

THE BATTLE OF THE SOMME

"The greatest moving picture in the world"

10 a.m. TODAY

And Continuously Until 11 P. M.

THE TORONTO DAILY WORLD presents the official British war pictures of the Battle of the Somme, being a record in film of the opening phase of the British offensive, when the German lines were smashed on July 1st, and giving a vivid idea of the terrible preliminary bombardment. These pictures are guaranteed authentic by Sir Douglas Haig. They are endorsed by the King and released by Mr. Lloyd George, Secretary for War, on condition that they be shown exactly as they were issued. The World presents these pictures as the first official moving pictures of a British battle ever shown, and a living illustration of the biggest news event to British eyes since Waterloo.

No one with relatives at the front, or confessing any interest whatever in the greatest British battle of all time, should miss seeing these wonderful pictures. Protest to Premier Against Pictures at Sunday Rallies

Rev. W. M. Rochester headed a delegation of the Lord's Day Alliance, which waited on Premier Hearst yesterday to protest against the recurrence of the recruiting rallies on Sundays, as held last year. They had appealed to Col. Williams, but had been told that moving pictures were necessary to get audiences. While the alliance might be willing to concede pictures for recruiting necessity, they were determined against such use for philanthropic purposes.

The premier promised his serious consideration to their representations.

BREWER BEFORE LICENSE BOARD

Labatt's Representative Says Local Option Beer Not Over Strength.

PROCESS NEW TO FIRM

Gives Guarantee Product Will Not Exceed Legal Percentage of Alcohol.

Richard Eacrett, license inspector at Brantford, prosecuted John Labatt Ltd. on a charge of selling for resale, draft liquor above the 2 1/2 proof spirit allowed by the law—3.81 proof spirit as a matter of fact. The hotel in which the beer was sold was also prosecuted.

Mr. Labatt appeared before the license board yesterday and stated that he was confident that when the beer left the brewery it was not over 2 1/2 per cent. The strength must have increased since then, he maintained. This was the first time they had manufactured local option beer. The process was new to them. Before undertaking it, they had endeavored to secure information to ensure that the beer would not increase in strength. They had acted in good faith. He would agree to abstain from selling draft beer until he was in a position to advise the board that his firm was prepared to guarantee its product not to exceed the legal percentage of alcohol. He would telephone such instructions to the brewery at once.

The board, accepting the assurances of good faith on the part of the brewer, agreed to this, and saw fit to withdraw the prosecutions against the brewery and the hotel. The board was, however, careful to point out that this leniency was not to be taken as a precedent.

Given Seventy Days in Jail For Theft From Freight Sheds

Pleading guilty to a charge of receiving four parcels of goods, knowing them to have been stolen from the C.P.-R. freight sheds, Barkdale, Louis Hastings was sentenced to serve 70 days' hard labor at the jail farm by Judge Winchester, in the criminal sessions yesterday afternoon. Hastings had been employed at the Parkdale sheds for six months as a yardman, and has been in custody five weeks. Counsel for Hastings pleaded for leniency as the prisoner had furnished the police with evidence which led to the arrest of many other employees who have been implicated in the theft.

FIRST PROSECUTION FOR TAKING LIQUOR ORDERS

Policeman Says Former Owner of Liquor Store Acted as "Go-Between."

The first prosecution under the Ontario Temperance Act for taking orders for liquor, was that of Hugh McEvoy, former owner of a liquor store at 300 Royce avenue. He appeared in the police court yesterday.

Plainclothesman Bruce stated that he had entered McEvoy's store and asked for a bottle of McKenzie's Scotch whiskey. He had neither order nor prescription. McEvoy gave him an order form, which he signed without reading. He then handed the man 90 cents, 85 cents for the whiskey, three cents for a money order, and two cents for a postage stamp. McEvoy addressed the envelope to the Distillers' Distributing Co., Montreal, and gave it to Bruce to mail.

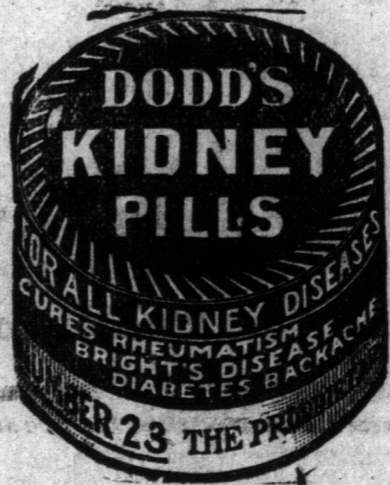

Counsel for McEvoy claimed that the deal was directly between Bruce and the Montreal firm, and that his client did not take the order. The case was adjourned till Monday for further enquiry.

TRUE BILLS FOUND.

True bills were returned by the grand jury in the sessions at the city hall yesterday afternoon in the following cases: Vincent Griffin, theft and burglary; M. B. Shortall, conspiracy, attempt to obtain and receiving; Murray Marsh, theft, and Gerald McIntyre, theft.

CHARGE DISMISSED.

George Baynam appeared before Judge Winchester in the sessions yesterday afternoon charged with the theft of a $50 cheque from George Howden. Baynam stated that he understood he was in partnership with Howden and had the right to take the cheque. He agreed to return it and Judge Winchester took the case from the jury and dismissed it.
