TO PROVIDE WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Hamilton Councillors Suggest That Start Be Made on Mountain Improvements.

T. H. & B. WILL APPEAL

Railway Board Common Entrance Decision Will Not Be Taken as Final.

(Special to The Toronto World.) HAMILTON, Dec. 7 .- Following the decision of the legislation committee to urge the establishment of a central charurge the establishment of a central charity bureau for registration of the unemployed, the city fathers are beginning to take notice of the condition of affairs. Altho city council considered the storm overflow sewer project as being unnecessary this winter, some of the aldermen are beginning to think that a plan may be devised at little expense to provide temporary work for the unemployed during the worst of the winter.

It was suggested that a start be made this winter on improving the mountain face; such a plan, they thought, being suitable to provide work for many men. The idea is to keep a list of the unemployed and give single men one day's work per week. It is figured out that with $2 for the day's work that man might be able to scrape thru one week. For married men, it is planned to provide two or three days work per week, spreading the employment over the entire waiting list.

Company Wil Appeal.

The city officials have heard nothing more about the common entrance decision of the Dominion Railway Board, a copy of which was received by the city solicitor yesterday morning. E. D. Cahill, solicitor for the T., H. & B. Railway, announced that the company would appeal to the supreme court of Canada against the commission's decision, and, pending the outcome of that appeal, very little progress can be made.

BRASS TACKS PHILANTHROPY BY THE WORLD GOOD FELLOWS

A Merry Christmas for Every Child is the Motto and the RAWLLY IT'S DEAD Good Fellow Himself Sees Where His Money Goes-The World Simply Shows You How.

There is no long-distance benevolence in the Good Fellow movement. The motto of the work, "A Merry Christmas for Every Child," means that the Good Fellows must get close in touch with the little boys and girls of

The World Good Fellow is about ready to send out the names of chil dren to the Good Fellows. Hundreds of poor kiddles are on the lists. The men and women who have been seeking thru the city for boys and girls whose parents, try as they may, will not be able to provide Christmas good HARBOR SCHEME TONIC cheer, have found many more than they expected to find. Sickness and the dearth of employment have swelled the ranks.

What does a Good Fellow have to do, and what does it cost? A Good Fellow goes to the child whose address and name The World Good Fellow supplies and finds out what is needed to make Christmas merry and bright. Playthings, food, clothing, these are wanted most. And the Good Fellow then sees that on Christmas the child does not want for anything that will make that day just as rapturous as it is for the more lucky little children of this wide city.

You may spend just as much as you like. Enough to make the child happy may appear sufficient. You are not limited to one child. You can take a dozen into your Christmas charge, and there'll be lots for others. All you have to do just now is to send your name to The World Good Fellow, phone Main 5308 if you wish. About the end of the week we will have our first lists ready, and you will be sent the child's name.

This sort of work is brass tacks philanthropy. No need for us to tell you there is much of it to do. Get into the game now. Talk to the boys at the shop about it. Organize, with the help we'll so gladly give, a little Good Fellow movement all your own. And you, Miss Stenographer, ask the other girls to go in with you. You'll never spend such a delightful

And you who live in uptown residences, please join in the work. You have special facilities for doing good.

Speak about this to your friends. You'll run across some who want to bring you to the hearts of poor children, but who never before knew how to go about it. Christmas is about two weeks away. There's no time to lose. Take hold of this chance to do some real welfare work. The little children cry out to you. Bring joy to them and happiness to yourself. THE WORLD GOOD FELLOW.

While the city lines were being operated at a loss, Mr. Maguire claimed that they were nevertheless a good Night.

Lots of Argument and Much Laughter Now and Then-Many Speakers.

No one who attended the ratepayers meeting in North Toronto on Saturday night could fairly claim to be uninformed on the proposed street railway purchase either for or against But Are Not Trying to Abolish unless his hearing was out of order.

There were good speakers present for both sides and they left no ground

W. G. Ellis, the association's representative to the Toronto Improvement Conference, gave a short talk on the interim report issued by the transportation committee, of which he is a member. The report which has already been published, urges the necessity of the city having a monopoly of sity of the city having a monopoly of light, heat and power distribution and complete control of all street railway facilities within the city's boundaries provided satisfactory terms can be secured from the company.

A Good Thing.

Ex-Ald. McCausland said that the proposal to purchase the railway had been a good influence in making citizens take an active interest in it. His main objection to the deal as proposed.

Ex-Ald. McCausland said that the proposal to purchase the railway had been a good influence in making citizens take an active interest in it. His main objection to the deal as proposed was that it was to be consummated in a time of financial stringency, when bonds would have to be sold at a large discount.

"Is there not a possibility that Mackenzie & Mann may be hard up for money?" interjected Mr. Ellis.

No Comparison.

This started Mr. McCausland on a long argument regarding the purchase of a business that might be losing ground financially which brought another question from Mr. Ellis as to how comparison could be made between a competitive business and one which was a monopoly, like the Toronto Street Railway.

Mr McCausland then endeavored to enthuse the meeting with the harbor board scheme, but the hecklers got busy again and wondered how he could compare an expenditure of $13.964,035, plus some $2.000,000 for certain crossing facilities a total expenditure in fact of about $16.000,000.001 and partial solution of the transportation problem with a clean-up of all the light, heat and street railway fransitions. tial solution of the transportation problem with a clean-up of all the light, heat and street railway fran-

"Whether I stand or fall," said the alderman, "I'm going to support this proposition to make one clean sweep form of improving the conditions of the city's transportation problem."

A Clear Argument.

H. H. Ball refuted a statement made by Ald. perty of the city.

Consider Reputations.

"In any case," said Mr. Ball, "surely we can accept the report of acknowledged specialists, McKay, Arnold and Moyes? These men have reputations to take care of; they cannot afford make mistakes. Take such a man as Mr. Arnold, who has had a great deal to do with Chicago's railway system, where you travel 50 miles by transferring, for 5 cents, surely his opinion is worthy of our respect and consideration.
