

THE TORONTO WORLD.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 3, 1884.

WIVES AND STRAYS OF LONDON.

Dr. Barnardo's Lecture at Shaftesbury Hall—A Liberal Collection.

"Rescue work among wives and strays" was the subject of Dr. Barnardo's (London, Eng.) lecture at Shaftesbury hall last night.

The hall was well filled, and several Torontoians, interested in the question, occupied seats on the platform.

Dr. Barnardo is of middle height, and his face is partly covered with black whiskers clean shaven at the chin.

He said London had a population of four millions, and that in a city of that size there must be certain forces at work to render children homeless and destitute.

A great many hard working and industrious parents belonging to the lower classes die, and leave no provision for their children.

The children soon find that they have to live, and they run around the streets picking up what they can find.

Intemperance costs more children on the streets than any other cause. There are 40,000 criminals in London alone, and think of 70,000 poor outcast children running on the streets.

Last week, said the doctor, I went through the slums of Chicago, accompanied by a detective, investigating the very worst haunts of the rapidly growing city.

He explained the working of the Boys' Home in London, and said they could shelter 400 boys, but they wanted more room.

He had made a tour of the cheap lodging houses of London, and he had ascertained that 20% out of every hundred were young children under the age of 15 years.

He said that the boys are a useful training for their future lives by learning them a trade and giving them a schooling.

He also referred to the girls, who are outnumbered by the boys, but they were provided for as rapidly as possible.

The speaker retired amid much applause. A collection in aid of the work was taken up and responded to very liberally.

Ladies see the elegant silk hosiery for $1 a pair at the Bon Marche.

The City's Advertising. At the executive committee's meeting yesterday the question of the advertising of the sale of land for taxes came up.

It was pointed out that the Telegram had got $100 worth of this advertising while none of the other papers had taken a cent.

It was altogether at variance with the spirit of the city's action in the rapidly growing city.

Mr. Harman said he had given the advertisement to the Telegram because he had made an agreement with the proprietor of that paper two years ago to do it at a certain rate.

He had not asked the other papers to give him a rate upon it. He was, however, for the future to give what the executive committee wished.

After some discussion, in which it was admitted the Telegram had been given an unfair preference, the committee ordered that hereafter this particular advertisement be put up to competition.

Mr. Harman said that Mr. Harman's case had not solicited him for the advertisement himself; that he had taken it into the Telegram himself.

An Alderman's Duck Story. Duck shooting has begun and so has the season of sporting lines.

Last evening one of our city fathers was proudly parading Yonge street with no less than four brace of the aquatic fowl in his hand.

Meeting a reporter he turned pale and asked the reporter to fire a charge of shot into the "bag."

LEND US $24,000.

The Above Amount Required to Carry on the Civic Machinery.

Ald. Defoe was in the chair at the regular meeting of the executive committee of the city council yesterday.

The minutes were conferred tenders for local improvement and other debentures, amounting in all to $600,000, were opened and referred to a sub-committee.

It was decided after discussion to authorize a loan of $24,000 to keep the machinery of the several departments running until the opening of another year.

The waterworks committee received permission to spend all they had taken in above the revenue estimated at the opening of the year.

The reports of the various standing committees passed with unimportant amendments. The proposal to rebuild the revenue estimated at a cost of about $4000 was struck.

The committee adjourned after voting an annual retaining fee of $200 to C. Robinson, so as to have his services in case of emergency.

Homekeepers you should lay in your stock of these elegant cretonnes, only 11 cents per yard, worth 25 cents at the Bon Marche.

LOCAL NEWS PARAGRAPH.

Silver King at the Grand to-night. Last two performances to-morrow afternoon and evening.

A building permit has been issued to J. C. Finch for a $12,000 residence on Jarvis street, near Isabella.

Thirty-two drunks were gathered in by the police last night, over half of them being pensioners. Wednesday was pension day.

Michael King was arrested on a warrant last night, charged with assaulting his wife Sarah. He was locked up in No. 3 station.

The central branch of the Canadian national association meets to-night at the Canadian Institute. The meeting is open to the public.

Mathew Algie of Alton died yesterday. Charles Wain and a delegate from the Toronto secular society will leave here to-morrow to attend the funeral.

Geo. Hartley, 12, and Peter Ferguson, 13, were caught in Mr. Bethune's orchard yesterday and handed over to the police. They were taken to No. 2 station, but were soon bailed out.

Robert Orley of 263 Front street east was knocked down by a butcher cart at King and Front streets yesterday. The old man's spine was fractured and he was otherwise injured. His condition is critical.

The remains of John D. Campbell, who died in Port Hope while on a visit to his brother, were brought to the city yesterday and interred. Mr. Campbell was well known among the boys of Toronto. He was aged 45.

Last Saturday Moses Oates predicted that the two closing days of the week would be an improvement on their predecessors. If the weather and Moses are really on intimate terms, now is its chance to do a good turn for the moon-faced prophet.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last night the fruit festival at St. Philip's church will be continued this evening.

The school-room presents a pleasing appearance, being tastefully decorated, and the tables covered with all manner of fruits. The admission only 10c.

The Grenadiers paraded last night, but owing to the bad weather the muster was weak. Several battalion movements were gone through under the colonel.

The regiment will parade Sunday in Queen's park at 3 o'clock and proceed to Holy Trinity church for divine service.

Parkside News Items.

112 appeals have been filed by the Reform association against the voters' list.

The Owen Sound express ran off the track at DeWitt street yesterday, owing to a plank projecting above the rails. Delay considerable; damage slight.

Last evening night was a grand night for the hope of Parkside lodge. The quantity of water was taken up to the lodge in order to quench the thirst of the large number present.

Loyal Parkside lodge No. 74 C.O.F.F. have elected the following officers: J. Martin, N.G.; M. Salt, V.G.; G. E. Belfry, secretary; J. Enright, treasurer; A. Ellis, conductor; W. R. King, assistant-secretary; E. J. Voss, R.S.N.G.; W. Stewart, L.S.N.G.; J. H. Terry, I. G.

The Methodist church being inadequate for the accommodation of the rapidly increasing congregation, the members thereof have purchased two lots on West Handing street, and one on Dunn avenue and will immediately erect thereon a large and handsome church and a parsonage.

Yesterday Among the Fairs.

The North Hastings agricultural society held their annual show at West Handing street. The exhibits were not numerous but of first-class quality.

There was a small attendance at the Welland show, but the entries exceeded last year's by about 400.

The Guelph fair, which closed yesterday was not a success. The weather was bad, and neither the entries nor the attendance could be pronounced good.

On the first day $130 was taken at the gates and yesterday evening less.

For dress goods go to the Bon Marche.

The People's Theatre.

Chas. Caughy delivered the finest lecture in his repertoire last night. The subject was Historic Paris, and the scenes were simply magnificent.

But the lecture was the best part of the performance. In the most graphic language Mr. Caughy described the places made famous by the revolution and the various scenes in the lives of Robespierre and Napoleon.

The audience frequently attested their pleasure at the lecture by liberal applause. To-night, glimpses of Italy.

On the Rollers.

Despite the rain there was a large attendance at the Adelaide street rink last night. The rink is well fitted up and every convenience is provided for patrons.

The only thing needed is a man to put cushions under you when you fall, which is quite frequent before you get used to the rollers. On Saturday Gowan's brass band and orchestra commence for the season.

The Irish Emigrant.

Baker and Farron favored their patrons with as much fun as it is safe to serve up in one evening. They are excellent comedians, and if laughter is a remedy for any of the ills that flesh is heir to, Baker and Farron's performances have a medicinal value, as they can lay claim to.

So says a Buffalo paper. The big two appear at the Grand Monday and Tuesday night in the Irish Emigrant.

Rev. Wm. Crockett, travelling missionary preaches the doctrine of home.

He has been here for several weeks, and from that post. He has built twenty churches during his tour, and is now on his way to the parish of Aspin.

DOMINION DASHES.

Huron county will vote on the Scott act Oct. 30.

The Orillia Times has issued a semi-centennial copy printed in blue ink.

Hon. Mr. Bovey, minister of customs, has remitted the fine of $400 indicated on the steamer Island Belle ($400 at Gananoque.

The trial of Dr. Coxe for murder at Barrie was yesterday postponed until the next session on account of the absence of several material witnesses.

Hawkins' cooper shop, Bathurst street, London, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The proprietor suffered a similar loss about a year ago.

Samuel Hitchcock, an insurance agent of Sarnia has been arrested on a charge of larceny. He alleges it is a scheme on the part of the other agents to ruin him.

A. J. Donly, formerly editor and proprietor of the Toronto Standard, has been appointed registrar of the county of Norfolk, in place of the late Francis Walsh.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railway company announces that the summer freight rates which took effect April 1, 1884, from St. Paul to Toronto, will continue in effect during the coming winter. These are the same rates as quoted via Port Arthur.

"Floating bar-rooms" are causing a great deal of annoyance along the river between Frederickton and St. John. The "bar-rooms" are small shanties and shops which lie along the shore and dispose of liquor in all quantities to all callers. At present one of these rascals is doing a good business in the vicinity of Capetown.

The tug Phoenix with lumber at Marshall from Sarnia seized the propeller Pacific at Amherstburg Wednesday on account of the accident some months since with the Canadian Pacific steamer Alberta in the Saint Ste. Marie river. The Pacific is bound for London, Ontario. She is libelled for $7000. She is owned by A. Chesborough of Detroit.

GRANT'S PHILADELPHIA HOUSE.

The Circumstances Under which it was Presented to the Public.

A Philadelphia paper tells this story about Gen. Grant's house in that city: Gen. Grant's Philadelphia "residence" he only occupied it a short time, near the close of the war—soon to be sold to satisfy the mortgage Mr. Vanderbilt holds against it. The property consists of a house and lot at 20th Chestnut street. Just before the Grant and Ward failure in New York, Gen. Grant borrowed $150,000, of Mr. Vanderbilt, giving a mortgage on the house as partial security. The fact that the house was presented to General Grant by patriotic citizens of Philadelphia is very generally known, but just how the presentation came about is less generally known. During the war, George H. Stark, while on a visit to the army of the Potomac, was struck by a bullet in the chest, and was taken to the city of Philadelphia, where he was nursed by the Christiana hospital. Stark was a Quaker, and his friends were Quakers, and they were desirous of securing a house for Stark to live in. They approached Gen. Grant, and offered him $150,000 for the house and lot. Gen. Grant, who was a Quaker, and who was a friend of Stark, accepted the offer. The house was then presented to Gen. Grant by the citizens of Philadelphia. The house was sold to Mr. Vanderbilt to satisfy the mortgage. The house is now owned by Mr. Vanderbilt.

When Found Make a Note of.

Take your note book and put down the address just now 205 Queen street west and when your watch stops take it to the watchmaker and get it fixed. It will have no further trouble with it. All work guaranteed and done by R. G. Doherty, British Horological Institute, London, Eng.

MARRIED.

LACKIE-WHITE by the Rev. Mr. Clark at St. Paul's church, Arthur White, of London, to Miss Jennie White, eldest daughter of James White, Rev. of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

DEED.

MANNING-On Thursday morning, Oct. 2nd, at Holland House, Blanche A. eldest daughter of James Manning, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jennie White, of Toronto.

A DIAMOND SWINDLER.

How a Notorious Confidence Woman Worked Her Racket in New York.

Ellen E. Peck, the notorious confidence woman, got introduced to John Bough, diamond dealer of 32 Liberty street, last March, as Mrs. Knight, a wealthy Brooklyn lady. She bought a wealthy Brooklyn lady. She bought a cheap diamond and pawned for it. Then she got two finger rings and a pair of solitaire ear-rings, valued at $400, saying she wanted them for another rich Brooklyn lady. Then she disappeared. At about this time just such diamonds were pawned at Simpson's in Chatham street for $130, and on Aug. 1 Mrs. Peck went to the pawn shop and said they were hers, and had been stolen from her. The Simpsons told the police, and they told Bough, who identified the jewels as such. At the trial of her suit, a witness called George P. Thomas, a diamond dealer, swore he sold them to her last October. She was arrested on Sunday, and he was taken into custody yesterday. He proved to be a telegraph operator who had bribed to appear as a diamond dealer. He is not a professional crook, but he owed her money. Mrs. Peck is used to being arrested, and takes it calmly. She was arrested on the charge of having pawned out of $10,000. She managed to get the civil suit valued of the criminal one, and it is still pending. She was once accused of a $30,000 worth of diamonds from a Brooklyn diamond dealer, but she made it out a breach of trust.

Fare for Fairies.

—Dineen, the hatter and furrier, north-west corner of King and Yonge streets, is showing a beautiful assortment of ladies' fine fur trimmings, just the style for fall and winter wear. His bear, plucked other such lynx trimmings are really beautiful. Every lady who desires stylish fur garments should call on Dineen.—Adv't.

The Value of Butter Milk.

The Canada Lancel has a learned leading article on the beauties of butter milk as an article of diet. It points out that the porridge eaters and butter milk drinkers of Ireland and Scotland are not excelled by any other people in goodness of body and clearness of head, and gives many learned reasons why butter milk should be in greater demand among Canadians than it is now. Butter milk is a true milk peptonoid—that is the fashionable word of the day—milk freed of its fat and sugar, and is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality of nutrition as sweetened milk, it is more palatable, and more easily digested. It is a most valuable food for young and old, sick and well. As it is food, it should not be often taken between meals. If these facts were generally known, being an agreeable drink, it is too freely used. Sick persons, who partake of little food, and those who are unable to eat, should take it more freely, and more freely. Although containing about the same quality