general discussion we hear comparatively little about the interests that in importance out-rank and overtop them all—our kitchen interests. The kitchen is the pivotal point upon which a large majority of our material interests revolve. In the United States alone there are about 8,000,000 kitchens, and the principal mission of these is to prepare the daily food of some 60,000,000 men, women and children. With other interests begin to compare in magnitude with the interests that radiate from these 8,000,000 kitchens? Can any intelligent person think for a moment of the tons and tons of products of every kind, comprising the entire food of the nation, that passes through these kitchens daily and candidly say that the preparation of all this raw material, its conversion into good, wholesome, nutritious food, is not a question of considerable concern? Would it be too strong a statement to say it is a question before which every other question might with advantage humanity be permitted to dwindle into insignificance?"

"Let us consider this matter carefully.
Of the 600,000 barrels of flour and meal of various kinds that are daily manufactured into bread, rolls, pies, pancakes, and other things in these 8,000,000 kitchens, how much is fit for food? Throw aside all that is heavy, sour, half-baked, indigestible and unfit to be eaten, and how much will remain that is sweet, savory and nourishing, that will yield good flesh, blood, bones, nerves, and healthy strength and vigor to the physical or mental system? Of the beverage produced from the 1,500,000 pounds of tea and coffee that are daily steeped, stewed and put through unknown processes, how much is anything but the vilest slop—a miserable deception deserving only indignant execration?"

Mrs. Ewing then spoke of different modes of preparing a number of dishes, and next asked "Where are the publications devoted to the interests of the kitchen?" They were so few that the census taker had failed to find them. Was it for want of readers or want of writers that journals devoted to cookery, housekeeping and household science were so few? Were those who prepared our food so self-satisfied with their restricted knowledge that they wished for no further information regarding the best methods of preparing various articles of diet? Or were those who eat so indifferent to the quality of food or to the effects upon their health that they cared to know nothing about the matter? It was humiliating to acknowledge that among all classes of our people there existed a lamentable ignorance of even the elementary principles of the culinary art.

Continuing, Mrs. Ewing said she could not speak disparagingly of the cooking of our ancestors. Much of it was carefully and conscientiously done. But the inherited beliefs entertained by so many about the superior cookery of the past were mainly misty traditions more venerable than veracious. With all the modern improvements should not the cookery of to-day be in advance of that of our ancestors? The supply of food material in this country was unlimited, the variety infinite and the quality excellent. But the methods of preparing it were execrable.

In conclusion, Mrs. Ewing dwelt forcibly on the absolute necessity of perfect cleanliness and pure atmosphere in the kitchen.
Her address was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience of ladies, who certainly were benefited by her remarks.

A SENSATION IN CHURCH.
Three Thousand People Moved to Tears at a Revival Service.
(Toronto Empire.)

The vast crowd of people that attended the Croxley and Hunter service at the Metropolitan Church last night witnessed a most touching scene. Mr. Hunter addressed the large gathering at length and with powerful effect upon the subject of temperance. Mr. Croxley, who followed, was interrupted by a well-dressed, intelligent-looking young man, who rose from a seat near the platform and said: "I would like to say something. It is very important." He then asked Mr. Hunter to speak with him in private. The evangelist and the patient retired to the vestry, where the latter told his story.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS FATHER are among the leading business men of the city of Ottawa. The former is, or rather was, a confirmed victim of the alcoholic habit. On Saturday his father decided to take him to an asylum at Guelph to go through the gold cure. Arrived in Toronto, they missed their train for Guelph, and had to spend Sunday in the city. By chance they were introduced into the Metropolitan Church.
The evangelist's words affected the young man greatly, and he felt convinced that only by first experiencing a change of heart could he successfully combat the terrible dipsomania. Mr. Hunter talked and prayed with him, pointing out the simplicity of the plan of salvation. Shortly the young man professed conversion, and returned with Mr. Hunter to the body of the church, where he stood up on the platform before 3,000 PEOPLE.

and testified of his salvation and of the power of the grace of God. The father, who was seated near the middle of the building, left his seat, mounted the platform, and throwing his arms around his son's neck, kissed him over and over again. The incident created a mighty sensation, the vast assembly being moved almost to a man to tears. Perhaps no event attended with such pathetic circumstances ever occurred in a Toronto church before, and certainly no more convincing proof of the power for good with which Messrs. Croxley and Hunter's evangelistic efforts are attended need be asked.

A Mysterious Principle.
We are blessed by a mysterious principle known as life. By its influence we are enabled to maintain our existence in the midst of agents which are constantly seeking our destruction. Our bodies are composed of elements which exist everywhere in the matter around us, but gathered into new combinations and molded into peculiar forms.

Men and women—the old and young—are not all blessed with vigorous, strong, robust life. Unfortunately for Canada, we have our thousands who barely move and breathe; they do not possess that vigor, strength and health which means true life. Can any sane individual assert that the weary, tired, broken-down, nervous, sleepless and dyspeptic man or woman enjoy life as they should? We know that many of them are weary and tired of lives of suffering.

Hold! suffering mortals. Do not despair! maintain courage and hope; there is rescue for you if you wish to walk the pleasant highway of health and true life. Know you not that Williams' Royal Crown Remedy banishes the new life as they should? We know that
suffering.

You have been asking for freedom from pain for many years. Physicians and advertised remedies have deceived you. Now you have the true agency of health offered, will you accept it? We guarantee cure, satisfaction and new life. Can the power of mortal man promise greater blessings?

Williams' Royal Crown Remedy is King; Williams' Royal Crown Remedy is a conqueror; its triumphs are multitudinous and wonderful.
