MILITARYS HAVE GIVEN UP AFTER PITCO BATTLE

WITH CRUISER DESTROYED TEN SHIPS; ELEVEN LIVES MONEY LOSS OF $1,000,000

Desperate Engagement at Sebastopol Ends Disastrously to Revolutionists—"Red" Flagship Destroyed, Commander Surrenders Fleet and Shore Party Follows Suit.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 23.—Sebastopol today was the scene of a desperate battle between the mutinous sailors and the troops in the forts on shore. During the battle the town and forts were bombarded by the guns of the cruiser Otchakov, which now lies a burning wreck off Admiralty Point. It riddled with shells and its flanking red ensigns of revolution hoisted down. Many of the crew of the Otchakov were killed or wounded.

According to one report the barracks of the mutineers was carried by storm after the mutinous fleet, which is said to have numbered 10 vessels, surrendered, and the whole place is now in the hands of the troops. The Associated Press, however, is unable to guarantee the correctness of this report.

Owing to the interruption of the telegraph details of the battle are difficult to obtain, but as the Associated Press is authoritatively informed by the naval general staff to report that the mutineers, who were on shore, who opened fire on the Otchakov, which was defiantly displaying the red flag, were immediately accepted the challenge, replying with both batteries on the shore and the batteries on the north shore.

According to a more detailed report received from another source, and purporting to come from the admiralty, the battle began at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Lieut. Schmidt, not recognizing the mutineers, ordered the firing of a reply to the demands of the mutineers, which the northern batteries on the shore and several vessels which remained loyal replied.

During the naval battle the sailors on the shore, entrenched in the barracks, defended their position with machine guns and rifles against the attacking fleet. The Otchakov, which was badly wounded, surrendered the entire crew to the mutineers.

According to the report the Panfilov, which was the flagship of the mutineers, was injured below the water line, and a torpedo boat was sunk.

No details of the casualties or the damage sustained by the mutineers are given by the admiralty, but owing to confined space in which the battle was fought it is improbable that heavy damage was done to the mutineers.

The demands of the mutineers are said to have included, besides the abolition of the military government, the convocation of a constituent assembly and the complete realization of liberties promised by the imperial manifesto.

JAPAN'S NEW DESIGNS IN KOREA TEMPORARILY MARQUIS ITO ADMITS THAT EMPEROR TOOK IT HARD, BUT WILL GO BACK AS ADVISOR.

London, Nov. 23.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Times says that Marquis Ito, addressing the journalists at Seoul, strongly deprecated the assumption that the new treaty meant the overthrow of the Korean empire.

He said it was true that the direction of foreign affairs would be transferred to Japan, but all other administrative mechanism remained within the prerogative of the Korean emperor.

Marquis Ito admitted that when he explained the terms of the convention the emperor was profoundly moved and declared that the loss of the control of foreign affairs of his empire, which he grievedly in the face of his ancestors through five centuries. The premier also wept when the convention was signed.

The marquis explained that Japan herself desired the restoration of normal conditions as soon as the progress of Korea was assured and new resident government's policy would be free from all arbitrary or hasty dictates.

In conclusion Marquis Ito said that upon Japan rested the gravest responsibility of the justifying of the confidence of foreign states by leading Korea kindly and tactfully along the path of progress.

It will return.
Seoul, Nov. 23.—On the request of the Emperor of Korea, Marquis Ito postponed his departure for several hours, and interviewed the cabinet ministers. WOODSTOCK JEWEL THIEF LEFT HIS TRAIL FROM DELHI ON IS ARRESTED IN BUFFALO

Walter Dixon, Aged 50, a Self-Boasting Second Storey Worker, Caught With Goods on Him—Offered Detectives His Lot in Exchange for Freedom.

Buffalo, Nov. 23.—(Special)—Last Monday night the home of John White in Woodstock, Ont., was robbed of $5,000 worth of jewelry. To-day the thief was arrested in a pawnshop and nearly all the jewelry was recovered. The prisoner gave his name as Walter Dixon, 50 years old. Chief Zeals of the Woodstock police reached Buffalo late to-night with F. D. Burgar, chief of a detective agency of Hamilton. The prisoner will be held long enough to look up his record.

"Say, call me Walter Dixon," the prisoner said to the local officers when they questioned him. "Yes, I'm a second-storey worker, and I'm known from Seattle to New York. Now get busy and see what you can learn."

When the telegram was received this afternoon by Chief Taylor giving a description of the man wanted, all the detectives at headquarters were sent out. Schuch and O'Connor ran across the man not long afterwards. They walked up to him and grabbed a small silver box, containing many gems that he was displaying, telling him he was under arrest.

"Say, my boys," said he. "I panned my Colts' revolver, last Sunday night, or you wouldn't get me so easy."

Trick to Get Police. As the officers were walking with him to police headquarters, he suddenly stopped in front of the Chamber of Commerce Building, and asked "Okey, now, don't be damn fools. Here's more than you'll earn in many a month. Let me go and I'll show the burg and you'll have all the sparklers."

When searched just before being taken to the jail, the police found other valuable pieces of jewelry were found tucked away in all parts of his clothing.

Chief Taylor said he believed the prisoner was in Buffalo about 18 years ago and that he arrested him for some job. Chief Burgar said he was in Buffalo because he suspected the prisoner had robbed a house in Hamilton.

The first clue secured by the police was a telephone message from Delhi stating that a strange ring had a diamond ring at a ridiculously low figure. An officer at once let Woodstock for Delhi and the ring was identified as one stolen from Mayor White's home. The man who pawned the ring spent a great deal of his time in the hotel and drank heavily. It is said from Delhi he was traced to Simcoe, where more jewelry was pawned and which he finally located in this city.

Upon being searched, diamond rings, bracelets, earrings, pearls, opals, gold and silver watches were found in every pocket. They were examined by the Canadian officers, who said they undoubtedly were the White jewels.

LE ROI AMALGAMATION.

Report Issued Giving Details to Be Discussed Dec. 8.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable). London, Nov. 23.—In the report of the Le Roi Amalgamation, details of the amalgamation proposals are given. If the amalgamation is carried out, the capital of the company will be $2,000,000, of which 25 per cent, or $500,000, will be allotted to the Le Roi shareholders, who will receive dividends of 14 per cent, which will be expected to be paid in the first year.

The amalgamation was accepted unanimously, and the trustees passed a resolution in which they expressed hope that much needed rest may afford some relief to the shareholders. It was hoped for at his time of life, and assured that he would do his best to carry out the best wishes of the shareholders, and that his personal circumstances were congenial to his present tastes and his health.
