I wish to ask the Minister the reasons why he has not fulfilled the promise he made last year that he would introduce legislation at this session to establish labour bureaux, whether it is his intention to bring this legislation down and if not, why? 485.

Not only do we want to see this country great agriculturally, but where we have the facilities and the natural resources we want to see it great industrially. We cannot see it great industrially, unless we lay the foundation for that condition by a system of technical education, 496.

The practice which has always prevailed in the department in connection with the examination of masters and mates is that examiners are appointed by the department, 340.

We have a school in the town where I live presided over by a very capable man and when some of the pupils attending that school wanted to go up for examination I understand that a man was sent from Halifax to examine them, whereas, if a local man could examine them, it would be less expensive and more convenient, 340.

Salaries, etc., $174,000, 1428.

Borden, Rt. Hon. Sir Robert (Prime Minister)—1432.

I have again strongly to deprecate his course in assuming to ask for information in such a manner as to cast a distinct reflection and aspersion upon the character and capacity of the general who has been selected, with the approval of Lord Kitchener, to command the Canadian division now facing the foe in the trenches, 1432. Any information of a confidential character or otherwise, with regard to this or any other regiment, will be placed before hon. members of the House who desire merely to procure information, 1433.
