HINTS FOR GARDENING

(By W. Saxby Blair, Supt. Experimental Station, N. S.)

ONIONS.

Onions do best on a light loamy soil rich in plant food. Light loams can be worked to better advantage than heavy loams and do not dry out so badly during summer. An abundance of available plant food is necessary if profitable crops are to be obtained, and consequently a soil that has been manured for several seasons previously should be selected. The land should be free from stone, and weed seeds.

Onions may be grown in the same land year after year, and it cannot be made too rich. Well-rotted manure and manure applied in the fall and ploughed in shallow, about four inches deep, is one of the best fertilizers. Fifteen tons per acre annually is a good application. If the soil is well supplied with vegetable matter, successful crops may be grown with commercial fertilizers applied at the rate of 500 to 1,000 pounds per acre. This is sown broadcast and harrowed in just before seeding.

The ground can be best prepared with the disc spring-tooth, and smoothing harrows, and should be well pulverized to a depth of four inches.

The seed is sown in rows on the level ground twelve to fourteen inches apart and one-quarter inch deep at the rate of 8 1/2 pounds per acre. A hand seeder is usually used. A seeder and wheel hoe combined can be purchased from any seed merchant at a reasonable rate. Seeding should be done as soon in the spring as possible, so that the plants will get well established before the dry, hot weather of summer.

Maintenance tillage is done principally with the wheel hoe, and consists in keeping the surface ground loose around the plants and all weeds removed. The falling down and withering of the tops indicates maturity, at which time the onions should be pulled. They are left for a week to dry, after which they may be topped and put into slatted crates or put into these crates after being topped, taken to a shed and allowed to cure for two or three weeks, after which they are ready for market. The advantage of the crate is that a small bulk of onions is together with plenty of ventilation, which is very necessary for curing or storage or shipment. They should not be stored in bags or in large piles in bulk. They may be stored in slatted bins arranged one above another, ten inches to twelve inches apart. If stored the temperature should be kept as low as possible and the air dry.

Onions may be started in flats in the hotbed or greenhouse ten to twelve weeks before ready to plant, being set in the open ground early in the spring. The seed should not be sown too thickly. One and one-half to two pounds of seed will give sufficient plants to set an acre, spacing the plants four inches apart in rows one foot apart. The disadvantage is the expense of the flats, and for securing early onions and onions of large size this practice is advisable.

Announcement!

We take pleasure in announcing to the public of St. John the fact that we have purchased and will take over on May 21st, the store, stock and fixtures of the Phillips' Stores at the corner of Douglas Avenue and Main street.

Our intention is to operate there a grocery store that will rank second to none in the lower provinces both in point of service and price. The cash system of selling will be introduced entirely—no charge accounts. By eliminating charge accounts we remove the greatest cause for high price. Cash selling requires no bookkeeping, cuts out bad debts, and by buying for cash we can secure the lowest net prices which we pass on to the consumer.

The location is in every way highly desirable, and the capacity of the store is sufficient to make the quicker turn over more than compensate for any additional expense a store larger than either of our present stores would entail.

The store of E. Roy Robertson at 599 Main street, and that of Harold C. Robertson at 854 Main street, will close after May 31st. In the mean time the three stores are prepared to serve you promptly, courteously and at the lowest prices.
