Just at present it looks as if North Toronto was to have another spell of openair meetings. The city's persistent meight of the work that a persistent meight have allowed gras to the taxpayers' money in apparently useloss surveying that has been going on for months, have resulted in a condition of public unrest which can only end in action. Since the town council ceased to exist many residents who took an active interest in municipal affairs have allowed grass to distinct the serious again unearthed, however, and the tist which those in power at the city hall will be asked to give an account of their stewardship and explain what they intended to do for the district in return for the taxes collected.

In conversation with The World last might, Ex-Councillor Frank Howe said:

"The condition of Yonge street from the Belt Line bridge to the city's northern limit would be a disgrace to a bank-rupt township, far less the Quenc City, and the city contemplates the city contemplates the city contemplates the city to grasp a slight difference in practice from that which they have been accustomed to, It is quite evident to me that we must make some organized effort to have conditions improved.

"There's been a lot of rank nonsense talked about the sewerage system, and the remained and the face of the city and the city so the city so the contemplates taking in the territory 200 feet north of Egilinton avenue. Another feature of the situation is that they said the city and the city so the city and the city of the city's northern limits would be a disgrace to a bank-rupt township, far less the Quenc City. Some definite course of action may be decided upon at a meeting of the association, which takes place tonight in the city sortion as a police village is the city's northern limits would be a disgrace to a

Another feature of the situation is that the city contemplates taking in the territory 200 feet north of Eglinton avenue, and if this is done Weston might be glad to take in the remainder so that it might incorporate as a town.

"There's been a lot of rank nonsense talked about the sewerage system, and the flushing business is ridiculous, in view of the fact that Engineer T. Aird Murray intended the roof water to drain into the sewer If the works department would permit the system to be used as intended there would be no trouble or need for flushing." MORE BUILDINGS FOR WARD SEVEN as Intended there would be no trouble or need for flushing." Mr. W. G. Ellis was glad to hear of a mass meeting being organized. "I am absolutely at a toss to know what all this surveying is for," he said. "The city got all the town's plans and records, which were made by officials whose credentials compare favorably with anything the city officials have to show. This overlapping has been going on for months now, and I fore one wish that the money was being employed on some improvement which would be a direct benefit." Ex-Councillor D. D. Gilmour avenue, which is divided from Woodside avenue by a single lot at present, is to be extended to meet the latter street if a recommendation by Commissioner Harris be adopted. The lot is to be expropriated for this purpose, and the estimated cost of this with the necessary engineering operations for the formation of a 66-foot joining street is $2267. The city, it is proposed, will pay 10 per cent. of this amount, and the ratepayers in the immediate vicinity the balance.

The marriage took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 46 Central avenue, of Miss Mary Miller to Mr. Percy T. Little of Vancouver, B.C. Rev. D. T. L.
