IBERALS FAKING,

Says Allegiance To Free Trade Policies Not Genu-

Canadian Press Despatch Oakville, Man., Sept. 30 .- "Even in the Progressive party there are protectionists today," declared Hon. Arthur Meighen in the course of an address to electors of his constituency of Portage La Prairie, here today. The Liberals were, and always had been, faking, he said, in their allegiance to the free trade policies. The enforcement of about 10 per cent of the "blessed Progressive policy" had resulted in the crippling of many Hamilton of Judge Monck, who for many years has been a steward for the Hamilton Dockey club, and has

In spite of rain and sleet and mired roads, the hall was well filled. Hon. Hugh Armstrong, former member for Portage La Prairie in the Manitoba legislature, was the first speaker. He found himself unable, he said, to find found himself unable, he said, to interest that the Liberal party in federal politics had any policy at all. The building of the National Transcontinental road seemed to him to be the outstanding achievement of the Liberal party during its term of office, and this railway, he said, had resulted only in an addition to the national

Mr. Meighen, in opening, asked permission to refer to a personal matter. It had been reported in the constituency four years ago, and it was being rumored again now, that during the war days he had tried to obtain exemption for certain young nen from military service in the dis-rict. He offered "the deed of this building" to anybody who could brove that he had ever interfered with building' the work of the exemption tribunal for the district. He would give a reat deal, he said, to know who were
