NO OBJECTIONS TO ENTERING POLITICS

Returned Men Have That Right, Says Army Chaplain.

"Up to the present I was opposed on general grounds to the returned men entering politics as such, but to this resolution I can see no objection," said President (Major) A. L. Burch of General Mercer G.W.V.A. at St. James' Hall, West Toronto, last night.

The resolution in debate was an emanation from East Toronto G. W. V. A., thru J. V. Conroy, secretary of the district command, that the soldiers' organizations take steps for their unity, so that better representation can be had in our parliaments and the returned men's interests given immediate attention.

"If we can realize the necessity of such efforts from our past for studying the situations and gaining reasonable conclusions, then we shall be doing more than by being any class of politician. I want to see the soldiers placed so that they can work as a whole."

It had been previously made clear by Secretary J. B. Mann that the purpose was to unite upon certain principles and demand of whatever politicians are supported that they give unqualified approval to the object for which the veterans were striving.

President Burch explained that his efforts in re-establishment work had led him to see that men and dependents were being neglected. "There were men who were fathers and husbands, and were advised to go overseas—that had the government foreseen otherwise, would not have been so permitted. It is also a matter of efficiency now," continued President Burch. "Men gave up their efficiency here—an efficiency that once given cannot be twice given—when they fought four years in France. They have not their old efficiency in their present work, and must have some consideration."

The resolution passed unanimously. Preparations were made for tag day on Aug. 30 for a campaign fund for the branches in Toronto and suburbs not included in the Big Four Drive funds.

A letter from Hon. E. J. Davis of Newmarket granted permission to use a vacant lot on West Dundas street for Sunday evening band concerts.

The Ladies' Auxiliary were present in good numbers and took prominent part in the discussion of the questions of the evening, later giving refreshments.

MUCH UNCERTAINTY ABOUT THE ELECTION

field, and many are of the opinion that the slate elected will be representative of each. In the last election, the Liberals took 41 seats.

FARMERS AGGRIEVED.

In Cumberland county, where Lieut.-Colonel J. L. Ralston, C.M.G., D.S.O., is a Liberal, the Conservative ticket includes Mrs. Grace D. Rogers, the author, and where the farmers are out in full force, the mining policy of the government is the cause of the agitation.

This is due to the fact that the government last year passed legislation vesting all mineral deposits with a few minor exceptions, in the crown, legislation which conflicted to a considerable extent with the claims of certain farmers living at Malaga, to valuable salt and potash deposits.

In Cape Breton county, the great industrial centre of the province, failure of the government to enact eight-hour legislation is very much to the farmers' regret.

"Time for a Change" Slogan.
Generally speaking, the government forces have relied on the twenty-four years' record of Premier Murray, including advanced highway, educational, public health and agricultural legislation, to win the day. They have been forced, on the other hand, by the opposition standard-bearers to deal with the "time for a change" slogan, the government's failure to abolish the legislative council, and the general charge of unprogressiveness.

The United Farmers have stressed a "more progressive agricultural policy," and increased teachers' salaries, and the labor party the initiative, referendum and recall and the taxation of land values.

TARIFF REFORM LEAGUE ADOPTS DEFINITE PROGRAM

The executive committee of the Tariff Reform League of England has recently adopted a definite tariff program which it is preparing to advocate among the British electors with a view to its ultimate adoption of a national trade policy. The proposed national tariff would impose an ad valorem duty of five per cent. on imports into the United Kingdom from within the Empire, 10 per cent. on imports from allied countries and 20 per cent. on imports from all other foreign countries which compete with British products. There will also be a free list including such articles as raw materials, etc., as it may be considered expedient to import free of duty. An indicated period of trade depression involves an international struggle for markets, the protection of the British "key" industries, the need of revenue to meet the financial requirements of the country and the demand of the business community for a decision regarding the national trade policy are given as reasons in support of the trade policy advocated by the Tariff Reform League.

COUNTY AND SUBURBS MAY FORM UNION OF MUNICIPALITIES

Towns and Villages Along Highway Want Central Form of Government.

Speculation is rife along the lake shore highway regarding the ultimate centralization of municipal government in the township of territory between the western city limits near the Humber and Port Credit, or as far west as Oakville. The present formation of this district with its numerous governing bodies along the highway is, Mimico, New Toronto, and Port Credit, but the growing interests between the limits of these municipalities, especially between New Toronto and Port Credit, calls for early consideration of these councils. At present Long Branch and Lakeview come under the jurisdiction of Etobicoke township, but it is felt in the locality that a centralization of the municipal interests of these places with other lake shore municipalities of Port Credit or New Toronto is inevitable.

New Toronto, with an established standing in industrial enterprises, is luring and attractive to any adjoining would be citizens, and expectations are freely expressed in that community regarding annexation on a wholesale scale. Outside the attractions of ever increasing industries and what renders these industries possible is the aspect of this flourishing town is perceived her adequate water supply, operated by a system which, in its foundation and construction, met with constant or hindrance in a financial respect. Mimico is at present being supplied from the New Toronto plant, and this is causing in some quarters a turning of the expectant eyes of annexation to the eastern limits of New Toronto as well as West.

The general feeling in Long Branch is finding enthusiastic support on account of her proposal for the installation of a waterworks system and it is common talk west of the Etobicoke Creek that that creek will one day form the eastern limit of the town.

A general prediction is that Mimico will ultimately be annexed by either old or new Toronto, and the other town as far as Oakville will be Port Credit.

A motor car driven by T. S. Davis, 148 Dundas street, was struck by another near Etobicoke creek, on the Lake Shore road, early yesterday morning.
